2 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Okay. Good morning,
3 everyone. We're back on the record in docket DT 07-011,
4 the proposed transaction between Verizon New England and 5 FairPoint Communications. Let's start with appearances
6 for today.

7 MR. McHUGH: Good morning, Mr. Chairman.
8 Patrick McHugh, from Devine, Millimet & Branch, counsel
9 for FairPoint Communications, Inc. With me today is 10 Frederick Coolbroth and Kevin Baum, from Devine, Millimet.
11 And, also sitting at counsel's table is Lee Newett, Peter 12 Nixon, who is the President of FairPoint. And, we have 13 Walter Leach, Executive Vice President of Corporate
14 Development, who will be our first witness for today.

15 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Good morning.

16 CMSR. MORRISON: Good morning.

17 CMSR. BELOW: Good morning.

18 MR. DEL VECCHIO: Good morning,
19 Mr. Chairman, Commissioner Morrison, Commissioner Below.
20 Victor Del Vecchio and Sarah Knowlton, representing 21 Verizon. And, with us at the table today is Stephen
22 Smith, Goodwin Bennett, and Sheila Gorman, among others.

23 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Good morning.

24 CMSR. MORRISON: Good morning.

1 CMSR. BELOW: Good morning.

2 MR. MANDL: For the New England Cable
3 and Telecommunications Association and Comcast Phone of 4 New Hampshire, Alan Mandl.

5 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Good morning.

6 CMSR. MORRISON: Good morning.

7 CMSR. BELOW: Good morning.

8 MR. MANDL: Good morning.

9 MR. PRICE: Ted Price, for One
10 Communications.

11 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Good morning.

12 CMSR. MORRISON: Good morning.

13 CMSR. BELOW: Good morning.

14 MR. RUBIN: Good morning. Scott Rubin,
15 representing the Communications Workers of America and the 16 International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. With me
17 at the table is our consultant, Randy Barber, and, from 18 IBEW, Robert Erickson.

19 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Good morning.

20 CMSR. MORRISON: Good morning.

21 CMSR. BELOW: Good morning.

22 MS. HOLLEBERG: Good morning. Rorie
23 Hollenberg, here for the Office of Consumer Advocate.
24 And, with me today is Meredith Hatfield, the Consumer

1 Advocate, David Brevitz, and Kenneth Traum, the Assistant
2 Consumer Advocate.

3 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Good morning.

4 CMSR. MORRISON: Good morning.

5 CMSR. BELOW: Good morning.

6 MS. FABRIZIO: Good morning. Lynn
7 Fabrizio, for Staff. With me today at the table, John
8 Antonuk and Randy Vickroy of Liberty Consulting, and Kate
9 Bailey and David Guyette of Staff.

10 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Good morning.

11 CMSR. MORRISON: Good morning.

12 CMSR. BELOW: Good morning.

13 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Well, before we turn to 14 the testimony of Mr. Leach, one procedural issue. We had 15 filed yesterday afternoon, by FairPoint, a motion for a 16 partial reconsideration concerning the filing of 17 settlement agreements. And, my understanding of this 18 letter or this motion is with respect to the CLEC
19 settlement agreements, not to the Electric, NHTA, or NHLA,
20 that's correct, Mr. McHugh?

21 MR. MCHUGH: Yes, Mr. Chairman. And not 22 the CLEC coalition settlement agreement that was filed as 23 a joint stipulation for the record.

24 CHAIRMAN GETZ: And, then, we'll set

1 close of business Friday for any responses that anyone
2 wants to file to this motion. And, then, we'll have a
3 decision in advance of the hearings that are scheduled for 4 next Wednesday. Otherwise, I might not have anything to 5 do over the weekend, if I didn't have a motion to 6 consider.

7 Are there any other procedural issues
8 that we need to address before we start today?

9 MS. HOLLENBERG: Good morning. I would
10 just like to inquire as to whether -- excuse me, when the 11 record requests are going to be returned that were 12 discussed yesterday, and that probably will be discussed
13 throughout this hearing? Some of them may be relevant to 14 cross of witnesses.

15 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Mr. McHugh? Mr.
16 Coolbroth?

17 MR. MCHUGH: We haven't talked about it.

18 MR. COOLBROTH: By tomorrow morning --

19 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Well, during a break,
20 why don't we have a conversation --

21 MR. MCHUGH: That's what I was going to 22 say.

23 CHAIRMAN GETZ: -- and we could report
24 back later in the day.

1 MR. McHUGH: That would be fine. Thank
2 you.

3 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Anything else, before we
4 turn to Mr. Leach?

5 (No verbal response)

6 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Hearing nothing, then if
7 you could proceed, gentlemen.

8 MR. McHUGH: Mr. Leach.

9 (Whereupon Walter E. Leach, Jr., was 10 duly sworn and cautioned by the Court
11 Reporter.)

12 WALTER E. LEACH, JR., SWORN

13 DIRECT EXAMINATION

14 BY MR. McHUGH:

15 Q. Good morning, Mr. Leach. Could us please state for the 16 record your full name and title with FairPoint, please.

17 A. Walter Elliot Leach, Jr., Executive Vice President of 18 Corporate Development.

19 Q. And, business address please, Mr. Leach?

20 A. Charlotte, North Carolina.

21 Q. And, are you the same Mr. Leach who prefiled direct 22 testimony on behalf of FairPoint Communications on 23 March 23, which we premarked as "Exhibit 8P" for the 24 public version and "8C" for the confidential version?

1 A. Yes.

2 Q. And, Mr. Leach, did you also prefile rebuttal testimony
3 on behalf of FairPoint Communications on September 10
4 of 2007, which we've premarked as Exhibit "FairPoint
5 Exhibit 9P" for the public version, "9C" for the 6 confidential version, and "9HC" for the highly 7 confidential version, sir?

8 A. Yes.

9 Q. And, we -- or, did we file on your behalf an errata
10 sheet last week to certain of your prefiled rebuttal
11 testimony, Mr. Leach?

12 A. Yes.

13 Q. With that errata sheet, are there any updates or 14 corrections to either your direct testimony or your 15 prefiled rebuttal testimony?

16 A. Yes, there is one change. And, this is on the rebuttal
17 testimony, referencing the errata sheet that was filed
18 last week. Basically, we corrected one page, Page 88
19 of the prefiled rebuttal testimony, and we effectively
20 eliminated one sentence that was incorrectly carried 21 over from our Maine filing, and was not applicable to 22 the New Hampshire filing. So, that sentence is Lines
23 17 and 18 on Page 88.

24 Q. And, actually extends down through part of 19, sir, is

1 that correct?

2 A. That's correct.

3 Q. Okay. Any other corrections or updates, Mr. Leach?

4 A. No.

5 Q. With that, do you adopt your prefiled direct and your 6 prefiled rebuttal testimony as your own, sir?

7 A. Yes, I do.

8 MR. MCHUGH: The witness is available
9 for cross-examination, Mr. Chairman.

10 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Okay. Thank you. Mr.
11 Price?

12 MR. PRICE: No questions at this time.

13 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Mr. Mandl?

14 MR. MANDL: I do have questions, but 15 during our earlier discussion we discussed some other
16 parties preceding me.

17 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Okay. Would someone
18 like to illuminate the Bench on the order of cross that's 19 been agreed to?

20 MS. FABRIZIO: Mr. Chairman, Mr. Rubin
21 has agreed to go first, followed by Mr. Mandl, and then 22 Ms. Hollenberg and myself.

23 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Okay. That's fine.
24 Mr. Rubin.

1 MR. RUBIN: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

2 Good morning, Mr. Leach.

3 WITNESS LEACH: Good morning, Mr. Rubin.

4 Nice to see you again. And, I'll try to keep my voice up.

5 CROSS-EXAMINATION

6 BY MR. RUBIN:

7 Q. Could you turn in your rebuttal testimony to Page 92.

8 And, I can't see much except your head. So, if you
9 could just let me know when you have it, that would be 10 great.

11 A. I have it.

12 Q. Now, beginning on this page and carrying over through
13 Page 94, you discuss FairPoint's discontinued CLEC
14 operation. At its peak, was your CLEC operation about 15 twice as large as FairPoint's largest single telephone 16 subsidiary?

17 A. Yes, it was.

18 Q. At the time of its existence, was the CLEC business the 19 only FairPoint business that was separately reportable
20 for financial reporting purposes?

21 A. I believe that's correct, yes.

22 Q. And, did that CLEC business account for more than 23 50 percent of FairPoint's capital expenditures in the 24 year 2000?

A. I believe that's true, yes.

Q. And, did FairPoint lose in excess of $200 million on that business?

4 A. I believe that's true, yes, sir.

5 Q. All right. Now, if you could turn to Page 71 in your 6 rebuttal. On roughly Lines 5 through 7, you say that
7 "FairPoint's projected capital expenditures as a
8 percentage of depreciation and amortization is 9 increasing" so that it would be "77 percent by the year
10 2015." Do you see that?

11 A. Yes, I do.

12 Q. Is that ratio increasing because your capital
13 expenditures are increasing or is the ratio increasing 14 because the amount of depreciation and amortization is 15 decreasing?

16 A. It's the latter.

17 Q. Okay. And, in fact, you project that for, well, I'll 18 refer to this as "Spinco", which is the Northern New 19 England operation. Are we okay with that?

20 A. Yes, sir.

21 Q. Okay. So, for Spinco, you project your capital
22 expenditures will actually decline in each year after 23 2009, don't you?

24 A. Well, it depends on how you look at it. They actually

1 increase as a function of access lines, which we think
2 is a more relative term.

3 Q. Okay. But, in terms of the ratio you present, the 4 "77 percent" on Page 71 of your testimony, that's 5 looking at total capital expenditures and total
6 depreciation and amortization expense, right?

7 A. That's correct.

8 Q. So, just looking at the way you calculated that ratio,
9 if we look at the numerator, the capital expenditure
10 part of it, that figure is decreasing each year after 11 2009, is that correct?

12 A. That's correct.

13 Q. And, would you accept subject to check that, from 2009
14 through 2015, there's about an 8 percent decline in 15 capital expenditures over that time period?

16 A. Again, I think the relevant response is, based on 17 access lines, there's a substantial increase over time.
18 That's how I would answer a more meaningful question.
19 The answer to your question is "yes".

20 Q. Yes, I'd appreciate it if you'd answer the question I
21 asked, instead of the one you wished I asked, because 22 we've got a lot to cover today. And, again, looking --

23 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Excuse me. I mean, if 24 you just reverse the order, that would be acceptable as

1 well. "Yes, but" is fine.

2 WITNESS LEACH: I understand.

3 MR. McHUGH: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

4 BY MR. RUBIN:

5 Q. And, you project that your depreciation and 6 amortization expense is declining at a much faster rate
7 than your total capital expenditures are declining, is 8 that right?

9 A. That's correct.

10 Q. And, again, if we compare 2009 to 2015, would you
11 accept subject to check that there's about a 30 percent
12 decline in total depreciation and amortization expense?

13 A. Subject to check I would accept that, with the "but"
14 being that a large part of that drop in depreciation is 15 based upon a prior expense -- expenditure that Verizon
16 made that they have stopped making, in terms of the 17 FiOS business, so that tends to color pretty 18 dramatically the drop in depreciation.

19 Q. All right. But, in terms of your testimony, where you
20 say "oh, look this ratio is increasing", it's 21 increasing because you have a -- let's call it a modest
22 decline in capital expenditures, and a pretty steep
23 decline in depreciation and amortization expense?

24 A. That's correct.

1 Q. Still in your rebuttal, could you turn to Page 99.
2 And, on Lines 16 through 18, you state that "Any
3 restriction on the transfer of funds from the New
4 Hampshire operation to FairPoint, the parent company,
5 would not be acceptable to the Company's lenders." Do
6 you see that?

7 A. Yes.

8 Q. Now, in your testimony on this point, were you
9 providing or are you providing a legal opinion as to 10 the meaning of the agreement between FairPoint and its 11 lenders?

12 A. Here I am providing the basis upon which our 13 discussions with the lenders were tied. So, this is 14 the business arrangement that was verbally agreed to 15 with the lender group, as versus a strict legal 16 interpretation of any document.

17 Q. Okay. And, in fact, as of today, you don't have a 18 final form of the agreement that you will have with 19 your lenders, is that right?

20 A. As of today, we have a commitment letter, a pretty
21 thorough commitment letter, but the loan agreements
22 have not been finalized yet. That's correct.

23 Q. All right. So, just so we're clear though, you're not 24 -- in your testimony here, you're not providing a legal

1 opinion as to what that commitment letter might mean,
2 is that right?

3 A. That's correct.

4 Q. And, just so we're clear, I will have other questions
5 for you about this. I want your opinion about those 6 questions to be rendered in the same way as the opinion
7 in your testimony, not a legal opinion, but based on 8 your dealings with the lenders. And, do you understand
9 that?

10 A. Yes, sir.

11 Q. Okay. Do you, in front of you, hopefully, is a stack
12 of exhibits from the Labor intervenors. There's a
13 cover sheet and then a number of exhibits underneath
14 it. Do you see that up there?

15 A. Yes, I do.

16 Q. And, if you could look at Labor Exhibit 4C. And, just 17 so we're clear, that "C" means that parts of the 18 document are confidential. First, is this a copy of 19 the commitment letter with your lenders that you were 20 just referring to?

21 A. It does appear to be so, yes, sir.

22 MR. RUBIN: And, just to establish on 23 the record my understanding of what's confidential and 24 what isn't, and I'll ask you and/or your counsel to verify

1 that. My understanding is that the commitment letter
2 itself is a public document. I believe that was even 3 filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission. But 4 the term sheet, which is labeled "Exhibit A", and begins
5 on the page that's Bates stamped TRANS, T-R-A-N-S, 0473 --

6 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Excuse me, Mr. Rubin. I
7 don't believe we have copies of these documents to which 8 you're referencing.

9 MR. RUBIN: Oh. I gave them all to the 10 reporter. I'm not sure where they went from there. I'm 11 sorry, that was my mistake.

12 CHAIRMAN GETZ: So, these are not
13 confidential documents?

14 MR. RUBIN: Well, this document, the 15 first portion of it, through Page 472, is not 16 confidential; from Page 473 on is confidential. That's my 17 understanding.

18 MR. MCHUGH: And, FairPoint concurs with 19 that assessment.

20 CHAIRMAN GETZ: All right. Then, you
21 just need to --

22 MR. MCHUGH: Separate, that's what I was 23 going to ask, Mr. Chairman.

24 CHAIRMAN GETZ: But you have to give us

1 a heads-up when you're going to go into confidential
2 material.

3 MR. RUBIN: Yes. And, my cross is
4 divided into three portions. This -- What I'm asking Mr.
5 Leach about concerning this document is not confidential,
6 even though a portion of the document is confidential.

7 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Okay. Thank you.
8 Please proceed.

9 BY MR. RUBIN:

10 Q. Mr. Leach, can you show us where in this commitment
11 letter and the attachments it says that there should 12 not be any restrictions on the transfer of funds from 13 subsidiaries to FairPoint, the parent company?

14 A. To save time, could you direct me to where you think 15 that is or do you want me to just look through the 16 document for that?

17 Q. Frankly, I read through this and I could not find it.
18 If there's a place in here where there is such a 19 restriction, I'd appreciate it. I'd note that there's 20 a list of negative covenants that begins on the bottom
21 of page, again using the bottom page numbers, it's 22 Page 0479, and carrying over to the next page. That's 23 where I thought there would have been such a
24 restriction, but I didn't see it there. So, I'm asking

1 you, is there something in here where it says that you
2 cannot have any restrictions on the transfer of funds
3 from your subsidiaries to the parent company?

4 A. I will need to take some time and look through this.

5 MR. MCHUGH: Mr. Chairman, maybe to
6 speed things up, maybe we can take this as a record
7 request and provide a response?

8 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Well, either that, or 9 after a break.

10 MR. MCHUGH: That's fine. Just to keep 11 the process moving.

12 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Yes, let's keep this
13 moving then. And, we'll get back to your question after 14 the first morning recess, I presume would be enough time
15 to review it?

16 MR. MCHUGH: I think that would be fine,
17 Mr. Chairman.

18 MR. RUBIN: All right. That's fine.

19 BY MR. RUBIN:

20 Q. Mr. Leach, in your existing credit agreement with 21 lenders, is there a similar type of provision that 22 restricts the transfer of funds from subsidiaries to 23 the parent company?

24 A. As a legal response, I do not know the answer to that.

1 And, I know the bank group essentially expects to be in
2 that position. But I do not know what the official
3 agreement contains.

4 Q. Okay. And, in fact, when you were asked about this in,
5 I believe, in both Vermont and Maine, you referred to 6 language in your existing credit agreement that you
7 think has a similar condition to what would be in your 8 new credit agreement. Do you recall that?

9 A. I'll trust -- I'll trust you with that conclusion. I
10 don't recall.

11 MR. MCHUGH: No, no. Yes, I want to be 12 clear. If you don't recall, answer you "don't recall", or 13 we could check.

14 BY THE WITNESS:

15 A. I don't recall.

16 MR. MCHUGH: That's fine.

17 WITNESS LEACH: Okay.

18 BY MR. RUBIN:

19 Q. And, Mr. Leach, could you look at Labor Exhibit 5P.
20 And, again, so you're clear, that "P" means this is a 21 public document.

22 A. I have it.

23 Q. And, will you accept that this document contains 24 excerpts from your existing credit agreement with your

1 lenders?

2 A. It appears to be so, yes, sir.

3 Q. And, what I've copied here, after the cover page and 4 list of contents, is Section 7 of the agreement, which 5 has all of the negative covenants. Do you see that?
6 It's the numbering from, I guess, from what was filed
7 with the Securities & Exchange Commission, is Page 54,
8 and then continuing on for, I guess, through Page 70.

9 A. I see that, yes, sir.

10 Q. Could you turn to, again, using that numbering, to 11 Page 68 in that document. And, in the paragraph that's 12 labeled "(b)" on that page, I see language that talks 13 about there being "no restrictions on transfers from 14 subsidiaries to the parent". Do you see that?

15 A. I need to take a minute to review it.

16 Q. Sure. Please do.

17 A. Okay. Would you repeat the question please.

18 Q. Yes. I asked if, in this paragraph, there is language 19 that talks about there being "no restrictions on 20 transfers of funds from subsidiaries to the parent
21 company"?

22 A. There does appear to be such language, yes.

23 Q. And, would it also -- would I also be correct that 24 there's a list of ten exceptions to that?

1 A. That appears to be true, yes.

2 Q. And, the first exception, for example, is for 3 prohibitions or restrictions that exist by reason of 4 applicable law, is that right?

5 A. Actually, I think that's (ii). Does that mean it's the 6 second versus the first?

7 Q. Yes, I think you're right.

8 A. Okay.

9 Q. But, in any case, that is in there, is that right?

10 A. Yes, it is.

11 Q. Mr. Leach, this credit agreement was entered into back
12 in February of 2005, is that right?

13 A. I believe that's true, yes.

14 Q. And, at that time, what was your position with 15 FairPoint?

16 A. The Chief Financial Officer.

17 Q. As Chief Financial Officer at that time, did you have a 18 role in negotiating this agreement?

19 A. Yes, I did.

20 Q. Was this financing transaction part of the 21 recapitalization of FairPoint that included an initial 22 public offering?

23 A. Yes, it was.

24 Q. And is this agreement also referred to in various

1 places as your "Senior Credit Agreement" or "Senior
2 Credit Facility"?

3 A. Believe that's correct, yes.

4 Q. Now, in your capacity as Chief Financial Officer back
5 in 2005, did you voluntarily agree with any state
6 regulatory commission to restrictions on dividend
7 payments from any of your operating subsidiaries to 8 your parent company?

9 A. Yes, we did.

10 Q. And, would I be correct that you filed an application
11 before the Illinois Commerce Commission for approval of 12 the initial public offering and related transactions
13 back in 2004?

14 A. That's correct.

15 Q. And, in May 2004, the Illinois Commission issued an 16 order approving the recapitalization, with certain 17 conditions. Do you recall that?

18 A. Yes, that's correct.

19 Q. And, were you a witness in that case?

20 A. I believe I was, yes, sir.

21 Q. All right. If you could look in your exhibit packet, 22 the next document should be Labor Exhibit 6P, which is 23 a copy of an order of the Illinois Commerce Commission
24 issued in May 2004. Have you seen that before?

1 A. Yes, I have.

2 Q. Now, could you turn to Page 6 of that order.

3 A. I'm there.

4 Q. And, in paragraph -- I guess the paragraph numbered
5 "6", would you agree with me that the Illinois
6 Commission adopted a condition that prohibits the 7 FairPoint companies in Illinois from paying dividends
8 to the parent if certain service quality standards are 9 not met? Is that a fair summary of what's there?

10 A. That's a fair summary, with the "but", if I might. We 11 agreed in this case that this was an acceptable
12 condition, because it refers to quality of service kind
13 of parameters that were historically very easy to meet.
14 We believe they would continue to be very easy to meet
15 and didn't create any practical constraint in terms of 16 ultimate cash flows going to the operating company up
17 to the parent. And, number two, the companies in 18 Illinois are very small, less than 10,000 access lines
19 in total, so it represented a very insignificant part
20 of the organization, which also, as a practical matter,
21 didn't cause us or the lenders any concern because of 22 the size of the companies involved.

23 Q. Okay. Would I be correct that FairPoint voluntarily
24 agreed to these restrictions?

1 A. Yes, we did.

2 Q. Now, this order was issued in May of 2004, but, as we
3 discussed a moment ago, the refinancing and initial 4 public offering didn't take place until February 2005,
5 is that right?

6 A. That's correct.

7 Q. Do you remember if FairPoint filed before the Illinois
8 Commission to reopen the record in that case, because 9 the specific method of financing had changed?

10 A. I do not recall.

11 Q. Okay. The next document in your packet, Labor Exhibit
12 7P, is an affidavit dated December 20, 2004, that at 13 least purports to be an affidavit from you, with your 14 signature and all of that. Do you recognize this?

15 A. Yes, I do.

16 Q. And, would I be correct that, as Chief Financial 17 Officer of FairPoint at that time, you voluntarily
18 agreed to be bound by all of the conditions in the May 19 2004 order?

20 A. That's correct.

21 Q. And, did the Illinois Commission accept your 22 representations and approve the recapitalization with 23 these and other conditions?

24 A. Yes, they did.

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

- 1 Q. And, is a copy of that order issued by the Illinois
2 Commission in January 2005 the next document in your 3 packet there, Labor Exhibit 8P?
- 4 A. It does appear to be so, yes.
- 5 Q. Okay. And, can you turn to Page 9 of that order? And,
6 I guess the indented text there, under -- well, do you
7 see the heading "Credit Facility Agreement"?
- 8 A. Yes.
- 9 Q. Would I be correct that, in this order, the Illinois
10 Commission added an eighth condition that concerns any 11 restriction or negative covenant in the credit
12 agreement that concerns FairPoint's ability to make 13 capital expenditures?
- 14 A. That's correct.
- 15 Q. And, this ties -- or, this states that the credit
16 agreement should allow FairPoint to spend at least
17 30 percent of its EBITDA, E-B-I-T-D-A, on capital
18 expenditures, is that right?
- 19 A. That's correct.
- 20 Q. And, in fact, your existing credit agreement has such a 21 restriction, but allows you to spend up to 37.5
22 percent of EBITDA. Do you recall that or --
- 23 A. Yes, I do.
- 24 Q. Okay.

1 A. That's correct.

2 Q. Now, Mr. Leach, earlier this year FairPoint filed again
3 with the Illinois Commerce Commission for approval of a
4 change in control of FairPoint, the parent company,
5 that would occur as a result of the proposed Northern 6 New England transaction, do you recall that?

7 A. Yes, I do.

8 Q. And, again, were you a witness in that case?

9 A. I believe I was, yes, sir.

10 Q. And, in your testimony in that case, did you explain
11 how these existing conditions would help meet the 12 Illinois standards for approving a change in control?

13 A. Would you repeat the question please?

14 Q. Yes. I said, in your testimony in Illinois earlier
15 this year, did you explain how the existing conditions,
16 in the order we've just been looking at, would help
17 FairPoint meet the Illinois standards for approving a 18 change in control?

19 MR. MCHUGH: I'm sorry, Attorney Rubin,
20 do you have a copy of that produced as an exhibit or are 21 you just asking generally?

22 MR. RUBIN: I'm asking if he recalls. I
23 do have a copy of his testimony. I was hoping we wouldn't 24 have to go there. And, the next exhibit is a copy of the

1 Illinois Commission's order approving FairPoint's
2 application earlier this year.

3 MR. McHUGH: If you recall, Mr. Leach.
4 That wasn't part of the question, I don't believe.

5 BY THE WITNESS:

6 A. I'm sorry, I really do not recall.

7 BY MR. RUBIN:

8 Q. All right.

9 A. I just don't recall.

10 CHAIRMAN GETZ: And, the order, Exhibit
11 Number 9, appears to summarize in great length what 12 Mr. Leach testified to at that proceeding. Is that 13 correct, Mr. Rubin?

14 MR. RUBIN: That is correct, Mr.
15 Chairman, yes. And, I thought that that might be a better
16 approach, than actually going through his fairly lengthy 17 testimony in Illinois.

18 MR. McHUGH: And, that would be fine,
19 Mr. Chairman. Referring to this document, that's fine.

20 BY MR. RUBIN:

21 Q. Mr. Leach, do you have Labor Exhibit 9P?

22 A. Yes.

23 Q. And, would you accept that this is a copy of the order
24 issued by the Illinois Commerce Commission in June of

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 2007 approving the change in control of FairPoint, the 2 parent company?

3 A. Yes.

4 Q. And, would you also agree with me that the Illinois
5 Commission required FairPoint to continue to be bound
6 by the conditions that were imposed in 2005, except for 7 one condition that expired after one year?

8 A. I believe that's correct, yes.

9 Q. And, Mr. Leach, other than these Illinois -- or, in the 10 Illinois case we've been discussing, have there been 11 any other cases, since the recapitalization of 12 FairPoint in February 2005, where FairPoint agreed to 13 restrictions on the level of dividends an operating 14 company could pay up to the parent company?

15 A. There has been one other situation, again, a very small
16 company, that had similar kinds of conditions. I
17 actually don't remember the timing, whether that was 18 before or after '05, but, if you have the documents
19 here, we could quickly confirm that.

20 Q. Sure. It should be the next document in your packet,
21 Labor Exhibit 10P is an order from the New York Public
22 Service Commission. If you see up in the upper 23 right-hand corner, it's dated "March 16, 2005". It
24 concerns FairPoint's acquisition of Berkshire Telephone

1 Corporation. Is this what you were referring to?

2 A. Yes.

3 Q. And, with a date of March 16, 2005, that was about one
4 month after the initial public offering and your 5 entering into the Senior Credit Agreement?

6 A. That's correct.

7 Q. Okay. Are you familiar with this transaction and with 8 the order of the New York Commission?

9 A. Yes, sir.

10 Q. And, at the time of this transaction, were you still 11 the Chief Financial Officer of FairPoint?

12 A. Yes.

13 Q. Could you turn to Page 13 of that order. And,
14 beginning on this page, and going on for a few pages
15 after that, would you agree with me that the New York
16 Commission approved the acquisition, but with a number
17 of conditions?

18 A. Yes.

19 Q. And, if you look at, on Page 14, the paragraph number
20 7, and if you'd like a minute to review that, just tell
21 me and I'll stop talking here.

22 A. Please, let me review it.

23 Q. Okay. And, just like me know when you're ready.

24 A. Okay.

- 1 Q. Would you agree with me that this paragraph limits the 2 ability of Berkshire and FairPoint's other New York
3 operating companies to pay dividends to the parent
4 company, if certain service quality standards are not 5 met?
- 6 A. The answer to that is "yes", with the additional 7 clarification that this refers to meeting a service
8 quality standard, which again historically had been 9 very easy to meet, and we had no expectation that it
10 would be difficult to meet going forward. And, in 11 fact, there was also an "extraordinary event" out, if 12 there was an extraordinary event that caused a service
13 disruption or caused us to meet -- miss the metrics,
14 that could also be dealt with separately. So, as a 15 practical matter, this doesn't have any impact on our 16 -- any meaningful impact on the cash flow being 17 encumbered from the Company up to the parent. As a 18 technical matter, he is correct.
- 19 Q. Okay. And, nevertheless, it does provide a form of we 20 can call it a "safety net" maybe, some assurance that 21 your service quality will not decline substantially,
22 because there would be a financial restriction or 23 penalty associated with that. Is that true?
- 24 A. There would be a financial impact associated with that,

1 that's correct.

2 Q. Okay. And, if we look at the next few paragraphs in 3 this order, paragraphs 8 through 11, and, again, if 4 you'd like to take a minute to review those quickly,
5 that's fine.

6 A. I would. [short pause] Okay.

7 Q. Would you agree with me that these paragraphs restrict 8 Berkshire's dividend payments to being no more than the 9 difference between EBITDA and 100 percent of 10 depreciation expense, unless Berkshire sets aside a 11 certain amount of funds in reserve? I hope that's an 12 accurate characterization. If not, if you could 13 correct me, that would be fine.

14 A. The restrictions in Paragraph 8 and 9 do relate to 15 depreciation reserves. So, that part is correct. The 16 practical answer here is in Condition Number 10, which 17 says specifically "The dividend provisions established
18 in clauses 8 and 9 are suspended", i.e. they don't play
19 a role, to the extent that we basically set aside funds
20 in a separate account to cover future capital
21 expenditures, which is what we did. That was a fairly 22 insignificant amount, and it basically allowed us to 23 ignore Items 8 and 9 as a way to also assure that this 24 didn't have any meaningful impact on our ability to

1 move funds from the Company up to the parent.

2 Q. Okay. And, then, just to sort of complete what's here,
3 in paragraph 11, the Commission said "well, and none of 4 that applies if the parent company has an investment
5 grade bond rating"?

6 A. That's correct.

7 Q. At any time since this order was issued in March of 8 2005, has the parent company obtained an investment
9 grade bond rating?

10 A. No.

11 Q. Did FairPoint accept these conditions and complete the 12 acquisition of Berkshire Telephone Company?

13 A. Yes, we did.

14 Q. In your opinion, as the Chief Financial Officer at that 15 time, did this order violate the Senior Credit
16 Agreement?

17 A. We concluded it did not.

18 Q. And, the same question as to the Illinois orders. Did
19 you conclude, as Chief Financial Officer at that time,
20 that those orders violated the Senior Credit Agreement?

21 A. We concluded it did not.

22 Q. All right. I'd like to change to a different topic.
23 If you could turn back to Labor Exhibit 5P, the excerpt
24 from your existing credit agreement. And, it's the

1 very last page of that exhibit. If you just turn to 2 the -- you know, just flip the whole exhibit over.

3 It's labeled "Annex IV", the heading is "ERISA Section
4 3(2) Pension Plans subject to Title IV". Do you have 5 that page?

6 A. Yes, I do.

7 Q. Would I be correct that this page shows all of 8 FairPoint's pension plans as of February 2005?

9 A. Yes.

10 Q. And, as I read this, it shows that FairPoint, at that 11 time, did not have any active pension plans for its 12 employees. Is that accurate?

13 A. That's accurate.

14 Q. But there are a number of inactive plans, plans that 15 used to cover some group of employees that have been 16 terminated. And, that's what's listed on this page, is 17 that accurate?

18 A. That's correct.

19 Q. Were all of those plans terminated right around the 20 time of FairPoint's acquisition of those companies? If 21 you know?

22 A. I would say, as a general rule, when FairPoint
23 completed acquisitions, the sellers typically knew they 24 could get a higher price if there was no pension plan

1 in place. So, as a general rule, the pension plans
 2 were announced or the intention to terminate those 3 plans was typically made by the seller as part of his 4 decision running a family business to sell the 5 operations. So, as a result of that, they typically 6 would be terminated either right before or right after 7 the acquisition occurred.

8 Q. All right. And, just to be clear, the answer to my 9 question was "yes", and then you provided the 10 explanation, is that right?

11 A. Yes, sir.

12 Q. Okay. It would help us if you could do that.

13 A. Okay. I'll try.

14 Q. If we were to update this page as of today, does
 15 FairPoint have any active pension plans today?

16 A. I do not believe we do, no.

17 Q. And, do you know if, in the last two and a half years
 18 or so, are there other pension plans that would be 19 listed as "terminated plans"?

20 A. I believe we did three acquisitions in 2006, and I
 21 believe one of those fit the description that I
 22 described earlier, where the controlling shareholders
 23 concluded, to get the best price for that property,
 24 they concluded that they would terminate the pension

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 plans. So, that would be one of the three acquisitions
2 we did in 2007, yes. I'm sorry, 2006.

3 MR. RUBIN: Yes. Mr. Chairman, that
4 concludes my public questions for the witness. I have a
5 line of questioning that's confidential, and then a number
6 of questions that are highly confidential. So, however
7 you would like to proceed.

8 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Well, do I assume
9 correctly that other examiners will have areas that are 10 confidential or highly confidential?

11 MS. HOLLENBERG: Yes.

12 MS. FABRIZIO: Actually, Staff does not,
13 for Mr. Leach.

14 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Okay. Well, let's
15 continue with Mr. Rubin then and move into the 16 confidential portion of the hearing. Or, is there some 17 other preference that the parties have?

18 MS. HOLLENBERG: I'm just wondering if,
19 is NECTA going to have public after Labor's confidential?
20 I mean, it would make sense if we moved from confidential
21 labor to confidential OCA, and then I could do public OCA
22 after that. But I just wondered about NECTA/Comcast.

23 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Well, Mr. Mandl, what's 24 the substance of your inquiry? Is it confidential or

1 public?

2 MR. MANDL: I expect it will be public.
3 I have one area where I just want to confirm with 4 FairPoint counsel that certain questions will be okay on 5 the public record. But it's basically public.

6 MS. HOLLENBERG: And, if I could just
7 make one other comment. It may be better to do my public
8 before confidential, because there are times when I will 9 refer to a confidential or highly confidential exhibit,
10 but not ask questions about the -- specific questions
11 about the specific content, but the witness may feel like 12 they need to go into a confidential record because of 13 that, which we would have to redo at the end, so -- if I
14 did my confidential first. Does that make sense?

15 CHAIRMAN GETZ: You mean your public
16 first?

17 MS. HOLLENBERG: If I did my
18 confidential first, and then did my public with questions
19 that the witness might perceive as confidential or 20 FairPoint might perceive as confidential, I would have to 21 do another confidential section at the end.

22 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Okay. Let's move to
23 Mr. Mandl, and see if we can conclude his public inquiry.

24 MR. MANDL: Good morning, Mr. Leach.

1 WITNESS LEACH: Good morning.

2 BY MR. MANDL:

3 Q. I'd like to refer you to your direct testimony, at 4 Pages 19 to 20.

5 A. This is direct and not rebuttal?

6 Q. Direct prefiled testimony.

7 MS. BAILEY: What page, Alan?

8 MR. MANDL: I'm starting at Page 19.

9 BY THE WITNESS:

10 A. And, this is Page 19 of 110?

11 BY MR. MANDL:

12 Q. I believe it's your direct testimony. I have a -- I'm 13 working off of a public version, which consists of 46
14 pages. So, --

15 A. Page 19. Yes, sir. I have it in front of me.

16 Q. All right. On Page 19, you begin to discuss the 17 financial projections that FairPoint performed as part
18 of its due diligence, is that correct?

19 A. Yes.

20 Q. And, if we could turn to Page 20. Now, you indicate
21 that you developed a financial model through the year
22 2015, is that correct?

23 A. Yes.

24 Q. And, you also indicate that that model focused on a

1 five-year projection period?

2 A. Yes.

3 Q. What were the five years that were focused on?

4 A. That would have been the first five years following the 5 acquisition. So, '08, '09, '10, '11 and '12.

6 Q. All right. Thank you. During that five-year period
7 covered by the financial model, did FairPoint assume 8 any increases in existing Verizon rates for 9 telecommunications services?

10 A. No.

11 Q. And, would that statement apply to both retail and 12 wholesale telecommunications services?

13 A. Yes.

14 Q. Would I also be correct that FairPoint assumed no
15 increases in pole attachment rates in its financial 16 model?

17 A. That's correct.

18 Q. I'm going to refer you to a confidential exhibit. I do
19 hope to avoid any need to get into confidential
20 information. There was a packet previously made
21 available for FairPoint, which included a NECTA/CPNH
22 Exhibit 6C.

23 A. I do not have it.

24 (Atty. McHugh handing document to the

1 witness.)

2 BY THE WITNESS:

3 A. Do you have Exhibit 6C?

4 BY MR. MANDL:

5 Q. Yes. I have just a couple of basic questions about 6 this, so hopefully we can go quickly. With regard to 7 the financial model discussed in your testimony, does
8 Exhibit NECTA Exhibit 6C contain the financial 9 projections that you reference in your testimony?

10 A. It appears to be so, yes, sir.

11 Q. And, am I correct that the financial projections in 12 this exhibit are on a three-state basis?

13 A. They are on a consolidated basis representing all three 14 states, the existing FairPoint operations today and all
15 related corporate overhead.

16 Q. All right. Actually, there is a -- the documents are 17 Bates stamped. So, I can refer you to Page "CFPNH
18 0007", which contain some stand-alone Spinco
19 projections. Now, with regard to the stand-alone
20 Spinco projections, you've included revenue projections
21 in that portion of the document?

22 A. Correct.

23 Q. And, within the revenue projections for the stand-alone
24 Spinco, if I could refer you to Page -- the Bates

1 stamped page is "CFPNH 0013". Would the revenues
2 listed on that page be what you consider the wholesale
3 revenues for the stand-alone Spinco operation?

4 A. It certainly includes the -- what would appear to be 5 the bulk of the wholesale revenues. I'm not sure if 6 it's a perfect fit, but it represents the bulk of that,
7 yes.

8 Q. I had a couple of questions for you on the types of 9 revenues that are covered by certain line items. I
10 don't want to get into any actual numbers, but there
11 are types of services that are listed. And, I wanted
12 to try to get an understanding of what services were 13 included under a couple of those items. And, I just 14 want to know if you would consider that confidential or 15 if that would be all right to discuss on a public
16 record?

17 A. I believe, without the numbers, it would be okay to 18 discuss what's in the categories.

19 Q. One of the categories is listed as "interconnection".
20 Can you tell us what services would be covered by that 21 category?

22 A. I believe that's revenue generated by interconnection
23 agreements with the wholesale customers.

24 Q. And, how does that compare to the line item described

1 as "unbundling"?

2 A. The "unbundling" would, I believe, relate to the sale
3 of unbundled elements to CLECs who are providing 4 service to customers over the Verizon network.

5 Q. All right. Just a final area. Would you agree that
6 FairPoint has not ruled out seeking an alternative form
7 of regulation in New Hampshire during the five year --
8 the first five years of your financial model?

9 A. Would you repeat the question please?

10 Q. Would you agree that FairPoint has not ruled out
11 seeking an alternative form of rate regulation in New 12 Hampshire between 2008 and 2012?

13 A. We have not ruled that out.

14 MR. MANDL: Thank you. That completes
15 my cross for Mr. Leach. Thank you.

16 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Thank you. I'm afraid I
17 have to go back over this ground again, because I got a
18 little lost the last time. That your recommendation,
19 Ms. Hollenberg, was --

20 MS. HOLLENBERG: Well, the way I drafted
21 my public questions, I have referred to some exhibits that 22 are either confidential or highly confidential, but I do
23 so, as Mr. Mandl did with that confidential exhibit, I
24 don't ask about specific numbers. However, I do not know

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 what the witness's answers are going to be. So, he may
2 want to get into confidential information.

3 CHAIRMAN GETZ: But what's your
4 proposal?

5 MS. HOLLENBERG: Okay. Public first,
6 for the OCA.

7 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Okay. Let's do that.

8 MS. HOLLENBERG: Okay. Thanks. Sorry
9 about that. Good morning.

10 WITNESS LEACH: Good morning.

11 MS. HOLLENBERG: I hope you had a better
12 night's sleep last night than I did.

13 WITNESS LEACH: Sounds like I did.

14 MS. HOLLENBERG: Actually, the first
15 issue that I would like to take up before starting
16 questioning is Mr. Leach's testimony, his rebuttal
17 testimony, referred to in two places to the testimony of a
18 witness in Vermont. And, those places are Page 26, lines
19 19 to 23, and Page 75, lines 20 to 21. And, again, it
20 goes into Page 76, lines 1 to 5 and lines 7 to 11. And, I
21 would object to those statements being included in this
22 record. This witness from Vermont is not available to me
23 for cross-examination. And, therefore, I do not believe 24 that it is appropriate to have his statements included in

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 this record.

2 MR. MCHUGH: It's the first -- I'm
3 sorry, Mr. Chairman. It's the first we heard of the 4 objection to this by the OCA. So, we don't agree to 5 voluntarily remove it. It was part of Mr. Leach's
6 explanation of his testimony for the statements made
7 therein, and she can cross-examine Mr. Leach on why he 8 made them.

9 MS. HOLLENBERG: The point is that I'm 10 not able to cross-examine the witness he's quoting. And,
11 that would be -- I think that FairPoint would take the 12 same position if I inserted another person's testimony in 13 one of my witness's testimony.

14 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Are you taking the 15 position that you can't conduct your cross today without a 16 ruling on that?

17 MS. HOLLENBERG: No, sir, I'm not. I'm 18 just moving to strike those specific portions of his 19 testimony.

20 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Okay.

21 (Chairman and Commissioners conferring.)

22 CHAIRMAN GETZ: All right. We'll handle
23 that this way. We'll take the matter under advisement and 24 give the opportunity for a response. I don't know if your

1 preference is oral or written. But at least make sure, I
2 think you've got most of the page and line numbers in the 3 record, but let's make sure we have the -- we're clear
4 about which exactly it is. It looks like it's Mr. Wheaton
5 primarily --

6 MS. HOLLENBERG: Yes.

7 CHAIRMAN GETZ: -- that you're objecting
8 to?

9 MS. HOLLENBERG: Yes.

10 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Okay. All right. Well,
11 then, do you have a preference at this point, Mr. McHugh
12 or Mr. Coolbroth, on how or when you can respond?

13 MR. McHUGH: We can do it orally, after 14 talking with Mr. Leach and maybe after the direct 15 examination of Mr. Leach, Mr. Chairman.

16 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Okay. We'll do that 17 then.

18 MS. HOLLENBERG: Thank you.

19 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Please proceed.

20 MS. HOLLENBERG: Thank you. Good
21 morning again.

23 BY MS. HOLLENBERG:

24 Q. You responded to some data requests in this proceeding,

1 did you not?

2 A. Yes.

3 Q. And, are those responses up-to-date as of today's date?

4 A. They certainly were up-to-date as of the date we made
5 the response. I'm not sure I can answer, in every 6 single case, they're up to speed with today's date.

7 Q. So, it's possible that some of the responses are not --
8 have not been updated with -- if a circumstance has 9 changed, that the response has not been updated or 10 would you have updated if any change in circumstances
11 occurred?

12 MR. COOLBROTH: Mr. Chairman, we
13 understand fully the Commission's rule regarding updating
14 data responses. We'd ask the Commission to have in mind
15 that we've provided, the last count I had from my 16 secretary, 2,346 data responses in this case. And, it has 17 been our endeavor throughout this to follow the 18 Commission's rule, and within the confines of that kind of 19 a requirement in this case, to do the best we could. Just 20 wanted to have that stated for the record.

21 MS. HOLLENBERG: And, I certainly
22 appreciate the Company's activities in this case to answer
23 the responses to data requests. But I am having to 24 cross-examine a witness that may not have completely

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 responded up-to-date with his data responses. And, my
2 question is, am I starting with all the information that
3 the Company needs to provide me at this point?

4 CHAIRMAN GETZ: And, your answer,
5 Mr. Leach, is?

6 WITNESS LEACH: Would you repeat the 7 question please?

8 MS. HOLLENBERG: Sure.

9 BY MS. HOLLENBERG:

10 Q. I'm just wondering, as Mr. Coolbroth mentioned, there
11 is a rule that requires the responses to data requests
12 to be updated as circumstances change. And, I do
13 appreciate that there have been a number of data
14 requests propounded on FairPoint. I'm wondering if 15 your responses to those data requests that you supplied
16 to the parties in this case are up-to-date?

17 A. And, my hesitancy was just based upon the absolute
18 number of responses. In general, I would answer that 19 question "yes". To the best of my knowledge, they're 20 generally up-to-date.

21 Q. Thank you. Mr. Leach, I think you have a packet of 22 information on the desk related to the OCA's exhibits.
23 And, I would just like you to take a look at the first
24 exhibit, which is Exhibit -- OCA Exhibit 40P, and that

1 is a response to -- FairPoint's response to OCA
2 Rebuttal Data Request 26. Do you recognize that data
3 response?

4 A. Yes.

5 Q. Okay. And, you're asked in that data response -- or,
6 data request about rates basically. And, I think there
7 -- and you're asked in Subsection (a) what your 8 commitment is for capping existing basic rates. And,
9 your response to that is -- I'm sorry, I'm referring to 10 Subsection (b). You've made a commitment in your 11 testimony to cap basic rates for a year, is that 12 correct?

13 A. That's correct.

14 Q. And, when asked in Subsection (b) how that commitment
15 compares to the commitments made in Vermont and Maine,
16 you responded that the commitments are generally
17 similar to those made in Vermont and Maine?

18 A. Correct.

19 Q. What are the commitments in Vermont and Maine?

20 A. There's probably a better subject matter expert to 21 respond to that. But, at the time I answered this, it
22 was basically the same across all three states,
23 basically to keep rates unchanged for a year.

24 Q. But isn't it true, though, at the time that you -- oh,

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 at the time that you answered this you had already -- I
2 understand there was, in Maine, you had stated that it
3 was a three year rate cap, is that correct?

4 A. I don't recall the context for that particular
5 response.

6 Q. Okay. All right. I'll have to go back to that. Who 7 is the better subject matter witness that you
8 mentioned?

9 A. Probably Mr. Lippold would be the best. But I think,
10 in his absence, Mr. Nixon could probably answer the 11 rate questions.

12 Q. Okay. Is the one-year rate cap still the commitment in 13 the other two states, Vermont and Maine?

14 A. Again, we are in a time frame where there are 15 substantial settlement discussions going on, both with 16 intervenors, as well as staff members. So, I'd like to 17 defer that question to a person who would have the 18 latest information on where we are with those 19 discussions in those specific states.

20 MR. McHUGH: Well, I would note for the 21 record, Mr. Chairman, settlement discussions are not
22 supposed to be part of the evidence in the case. So, I'm 23 not expecting questions would be asked about that.

24 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Well, Ms. Hollenberg,

1 are you asking for what the public stance of the Company
2 is?

3 MS. HOLLENBERG: Yes, I am.

4 BY MS. HOLLENBERG:

5 Q. Is it FairPoint's stance, in terms of the hearings that 6 you've held in both of those states, that it is a
7 one-year rate cap on basic services?

8 A. Again, I'd like to defer that to Mr. Nixon to give you
9 a more accurate response.

10 Q. Okay. And, in your testimony, your rebuttal testimony,
11 Page 105 to 106, you refer to "a mutual two to three 12 year stay-out". Could you explain that please?

13 A. Yes. If I may get to my testimony. Page 105 and 106?

14 Q. Yes, please. It's right at the bottom of that. It
15 starts at line 19, on Page 105.

16 A. If I might read the full answer, I think that would 17 allow me to provide as clear an answer as possible.
18 The answer is in response to a question about a 19 recommendation about a potential condition. And, the 20 answer is it's difficult to address Mr. Vickroy's
21 recommendation, given it's high level of generality.
22 However, FairPoint has stated on numerous occasions it
23 has no intention of raising rates as a result of this
24 transaction. We've been consistent on that from day

1 one. FairPoint has also acknowledged it would consider
2 a two or three year stay-out, whereby the Company
3 commits to making no requests for price increases in 4 conjunction with the New Hampshire PUC agreeing also
5 not to require any rate case activity during the same
6 period. So, it was -- the response was, as part of a
7 global settlement, as part of a set of conditions to 8 approve the transaction, FairPoint would certainly
9 consider a two to three year stay-out, whereby we agree
10 not to change rates, in tandem with the Commission, to 11 the extent it controls such, doesn't also come in and 12 cause us to revisit a lowering of rates.

13 Q. Thank you. So, with the one-year rate cap, do you 14 agree that FairPoint could request a rate increase as 15 early as February 2009?

16 A. In a vacuum of any other representations, if we agreed
17 to a one-year rate cap, that certainly could be the 18 case. But, again, we've laid out a position where we'd 19 be agreeable to doing something longer than that.

20 Q. I understand that. But you're talking about a 21 condition that the Commission might impose if they 22 approve the transaction. And, what I'm asking is, if 23 FairPoint's position is, in terms of your testimony, is 24 a one-year rate cap, it's possible that you could come

1 in for a rate case as early as February 2009?

2 A. Again, in a vacuum of anything else happening, that
3 would be correct.

4 Q. FairPoint sees New Hampshire as a competitive
5 environment, does it not?

6 A. I'm sorry, what do you mean by "competitive
7 environment"?

8 Q. Well, you refer to New Hampshire as a "competitive
9 environment" in your direct testimony, at Page 10, line
10 9. And, I was asking if you agreed with that 11 statement? If you see "in this competitive
12 environment"? Do you agree that that's what it says?

13 A. I'm sorry, I still -- is it in the rebuttal testimony?

14 Q. No, it's in the direct, Page 10, line 9.

15 A. I'm sorry. Page 10.

16 Q. That's okay. Lots of paper.

17 A. I now see the sentence. Could you please ask the 18 question again?

19 Q. Sure. Do you agree that it says "in this competitive 20 environment"?

21 A. I agree.

22 Q. Okay. And, you're referring to New Hampshire, in terms
23 of New Hampshire having a competitive environment, are 24 you not?

1 A. That's correct.

2 Q. Thank you. And you would agree that FairPoint plans to 3 offer services at competitive rates and prices?

4 A. We do intend to offer services at competitive rates and 5 prices, yes.

6 Q. And, would you agree that generally competition causes
7 prices to decrease?

8 A. I would agree generally that's true, yes.

9 Q. And, you mentioned earlier on cross-examination with 10 Mr. Mandl that there are no rate increases assumed in 11 the financial projections that FairPoint did for this 12 case?

13 A. That's correct.

14 Q. Okay. And, that you would agree that FairPoint firmly
15 believes that there is a possibility that the combined
16 company could out-perform its expectations regarding 17 revenues in the absence of any rate increases?

18 A. We could certainly out-perform our revenue projections
19 with no rate increases, if unit volume was higher than 20 the projections assumed, that's correct.

21 Q. Okay. In fact, you say that at Page 89 of your 22 rebuttal, on lines 13 to 15. In response to 23 Mr. Barber, you say -- I'm sorry, are you there yet?

24 A. I'm there.

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

- 1 Q. Okay. That he "completely ignored the possibility that 2 the combined company could out-perform its expectations
3 regarding revenues, in the absence of any rate
4 increases"?
- 5 A. That's correct.
- 6 Q. And, you don't mention anything in there about unit
7 volume projections?
- 8 A. I do not.
- 9 Q. And, FairPoint expects that it will out-perform its 10 revenue projections?
- 11 A. We believe we're far more likely to do better than the 12 projections than less, below the projections, yes.
- 13 Q. One moment please. And, you would agree that a cap on 14 basic rates for longer than one, two, or three years
15 does not conflict with FairPoint's financial 16 projections?
- 17 A. Repeat the question again please.
- 18 Q. Sure. You mentioned earlier that the financial 19 projections do not include a rate increase, and they 20 cover until 2015, although there is a focus of five
21 years, until 2012. And, what I'm asking you is, do you
22 agree that a cap on basic rates for longer than one,
23 two, or three years does not conflict with FairPoint's
24 projections?

1 A. I would agree with that.

2 Q. Thank you. And, you would agree that a cap on basic 3 rates for longer than one, two, or three years is 4 consistent with your statement that you'll not increase
5 Verizon's existing rates for retail customers as a
6 result of the transaction?

7 A. That's correct.

8 Q. Thank you. Turning to our next, the OCA's next
9 exhibit, Exhibit 40P. This is a response by FairPoint.
10 And, again, we touched upon that earlier, with regard 11 to rates. But I'm going to ask you to refer to 12 Subsection (e) of that response, which asks "is it
13 still FairPoint's position that in any rate case it
14 would not be obligated to impute directory Yellow Pages
15 revenues?" And, your response is "FairPoint's position
16 continues to be that it should not be obligated to 17 impute directory revenues in a future rate case because 18 of the Merger Agreement, does not convey any part of 19 the directory business with the assets transferred, and 20 FairPoint never had anything to do with such business."
21 Did I read that correctly?

22 A. Yes, you did.

23 Q. Thank you. If I could have you look at Page --
24 Exhibit 41P please. This is a response by Lee David

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 Newett to -- on behalf of FairPoint, to the OCA's
2 Follow-up Data Request Group V-2, V-2. Mr. Newett
3 isn't a witness in this case, is he?

4 A. He is not.

5 Q. Okay. And, would you -- do you sponsor this response
6 in your position for FairPoint?

7 A. Yes.

8 Q. Excuse me one moment please. And, you would agree that 9 this question also asked you about the 20 -- 10 approximately 23 million imputation required by the 11 PUC's order in the Verizon Yellow Pages case?

12 A. I agree.

13 Q. And, the reply is with respect to whether or not 14 FairPoint, in its earnings statements that it would 15 file post transaction with the PUC, if they intend to 16 impute that amount, the answer is "no"?

17 A. That's correct.

18 Q. Thank you. FairPoint is entering an agreement or has 19 it entered an agreement not to compete with IDR, in 20 terms of paper publishing?

21 A. As part of the transaction, if the transaction closes,
22 that is correct, yes.

23 MS. HOLLENBERG: Mr. Chairman, if I
24 might ask at this time for the Commission to take

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 administrative notice of the Yellow Pages docket, the 2 orders, the two orders of the Commission, the final order
3 and the Supreme Court's order affirming the Commission's 4 order in that case.

5 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Response?

6 MR. COOLBROTH: Mr. Chairman, perhaps if 7 we can have an understanding of what that is bringing into 8 this record in this case? And, my understanding is that 9 is a voluminous record, it --

10 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Well, excuse me, I want
11 to make sure. "Record" -- You're asking for the final 12 order of the Commission and the Supreme Court's decision?

13 MS. HOLLENBERG: Yes, sir.

14 MR. COOLBROTH: So, simply the order and 15 the Supreme Court's decision?

16 MS. HOLLENBERG: Yes, sir.

17 MR. COOLBROTH: No objection.

18 MR. DEL VECCHIO: Solely related to the 19 orders, which, of course, any parties could make reference 20 to in the brief, Mr. Chairman, we would not object to 21 that.

22 MS. HOLLENBERG: Thank you.

23 CHAIRMAN GETZ: All right. We'll take 24 administrative order of the Commission -- or,

1 administrative notice of the Commission's final order and
2 the Supreme Court's decision in the Yellow Pages docket.

3 (Whereupon administrative notice was 4 taken.)

5 MS. HOLLENBERG: Thank you.

6 BY MS. HOLLENBERG:

7 Q. Mr. Leach, if you could turn to Exhibit 42 please.

8 This is a highly confidential exhibit, so I'd ask you
9 not to refer to any numbers. And, if you do feel as 10 though you need to refer to anything that's highly 11 confidential, I can -- just indicate that and I can 12 reserve it for my questioning later. And, the only 13 thing I have to ask you is if you recognize this 14 document as a response by FairPoint, by you on behalf
15 of FairPoint, to OCA Rebuttal Question 28?

16 A. I do.

17 Q. Thank you. Turning next to OCA Exhibit 43, which is a
18 public exhibit. Do you recognize this document as a
19 response by you on behalf of FairPoint to the OCA
20 Rebuttal Data Request R-29?

21 A. Yes, I do.

22 Q. Thank you. I'd like to ask you a couple of questions
23 about cost allocation. FairPoint has not specified the 24 details on how it will allocate costs between regulated

1 and unregulated operations in Northern New England, has 2 it?

3 A. We have not.

4 Q. And, FairPoint has not specified any details of how it
5 will allocate costs between FairPoint affiliates,
6 including Northern New England?

7 A. Beyond the general description, we've not provided
8 details.

9 Q. As a result of due diligence efforts, did FairPoint
10 develop an understanding of the benefits and value
11 associated with the costs allocated by Verizon to 12 Northern New England?

13 A. Please repeat the question.

14 Q. Sure. FairPoint did due diligence in the case. And,
15 as a result of those efforts, I'm wondering if
16 FairPoint developed an understanding of the benefits
17 and value associated with the costs allocated by 18 Verizon to Northern New England?

19 A. The reason I need a clarification is, the "benefits of 20 a cost" are -- I'm sorry, are confusing me. What do 21 you actually mean the -- the "benefits of a cost" is 22 typically not a benefit.

23 Q. Well, I guess I would ask it this way. Verizon
24 allocated costs to Northern New England. And, I'm

1 wondering if FairPoint assessed those costs to 2 determine what customers were receiving in return for 3 those costs?

4 A. FairPoint clearly understands the amount of the costs
5 allocated across all three states for Verizon providing 6 back office services. That the cost information is in 7 two big buckets, direct costs for, you know,
8 on-the-ground costs, employees driving trucks,
9 utilities, etcetera, and then allocated costs, which 10 come from an allocation process, whereby Verizon
11 provides services, like billing, like network
12 operations, etcetera, and then allocates a cost to 13 those -- to the three states. We have a very good 14 sense of what the services are that it performs, and we 15 have a good sense of what the costs are that come back
16 and are allocated for those services. If the question
17 is "do we think that was good value?" We did not 18 attempt to determine what the benefits were, because we 19 knew those costs were going away. And, what we cared
20 about is what would the cost structure be for FairPoint
21 following the transaction.

22 Q. So, you didn't assess whether or not each state
23 received a dollar or more of value for each dollar
24 charged by Verizon?

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 A. Again, I would answer it the same way. We know that 2 each state was providing services. We know that the 3 states were charged for those services. We know what
4 it will cost us to provide such services. But we did
5 not try to determine what the value was for the 6 services based upon what Verizon charged.

7 Q. But you would agree that the services have value?

8 A. Absolutely.

9 Q. And, they're going to have value, the value shouldn't
10 matter, regardless of who's performing a service,
11 FairPoint or Verizon, would you agree with that?

12 A. If it was identical service, you would think it would 13 have the same value.

14 Q. And, is it -- if the costs are going away, as you've 15 mentioned, is it possible that the value is also going 16 away?

17 A. No.

18 Q. How do you know that if you haven't assessed the value?

19 A. Oh, I know that because we believe that the services we 20 provide will be comparable to, if not better, than the 21 services that are provided today. And, we believe the 22 costs to get allocated reflect our actual costs of 23 providing those services. And, so, that's why I'm 24 comfortable with the answer.

1 Q. Thank you. If you could turn to Exhibit -- OCA Exhibit
2 Leach 44P. This is your response on behalf of 3 FairPoint to OCA R-30. You would agree with that?

4 A. Yes.

5 Q. And, it indicates that, in response to the question
6 "Please confirm that FairPoint does not plan to book
7 DSL revenues as intrastate regulated revenues", your 8 response is "FairPoint does not intend to book end user
9 DSL revenues as intrastate regulated revenues"?

10 A. Correct.

11 Q. Will the DSL revenues flow to shareholders then?

12 A. Well, the DSL revenues will certainly flow to the 13 benefit of the consolidated corporation. And, to the 14 extent that creates a profitable revenue stream, then 15 that clearly could benefit the shareholders of the 16 corporation.

17 Q. Thank you. If you could turn to OCA Exhibit Leach 45P, 18 you would agree that this is your response on behalf of 19 FairPoint to OCA R-31?

20 A. Yes.

21 Q. And, it's asking you about how FairPoint plans to book
22 the costs of the broadband plan?

23 A. Yes, it does.

24 Q. And, it asks if those costs will be booked as

1 intrastate regulated costs. And, the response is that
2 "FairPoint has not yet determined the portion of its 3 broadband plan investment that will be assigned to New
4 Hampshire intrastate regulated operations. FairPoint
5 will comply with all FCC rules and New Hampshire
6 guidelines when making such an assignment." Did I read
7 that correctly?

8 A. Yes, you did.

9 Q. Thank you.

10 MR. McHUGH: Mr. Chairman, if I might
11 just interrupt for a moment. Only to say we -- I believe 12 what we agreed to yesterday was we would check on 13 responses to data requests, just to verify if they have 14 been supplemented or not, and wouldn't necessarily affect 15 them coming into the record. So, with that being the 16 case, I don't know that it's efficient to just have the 17 witness or the attorney read these into the record. Just 18 to move things along, we'd be happy to stipulate that they 19 come in, subject to check that they have been 20 supplemented, and then the supplement would come in as 21 well.

22 MS. HOLLENBERG: I have some questions
23 about this data response. And, I feel as though I need to 24 make the record clear. But I appreciate that. And, I

1 will take that under advisement.

2 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Well, I would just say,
3 as a general practice, that we'll allow the inquiry to 4 proceed. But, if a party would like to, as was noted in 5 one of the earlier letters from Mr. Kreis in this 6 proceeding, if a party seeks to introduce exhibits without 7 following up and having them, to the extent they're data
8 responses under oath or affirmation, then we'll try to 9 move the proceedings along. But we'll give the 10 opportunity for the counsel to inquire, if they would 11 like.

12 MS. HOLLENBERG: Thank you.

13 BY MS. HOLLENBERG:

14 Q. Could you tell me what FCC rules you're referring to in 15 your response?

16 A. I think there is a -- I can attempt to do that, but 17 there's a much better witness who will follow me, since 18 I'm not a regulatory expert, regulatory attorney in any 19 form or fashion. There is a -- Mr. Skrivan will be 20 able to provide much more detail and clarity on this 21 issue than I could.

22 Q. Okay. And, I presume he would be the better witness to 23 ask about the New Hampshire guidelines as well?

24 A. Yes, he would.

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 Q. What was your understanding, though, when you answered
2 the question of those two things?

3 A. My understanding was, we would have to abide by 4 whatever the FCC rules are, as they relate to 5 interstate or intrastate jurisdiction issues.

6 Q. It's possible that FairPoint will assign costs of its 7 broadband plan investment to intrastate regulated
8 operations?

9 A. Is it possible?

10 Q. Yes.

11 A. Again, I would defer that question. I'm not the best 12 witness to respond to that.

13 Q. Excuse me?

14 A. I would defer that to Mr. Skrivan.

15 Q. Speaking of Mr. Skrivan, he testified that, as a mid 16 size ILEC, FairPoint will be entitled to some 17 streamline treatment under the federal rules and be 18 able to file fewer ARMIS reports. Are you familiar
19 with that, that consequence of this transaction?

20 A. If there's a specific question, I might see if I could 21 answer it.

22 Q. I guess his testimony was that FairPoint should not be 23 required to file certain ARMIS reports, specifically
24 43-02, 43-03, and 43-04, and that FairPoint will only

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 be required to file the summary report and the service
2 quality report. And, what my question is, does
3 FairPoint intend to submit to the PUC any reporting
4 regarding cost assignment?

5 A. I'm not qualified to answer that response. Mr. Skrivan 6 would be.

7 Q. Okay. Thank you.

8 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Ms. Hollenberg?

9 MS. HOLLENBERG: Yes.

10 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Just for planning
11 purposes, how much more to your public portion?

12 MS. HOLLENBERG: I have quite a bit.
13 Probably another 30 minutes, maybe a little bit more than 14 that.

15 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Then, this may be a good
16 time to take about a ten-minute recess. I don't know if 17 folks recall from discussion yesterday, we're going to 18 break -- a short break now, and then come back for an hour
19 or so, a short break to change reporters, and then go from 20 noon to 1:00, and then we're going to take the lunch break
21 from 1:00 to 2:00. So, let's take about ten minutes right
22 now.

23 (Recess taken at 10:36 a.m. and the 24 hearing reconvened at 10:53 a.m.)

1 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Okay. We're back on the
2 record with examination of Mr. Leach by Ms. Hollenberg.

3 MS. HOLLENBERG: Thank you.

4 BY MS. HOLLENBERG:

5 Q. Mr. Leach, just to touch upon a couple of things we've
6 already talked about, before I continue. We talked a
7 little bit about the one-year rate commitment, rate cap
8 commitment. And, if FairPoint has no intention of 9 raising rates, why only a one-year rate commitment?

10 A. This is a quickly-changing industry. Who knows what 11 will happen down the road. And, we just felt like, as 12 a starting point, offering anything longer than that,
13 and, again, in a vacuum of any other discussions or 14 conditions or points, was not the prudent way to go.

15 Q. And, in terms of the rate cap commitments in Maine and 16 Vermont, are you aware that both Vermont and Maine are 17 regulated under an alternative form of regulation?

18 A. Yes, I am.

19 Q. And, would you accept subject to check that the Vermont
20 alternative form of regulation controls or it basically
21 controls rates until 2010?

22 A. I believe that's correct, yes.

23 Q. Are you familiar with what the -- when the AFOR in 24 Maine expires?

1 A. That is a very hard question to answer, because of the 2 way the -- there's actually a renewal process underway
3 now, as I understand it. But, again, Mr. Skrivan would 4 be a better person to answer that question.

5 Q. Are you familiar with, though, that the Vermont AFOR,
6 at least the way it's -- the status of it at this point
7 is that there has been a recommendation by a hearings
8 examiner that there be a 35 -- I'm sorry, Maine AFOR,
9 that there be an approximately $35 million rate
10 decrease? Am I correct in that?

11 A. Well, I think it's close. I'm not sure it's a hearings
12 examiner, but, clearly, there is an issue I believe 13 that deals with a rate decrease. An item that's been 14 under discussion for a number of years, as I understand
15 it. So, I am familiar with the stipulation related to 16 the status of that particular issue, yes.

17 Q. And, it's in millions of dollars, right?

18 A. That's correct.

19 Q. And, lastly, just to, in terms recapping, in terms of 20 the cost allocation issue, I asked you whether or not
21 you had valued the services that Verizon had allocated
22 costs for. And, I was wondering if there were any 23 function that Verizon is performing for Northern New 24 England that FairPoint will not rec -- excuse me,

1 replicate?

2 A. Generally, all the services that are needed today
3 across all three states that are provided by Verizon,
4 we will have to replace and replicate and provide
5 either on our own or in some combination with another
6 vendor. So, yes. The answer is we do expect to 7 provide the same services.

8 Q. Thank you. If you could turn to OCA Exhibit Leach
9 46HC, and this is a highly confidential exhibit. I'm 10 not intending to ask you about any specific figures,
11 but, to the extent that you would like to discuss
12 anything on this, I can defer it, defer other questions
13 to the confidential portion. You would agree that this 14 is a detailed worksheet from your financial model?

15 A. Yes.

16 Q. And, if I could have you -- excuse me, one moment
17 please. This didn't print out with lines, so now I'm 18 trying to figure out where I need to direct you. It's 19 actually halfway down. There is a -- the third bolded
20 category, and the second line in that section.

21 A. I believe we are comfortable with you talking about the 22 headings, as long as no dollar amounts are mentioned.

23 Q. Right.

24 A. Or numbers are mentioned.

1 Q. That's very helpful. Thank you. Is "COGS per DSL",
2 which "COGS" is "cost of goods sold", is that correct?

3 A. That's correct.

4 Q. And you see the figure for the amounts for that from 5 2008 to 2015?

6 A. Yes.

7 Q. Is this a monthly or an annual figure?

8 A. That's a -- I believe a monthly per line figure.

9 Q. And, what does that figure represent?

10 A. That figure represents the costs that a nonregulated
11 business needs to pay the regulated business for 12 sharing a line to provide the service.

13 Q. And, will there actually be money that changes hands
14 for that payment? Or, in other words, is there --
15 well, I guess, will there be money that changes hands?

16 A. There will be money that changes hands among two 17 FairPoint, post closing, two FairPoint affiliates. On 18 a consolidated basis, there's really no distinction.

19 Q. And, you would -- do you agree that there's no
20 commitment that the DSL subsidiary will actually pay
21 this amount per line to the telco?

22 A. Again, I think this may be more a regulated question
23 that you should ask Mr. Skrivan. I'm not sure if we 24 have the option or not. That's why I'm deferring it to 1 a regulatory expert.

2 Q. Okay. But you would agree that you answered earlier
3 that FairPoint has not hammered out the details of cost
4 allocation?

5 A. Yes. In my view, this is not considered -- what I
6 would typically consider a cost allocation issue. This
7 is a fairly well-defined, precisely defined element
8 that typically would be passed between a reg and nonreg
9 entity.

10 Q. Okay.

11 A. Versus an allocation number, where you have to decide
12 what the right number is.

13 Q. Would you know how FairPoint would determine that 14 figure?

15 A. Mr. Skrivan would be able to tell you.

16 Q. Will any of the investment in broadband support basic 17 service?

18 A. It's possible. I can't think of a good example right 19 now, but it's possible, as part of an exercise to 20 provide broadband service to a customer, that may 21 result in doing something to the local loop that could,
22 in fact, benefit, you know, other services.

23 Q. But you have no specific examples in mind?

24 A. Beyond that, I don't have a specific example, no.

1 Q. Will any of the investment in broadband be part of the 2 common telecommunications network?

3 A. When we talk about "investment in broadband", we're 4 talking in terms of how much capital expenditures are 5 you spending on various parts of the network. And,
6 typically, when we talk about a broadband investment,
7 that would be a classic nonreg part of the network.

8 Q. Who at FairPoint is responsible for assigning and 9 allocating broadband costs?

10 A. That would be a combination of our controller function
11 and our regulatory function. And, again, Mr. Skrivan
12 will be the best witness to respond to any details.
13 I'd be glad to take a shot at it.

14 Q. Well, I guess, who are those individuals?

15 A. Mr. Skrivan will be a witness on the regulatory side.
16 Our corporate controller is Pat Hogan, who's not 17 planning to be a witness.

18 Q. But it's your -- your response that he and Mr. Skrivan
19 may have some -- may participate in that allocation or 20 assignment process?

21 A. Absolutely. They will be the two. In fact,
22 Mr. Skrivan reports to Mr. Hogan.

23 Q. And, is there any portion of the investment that
24 FairPoint will be making to broadband would FairPoint

1 be willing to commit not to seek recovery for?

2 A. Again, I would have to refer that to Mr. Skrivan.

3 Q. And, does FairPoint expect revenues associated with the 4 new investment on broadband to cover costs?

5 A. Well, we certainly expect the investment to generate an
6 attractive rate of return over time. That may not mean
7 first year revenues cover first year costs. But it
8 does mean that we believe, over the life of the 9 investment, in this case the life of the broadband
10 asset, it would generate more than sufficient revenue
11 to cover that cost, yes.

12 Q. Is it possible, until it covers its costs, that 13 FairPoint could seek increases in rates?

14 A. My understanding is DSL is a nonreg service. My 15 understanding also is it's a very competitive market.
16 We compete against cable modems. Hard to say -- Hard 17 to say whether we would or wouldn't. It kind of 18 depends on the future environment. If you can be more
19 specific, maybe I can try to be more specific.

20 Q. Well, what I heard you say, in response to my question
21 about whether or not revenues would cover costs, was 22 that you were not, you know, that they may not
23 initially. And that, over the life of the investment,
24 that they probably would overall, but they wouldn't

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 initially. And, so, my question was, in the initially
2 part of time, is it possible that FairPoint could seek
3 rate increases to cover those costs?

4 A. In terms of a typical rate case process?

5 Q. Yes.

6 A. Again, I would bounce this to Mr. Skrivan. But, again,
7 I believe, since DSL and broadband is nonregulated,
8 that that wouldn't make itself applicable to a typical 9 rate case process. I could be wrong. But I would ask
10 Mr. Skrivan that question.

11 Q. Okay. And, I will ask him. I guess, just to follow up
12 on that response, what my question is, is it possible
13 that FairPoint will seek -- we've talked a little bit
14 about costs of broadband, and whether or not those 15 costs, as opposed to revenues, will be assigned to 16 intrastate regulated operations. And, my question is 17 whether or not FairPoint will seek to increase, through 18 a rate case, its intrastate costs, i.e. its regulated
19 costs, in order to cover broadband?

20 A. Again, Mr. Skrivan would be the right person to ask
21 that question.

22 Q. Thank you. Do you agree that the costs of broadband
23 will be capitalized?

24 A. Well, there certainly is a part of building out a

1 broadband network that would get capitalized.

2 Q. Would you -- I'm sorry.

3 A. And there would a part that would get expensed.

4 Q. Would you say more -- more of the costs will be
5 capitalized than expensed?

6 A. I would say, subject to check, the up-front cost, you
7 know, as you expand into new markets to offer broadband 8 to new customers, more of the up-front costs would tend 9 to be capitalized. I would agree with that.

10 Q. And, is it possible that those costs could be included
11 in rates, the rate base for future rate cases?

12 A. I'm sorry, again, Mr. Skrivan could answer that 13 question.

14 MR. MCHUGH: Mr. Chairman, maybe it
15 would be appropriate to defer all of the rate case type 16 questions to Mr. Skrivan, who will be appearing after 17 Mr. Leach?

18 MS. HOLLENBERG: My response is,
19 Mr. Leach is the sponsor of the model, he's also the 20 primary financial witness for FairPoint, and that was the 21 purpose of asking him financial questions about rates.

22 MR. MCHUGH: Well, it's the 23 regulatory/rate case type questions which I'm suggesting
24 we defer, since all Mr. Leach is accomplishing here today

1 is deferring them to Mr. Skrivan.

2 MS. HOLLENBERG: I beg to differ. Mr.
3 Leach is actually accomplishing things today. And, I
4 would appreciate it if I could continue with my cross-
5 examination.

6 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Well, we'll see how far
7 it goes. I mean, if it's obvious, if you already know
8 that he's not the witness, then I presume you won't ask
9 him questions. So, let's just continue.

10 MS. HOLLENBERG: Thank you.

11 BY MS. HOLLENBERG:

12 Q. Just to turn for a moment back to Exhibit 46, which is 13 the highly confidential exhibit we discussed a little 14 while ago.

15 A. Yes.

16 Q. And, the line "COGS per DSL", which is about halfway
17 down the page. You mention that it would be 18 appropriate to defer these questions to Mr. Skrivan.
19 But I'm just asking, I wonder, from you, if you can 20 tell me when Mr. Skrivan joined FairPoint?

21 A. Roughly sometime in the last six months or so.

22 Q. Okay. And, isn't this line -- this line is part of the 23 -- or, this page is part of the model, and this line
24 represents input into the model. You would agree with

1 that?

2 A. I would agree with that.

3 Q. And, Mr. Skrivan was not -- wasn't working with 4 FairPoint at the time that the model was put together,
5 is that correct?

6 A. He was not. But he's very familiar with our business,
7 having come from a company that looks just like us and 8 that was very active in the DSL business. So, he, in 9 our view, is an expert in terms of regulatory and cost
10 allocation issues that relate to these kind of topics.

11 Q. How then, without him, was that input determined?

12 A. This -- in terms of this particular line item?

13 Q. Yes, please.

14 A. Subject to check, I believe this is the current cost
15 that's being incurred today for this service.

16 Q. Thank you. Just to ask you a couple of questions about 17 municipal deployment of wireless. Will FairPoint agree
18 not to oppose municipalities' deployment of wireless?

19 A. On what basis? Can you be more specific?

20 Q. Well, I guess, under the plan, you would agree that 21 FairPoint is not intending to serve 100 percent of New 22 Hampshire?

23 A. FairPoint ultimately intends to serve 100 percent of 24 the Verizon customers in New Hampshire.

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 Q. Okay. And, you would agree that, at least in the near 2 future, say, till 2015, you will not be serving
3 100 percent of the Verizon customers. Do you agree
4 with that?

5 A. I really don't. Are you talking about broadband?

6 Q. What do you mean by "broadband"?

7 A. Well, today, Verizon serves 100 percent of its 8 customers, right? If they have a customer, it's 9 because they provide them service, of some kind?

10 Q. I guess I'm asking the questions, but --

11 A. Okay.

12 Q. -- what I wanted to know from you, when will FairPoint
13 serve 100 percent of the customers, in terms of 14 broadband? Yes. Thank you.

15 A. Okay. That was the clarification I was looking for.

16 Q. Okay.

17 A. The honest answer is, I do not know. But the strategic 18 view of the Company is to ultimately offer all of our 19 customers, in this case, all of the Verizon customers,
20 after the transaction closes, a broadband product. So,
21 we ultimately would like to address 100 percent of the 22 customers with some sort of broadband product.

23 Q. So, with that in mind, it's possible or you would 24 object to anyone else attempting to deploy broadband

1 within your footprint then, such as a municipality?

2 A. I think we would certainly want the right to review
3 each situation on a case-by-case basis. So, we would 4 not categorically agree not to object.

5 Q. And, your concern is primarily that you would like to,
6 if possible, you'd like the first option to address
7 those customers' needs, as far as broadband?

8 A. Well, we want to try to provide all the services to our 9 customers that our customers would like to have. You
10 know, I'm not sure if we would even have -- on what 11 basis we would have to object. You know, it's a free
12 country. And, so, if someone wants to start a wireless
13 endeavor in any of our markets, I'm not sure we have a 14 legal recourse to object. I think, in order to provide 15 our services the best possible -- excuse me, to provide 16 our customers the best possible services, we would work
17 hard to becoming their provider of choice, and 18 regardless of what technology might be appropriate to 19 provide them service. We do provide wireless to some 20 of our customers today in different parts of the 21 country. A wireless -- A fixed wireless alternative,
22 in certain very rural settings, is the best way to 23 serve customers. And, I can see us at some point doing
24 that in New Hampshire in certain instances.

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 Q. Are there any circumstances that you could think of 2 that FairPoint would not oppose the deployment by 3 another entity of broadband within your service area?

4 A. Would you repeat the question please?

5 Q. I'm just wondering if there are any circumstances that 6 you can think of that you would not oppose any other
7 provider providing broadband within your service area?

8 A. I could think of one from a technology perspective, if 9 it created a crowded spectrum and caused existing 10 wireless services not to work. I mean, I can dream up
11 a scenario where it may not make sense for another
12 wireless operator to come into a market.

13 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Ms. Hollenberg, you're 14 not talking just about municipal wireless at this point,
15 you're talking more broadly?

16 MS. HOLLENBERG: I'm talking more
17 broadly, but also about municipal.

18 BY MS. HOLLENBERG:

19 Q. So, there could be a circumstance that FairPoint would 20 not object?

21 A. Well, again, I would start with the premise, I'm not 22 sure what the basis in a competitive -- with 23 competitive nonregulated services, what the basis would 24 be for us to object in the first place. But our

1 business strategy would be to try to become the 2 provider of choice to our customers, and that will
3 include wireless at some point in the future for 4 certain more rural markets.

5 Q. Do you -- Have you heard of the term "addressability"?

6 A. I have.

7 Q. And, how is -- what is "addressability"?

8 A. Well, it can be a couple of things. "Addressability",
9 in our view, typically means, if you can address
10 90 percent of your customers with a broadband product,
11 it means that those customers that make up that 12 90 percent can call in and order the service and get 13 it. That it's basically available to them where they 14 are addressed by the service.

15 Q. And, how is that different from "availability"?

16 A. To me, they're basically one in the same. Somehow, in 17 this -- in the broadband discussions here, those have 18 become a little confusing. But, to me, a customer is 19 either addressable or available if you can get them the 20 service. But I think Mr. Michael Brown has had a great 21 deal of discussion on that, in that distinction between 22 that, and it may have some relevance here that, you
23 know, that's not my area of expertise.

24 Q. Okay. Thank you. Turning to capital expenditures,

1 FairPoint has a commitment letter to obtain
2 2.08 billion in loans associated with this transaction,
3 do you agree with that?

4 A. Yes.

5 Q. And, is there or will there be any provision of these 6 loans or credit agreements that will place a limitation
7 on FairPoint's capital expenditures?

8 A. There is a provision in the commitment letter that 9 indicates there will be a limitation on the amount of 10 capital expenditures. Most likely defined as a percent
11 of EBITDA, earnings before interest depreciation taxes
12 amortization, but that's a "to be determined" number.
13 It's important to note that, as the bank group put the 14 commitment letter together with that particular
15 provision in it, there were some members of the bank
16 group who didn't think it was even necessary. There
17 were others who said "it was in your prior agreement,
18 so let's go ahead and keep it in a future agreement,
19 but give the Company whatever latitude it needs to make 20 sure that that doesn't impact the ability to spend 21 CapEx in the future. So, a long way of saying, we do
22 expect that provision, but we don't expect it to have 23 any practical limitation on our capital expenditure
24 expectations.

1 Q. And, you testified in your rebuttal that FairPoint
2 would be willing to redo a commitment for a reasonable
3 amount of annual capital expenditures for a period of 4 time until the PUC has evidence that it is meeting its 5 service quality criteria? Do you recall that?

6 A. I'm sorry. Could you repeat that question?

7 Q. Sure. It's actually at your rebuttal testimony,
8 Page 103. And, it just talks -- you mentioned that 9 FairPoint would be willing to agree to a commitment for 10 a certain amount of CapEx expenditures, and you tie
11 that in with service quality?

12 A. I see the answer, yes.

13 Q. Okay. So, how does that -- but I guess, in light of 14 the limit that might be placed in your financing
15 paperwork, FairPoint wouldn't be able to agree to more 16 than what it's agreed with the lenders, is that
17 correct?

18 A. The short answer is "yes", but the "but" clause is, but 19 we will have shown the, in fact, the bank group has 20 already seen our financial projections, knows what our 21 capital expenditures are, and we have every expectation
22 that they will give us a comfortable amount of margin
23 even over above that, such that we would not have any 24 problem meeting the commitments that we're making to

1 all three states over a three-year time frame.

2 Q. Thank you. I notice you have some familiarity with 3 both electric and telephone utilities in your 4 background?

5 A. Yes.

6 Q. Would you agree that capital expenditures for public
7 utilities are characterized as being "lumpy" in nature?

8 A. Yes.

9 Q. And, could you define what that means to be "lumpy"?

10 A. It means, from a telecommunications perspective, you
11 may have to replace a switch in a central office once
12 every -- pick a number, once every ten years, so that 13 nine out of the ten years the capital expenditures
14 would be a more modest number. In the tenth year, when 15 you have to replace the switch, it could be a
16 dramatically higher number, and that would be the lump,
17 causing it to get lumpy over time.

18 Q. So, you might have to spend a lot of money to fix a
19 small problem, because there's no other way to fix it?

20 A. I'm not sure I said that.

21 Q. As opposed to an efficient way to fix it?

22 A. No, I'm not sure I said that.

23 Q. Okay.

24 A. I think what I said is the infrastructure is such that

1 it lasts a long time. When it has to be replaced, it
2 can be expensive.

3 Q. Okay. Thank you. I'd like to ask you to look at 4 Exhibit 47HC. And, again, I don't have any intention
5 of mentioning the highly confidential aspect of it.
6 It's two pages. The source of the first -- or, the 7 source of the two pages, if you can see it, where at 8 Line 12 it says from your summary worksheet?

9 A. Yes, I have it.

10 Q. Okay. Of the financial model. You would agree that 11 this exhibit contains data over multiple years?

12 A. Yes.

13 Q. And, it contains three years of actual Verizon capital
14 investment data?

15 A. Yes.

16 Q. 2004 to 2006, correct?

17 A. That's correct.

18 Q. And, then, projected capital investment data for 2007
19 under Verizon and 2008 to 2015 under FairPoint?

20 A. Correct.

21 Q. The Verizon actual numbers include FiOS investment, is 22 that correct?

23 A. That's correct.

24 Q. And, in fact, you can see -- and they could be seen on

1 a separate line for 2004 to 2005?

2 A. And 2006, yes.

3 Q. Okay. Yes. I'm sorry, 2004 to 2006. Thank you. And 4 that investment stops at 2006, is that correct?

5 A. That's correct.

6 Q. FairPoint and Verizon have acknowledged that FairPoint
7 does not intend to continue the FiOS program?

8 A. Certainly not immediately, that's correct.

9 Q. Okay. And, looking at the line labeled "recurring", in 10 fact, FairPoint is spending less and less on capital
11 investment than Verizon did in any one of those three 12 years, 2004 to 2006, is that correct?

13 A. In just looking at the "recurring" line, during -- 14 that's correct through 2004 through 2006, not correct
15 for what we're spending this year, in '07.

16 Q. Thank you. Now, if you could turn to Exhibit -- OCA
17 Exhibit 48HC. And, if you look at Line 23, it shows
18 the source is from the FairPoint financial model, it's 19 a summary of a CapEx worksheet, cells A-1:021. You'd 20 agree that this is a further detailed breakdown of 21 capital investment numbers on the sheet that we just 22 looked at?

23 A. It appears to be so, yes.

24 Q. And, on this information drawn from the financial

1 model, there is -- FiOS is shown on the "FTTP", is that
2 correct?

3 A. Yes.

4 Q. Thank you. You mentioned in the hearing in Vermont an 5 "advisory committee", you were crossed -- you were 6 subjected to cross-examination by Ms. Tierney. And, in 7 that discussion, she asked you if you -- if FairPoint
8 would be willing to have an advisory committee for the 9 Northern New England states. Do you recall that?

10 A. I do recall that.

11 Q. And, you indicated that "FairPoint would take that into 12 serious consideration." Do you agree?

13 A. Yes.

14 Q. And, that would include representatives from each of 15 the three Northern New England states?

16 A. That's correct.

17 Q. And, who would the Advisory Committee report to?

18 A. We have proposed, if we had it, it would report
19 directly to the President, Mr. Peter Nixon.

20 Q. And, how would the members of the Advisory Committee be 21 selected?

22 A. I would like to refer that to Mr. Nixon, who has given 23 this much more thought than I have.

24 Q. Thank you. You were asked by Mr. Mandl on

1 cross-examination if FairPoint had not ruled out
2 seeking an alternative form of regulation in New
3 Hampshire. And, my question for you is, will FairPoint
4 agree to undergo a full rate case before switching to 5 an alternative form of regulation?

6 A. I'd like to refer that to Mr. Skrivan please.

7 Q. Thank you. You would agree that, if this deal is not
8 approved in one of the three jurisdictions, that 9 FairPoint will not go through with it?

10 A. That's much more likely to be the case than not, yes.

11 Q. Thank you. Excuse me please. You indicated or you
12 asked to defer the question about whether or not
13 FairPoint would be willing to undergo a full rate case 14 before switching to an AFOR to Mr. Skrivan. And, who 15 does Mr. Skrivan report to?

16 A. He reports to our Corporate Controller, Mr. Pat Hogan.

17 Q. And, does Mr. Skrivan have the authority to answer that 18 question to determine that on behalf of FairPoint?

19 A. I believe he will be in the best position to provide 20 the most accurate response to that question, yes.

21 Q. Thank you. The total size of this transaction is 22 2.7 billion?

23 A. Correct.

24 Q. And, FairPoint will invest another 200 million the

1 first year for systems development and integration,
2 correct?

3 A. Not necessarily the first year, but that is the 4 up-front, part of it to be before -- spent before the 5 closing, part of it to be spent after the closing. But 6 the $200 million number is correct, yes.

7 Q. Thank you. And, under the agreement with Verizon, the 8 acquisition will be financed 37 percent common equity
9 and 63 percent debt?

10 A. That's correct.

11 Q. In your last rate case in Maine, the Company advocated 12 using an equity ratio of 68 percent as being 13 reasonable, is that correct?

14 A. Subject to check, I believe that's correct.

15 Q. Why then is the 37 percent equity an appropriate ratio
16 for this transaction, given the Company's prior 17 position?

18 A. I think it's an apples and an oranges kind of 19 comparison. The financing for this transaction is 20 being done at the parent company in this case, not the 21 operating telephone companies. And, we do believe, and 22 I think most people think, if you're spending
23 37 percent in cash and 63 percent in debt, that's a 24 reasonable financing structure for a business. So, in

1 this case, we believe that that is the appropriate
2 structure up at the parent company. And, we would not 3 be at all surprised if, in a future rate case, down at 4 the operating company levels, there would be an imputed
5 debt-to-equity structure that the Commission deems
6 appropriate in those specific states. So, our sense
7 is, this is the parent company capital structure, and 8 it doesn't represent our view of what the appropriate
9 rate case capital structure ought to be on a
10 state-by-state basis.

11 Q. You mention that it would be appropriate for a
12 business. Do you also believe that it's an appropriate
13 debt-to-equity ratio for a utility?

14 A. Yes.

15 Q. The proposed transaction, if approved, will increase
16 FairPoint's size by four to six times. Do you agree
17 with that?

18 A. I do.

19 Q. And, are you aware of any other telephone utility
20 merger in recent years in which the acquiring company
21 increased by that size?

22 A. Well, that certainly occurred in our case, when we 23 acquired our first acquisition in New England, it was a
24 very similar jump in size, albeit from a smaller

1 starting point, but it was a similar increase in size.
2 So, it's something that we've done before. And, I
3 can't speak for the rest of the industry. But we've 4 certainly seen it. And, it's not uncommon in this
5 industry for a smaller company to acquire a bigger
6 company.

7 Q. Do you know of any recent or do you know of any gas or 8 electric utility mergers of this size?

9 A. I'm not in that industry. So, if they existed, I would 10 have no way of knowing.

11 Q. FairPoint expects its share price of common stock to go
12 down if dividends are reduced. Do you agree with that?

13 A. Can you refer me to that comment?

14 Q. Yes. I'm actually going to have to direct you to your 15 testimony in Vermont.

16 MS. HOLLENBERG: Do you have the 17 transcript for that, Pat?

18 MR. MCHUGH: I do.

19 MS. HOLLENBERG: Okay. It's Page 102.

20 MR. MCHUGH: September 5?

21 MS. HOLLENBERG: Yes, September 5th.

22 MR. MCHUGH: If I can approach, Mr.
23 Chairman?

24 (Atty. McHugh handing document to the

1 witness.)

2 MS. HOLLENBERG: It's actually multiple
3 pages, 102 to 106 I have as my reference.

4 BY MS. HOLLENBERG:

5 Q. Let me just see if I can find a more specific -- I
6 apologize. I have endeavored to get the line numbers,
7 but I guess I didn't do it in this case. I have 102 to 8 106. And, I might have to -- I'll just go back to 9 this. I'm sorry about that. I still want to refer to 10 the Vermont transcript, though.

11 MR. MCHUGH: Okay.

12 BY MS. HOLLENBERG:

13 Q. Page 144, lines 17 to 25. Do you agree that --

14 MS. KNOWLTON: Rorie, what is the date?

15 MS. HOLLENBERG: Sure. It's

16 September 6. Sorry about that.

17 MR. MCHUGH: September 6 is the 18 transcript?

19 MS. HOLLENBERG: September 6. Yes.

20 Sorry.

21 MR. MCHUGH: Okay.

22 BY MS. HOLLENBERG:

23 Q. Do you have that?

24 A. And what was the page number?

- 1 Q. It's Page 144.
- 2 A. And begins with Chairman Volz?
- 3 Q. Yes, it does.
- 4 A. Okay. We have it.
- 5 Q. Okay. And, you -- the Chairman asks, if you had to use
6 the cushion that you're projecting, in terms of the 7 cash flow cushion, if you had to use that, what would
8 be the ramifications going forward? And, on line 17,
9 you indicate "beyond a doubt, if we cut our dividend,
10 it would have repercussions on how our stock was 11 trading. They wouldn't be positive, they would be 12 negative." Did I read that correctly?
- 13 A. Yes, you did.
- 14 Q. And, then, you continue: "So that could create some 15 impact on our ability to access equity." Did I read
16 that correctly?
- 17 A. Yes, you did.
- 18 Q. Thank you. Is FairPoint willing to consider as a 19 condition the restriction on dividends from the parent
20 corporation, if excessive levels of debt were incurred?
- 21 A. Yes.
- 22 Q. That limit would have to be consistent with the line of 23 credit with FairPoint's bank, though, wouldn't it?
- 24 A. It would have to -- well, it wouldn't have to be

1 consistent, but it certainly would make sense to be
2 consistent with what the credit agreement stipulated,
3 that's correct.

4 Q. It could go above -- It couldn't exceed a limit if a
5 limit were set?

6 A. Well, you could certainly -- our bank agreement has a
7 -- what we call a "dividend stopper", which, when the 8 total leverage of the company, in this case leverage
9 being total debt over total cash flow, and when that 10 leverage exceeds 5.5 times, it creates what's called a
11 "dividend stopper", which means the Company can't pay
12 dividends if the leverage gets that high. You can 13 certainly have an agreement with the states, where that 14 could be six times, but it would be not very operative,
15 because the bank agreement would be so much tighter, so
16 it wouldn't accomplish anything. So, the answer is,
17 you could be different than the bank agreement, you
18 could be more lenient. In which case the bank
19 agreement would be the governing document. Or, you
20 could be tighter than the bank agreement, where the 21 state agreement could be tighter.

22 Q. Are you willing to agree that FairPoint -- that 23 FairPoint's share price of common stock could go down
24 if the dividends were reduced?

1 A. That is not an absolute. There is a scenario, and it's 2 actually -- it actually happened with a company very 3 similar to us in the spin-off that was completed by 4 Alltel, when they spun off their wireline business
5 separate from their wireless business, they did it in a
6 structure that looks just like this, they merged it
7 into an existing company called "Valor". As part of 8 the transaction, they actually cut the dividend. I
9 believe they cut it, you know, 25 to 30 percent as part
10 of the transaction. And, in that scenario, the price
11 did not drop. So, I couldn't say across the board that 12 a dividend cut by itself would result in a drop in the 13 stock price. You referred me to pages earlier, which 14 were tied -- that particular question was, if you use
15 up part of the cushion, and after, as an operating 16 business, and you cut your dividend accordingly, would 17 that likely cause the stock to drop? And, I said "in 18 that case it would". And, so, depending upon the 19 circumstances, that dividend cut could result in a 20 stock price drop or it might not, as proven by the 21 Valor/Alltel merger.

22 Q. Thank you. You mention in your rebuttal testimony, on 23 Page 37, at lines 2 to 4, you talked about, as of March
24 31st, 2007, approximately 50 percent of U.S. companies

1 issuing debt had noninvestment grade credit ratings.

2 What percentage of those companies are public

3 utilities?

4 A. I do not know that answer.

5 Q. And, also on Page 37, on Lines 4 through 6, you state

6 "Historically, noninvestment grade companies have a

7 strong track record of not defaulting on their debt,

8 with the 15 year average default rate, as of year end

9 2006, at approximately 4.6 percent." Did I read that 10 correctly?

11 A. Yes, you did.

12 Q. What percentage of the total noninvestment grade

13 companies upon which this statistic are based are 14 public utilities?

15 A. I can't answer that question, but I have two comments

16 that may be useful to the -- to the Commissioners. One

17 is, we have a following witness, Mr. Balhoff, who is an 18 expert in these topics, and will able to address that

19 certainly in more detail than I can. And, he has also

20 prepared a comparable group of companies that will look

21 like us after the fact. And, of that comparable group

22 of six or eight companies, the majority are not

23 investment grade. So, I can't opine to public

24 utilities as a whole. What I can tell you is companies

1 that look like us by and large are not investment
2 grade. And, that facts will be forthcoming from Mr.
3 Balhoff on that.

4 Q. Thank you. FairPoint's credit reading is BB- from 5 Standard & Poor's. Do you agree with that?

6 A. BB- and then a B1, I always get confused from Standard
7 & Poor's and Moody's, but that's correct.

8 Q. Okay. And, this is below investment grade?

9 A. That's correct.

10 Q. The Company has never been an investment grade company?

11 A. That's correct.

12 Q. And, would you agree that FairPoint does not believe
13 that becoming investment grade has to be or should be a
14 driving objective of the Company?

15 A. Yes. I believe that the -- what's in the best interest
16 of the interested parties here, and those being the 17 ratepayers, the customers, the employees, and the 18 shareholders, all the stakeholders, if you will,
19 actually are better off, given the current environment,
20 where the cost of debt is versus the cost of equity,
21 that they are in a better position by us not attempting 22 to become an investment grade company. Because, to 23 become investment grade, means you have to use less
24 debt, more equity on your balance sheet. In today's

1 environment, the after-tax cost of debt is dramatically
2 cheaper than the after-tax cost of equity. Therefore,
3 our free cash flow is much better if we continue with 4 these kind of -- with this relationship between debt
5 and equity than it would be if we strive to become an 6 investment grade company. So, yes, we believe, in the 7 current environment, it's in the best interest of all
8 stakeholders to optimally manage the balance sheet, and 9 that's where we are today.

10 Q. I'd just like to turn your attention to, this is a
11 transcript page from the Vermont hearings, and it's 12 dated September 5th, Page 32. And, you were asked by 13 Ms. Tierney a few questions about the Company's plans
14 to become investment grade. And, if you look at Page
15 -- I'm sorry, Line 22 -- oh, line 23 she says -- line
16 22, I apologize. "If FairPoint were to operate below
17 investment grade for the next two years, that wouldn't 18 disturb you either?" And, you say "Again, I think our 19 objective is to manage the capital" -- excuse me, "the 20 capital structure of the Company in the form that 21 provides the greatest return to shareholders." Did I
22 read that correctly?

23 A. Other than you said "two", when you meant "ten", yes.

24 Q. Okay.

1 A. That's right.

2 Q. But you don't mention "ratepayers" or any other
3 constituencies there, do you?

4 A. Not in that instance.

5 Q. Thank you. In your Maine rebuttal testimony, do you
6 recall mentioning that "FairPoint is mindful of the 7 benefit of improved credit ratings and regularly
8 assesses the relative benefits of such improvements in 9 making capital allocation decisions"?

10 A. Yes.

11 Q. When did you perform such an assessment last?

12 A. I went onto further explain in that answer that there
13 is no regular report required that says "Let's consider 14 becoming investment grade or not." But, in routine
15 board meetings, the question about capital structure 16 would come up, and we would generally determine whether 17 or not the capital structure that we had or were 18 proposing for a particular deal continued to be the 19 right capital structure. So, we have assessed it in 20 normal course. But could I go back over the next two 21 years and show you a report? No, I couldn't do that.

22 Q. Do you assess it in a decision or does any analysis
23 take place?

24 A. Normally, just in a discussion mode.

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 Q. And, do you have -- you mention not having a report.
2 Are there any documents that are generated related to 3 those assessments?

4 A. Not that I'm aware.

5 Q. Do you agree that credit rating agencies focus on 6 FairPoint's debt leverage levels as at least one
7 important factor in establishing credit ratings?

8 A. Yes.

9 Q. If FairPoint post merger cut its dividend in half, a 10 $71 million per year reduction, and used that cash to 11 reduce its debt outstanding, this action would be 12 viewed as positive by the credit rating agencies, would 13 it not?

14 A. Maybe. And, the reason I say that is, in a vacuum of 15 other instances, applying free cash flow to pay down
16 debt versus pay dividends would probably be deemed 17 positive from a credit perspective, yes.

18 Q. FairPoint has stated that "credit rating agencies'
19 evaluations of FairPoint will be more favorable once
20 the merger closes." Do you agree with that?

21 A. Would it be easy to refer me to the page? I just want
22 to make sure of the context of the answer.

23 Q. I don't have a citation for that. It's something that 24 I recall this being a statement that occurred over the

1 course of this proceeding. But I do not have -- I
2 guess I was just wondering if you would agree with
3 that.

4 A. Okay. Could you repeat the question please?

5 Q. Sure. That do you believe that credit rating agencies'
6 evaluations of FairPoint will be more favorable once
7 the merger closes?

8 A. I do. There have been certain comments from the rating
9 agencies that indicate that, after a successful closing
10 and integration of the business, in fact, one company
11 has gone -- one rating agency has gone on record of 12 saying "it would likely result in an improvement in the 13 credit rating over where it is today." Yes.

14 Q. And, do you have -- do you know if there's a basis for 15 that statement or for your agreement of that position?
16 Are there any credit rating agencies that have said
17 that?

18 A. Well, there clearly is one that has printed a report
19 that says exactly that.

20 Q. And, when was that?

21 A. It was done after the transaction was announced. And,
22 again, I'm sorry, I don't remember if it was Moody's or 23 Standard & Poor's. But they basically issued a report,
24 and that was one of several conclusions that they made,

1 was that it could likely result in an improvement in
2 the credit rating post merger.

3 Q. So that -- that would have been in January when the 4 merger was announced?

5 A. Sometime in the first quarter, certainly, yes.

6 Q. Okay. And, is your recollection of that report -- do
7 they emphasize the importance of successful integration
8 and achieving the projected synergies?

9 A. They certainly refer to a successful integration. I'm 10 not sure what the comments are, regarding savings or 11 synergies. But I do recall them "upon successful", you 12 know, "integration of the two businesses, that that 13 could be a likely outcome."

14 Q. And, there's -- it's a possibility that the credit
15 rating will be upgraded, but there's no guarantee?

16 A. That's a correct statement.

17 CMSR. MORRISON: Ms. Hollenberg, are you
18 going to ask for a record request for that report?

19 MS. HOLLENBERG: Sure. If FairPoint
20 would please produce that report for the Commission.

21 MR. COOLBROTH: We will do so.

22 MR. MCHUGH: That's fine.

23 MS. HOLLENBERG: Thank you.

24 CHAIRMAN GETZ: That's Exhibit 19 that's

1 reserved, is that our next exhibit?

2 MR. MCHUGH: Actually, I think, Mr.
3 Chairman, if we could alter the number, because there's 4 going to be some exhibits that I believe have already been
5 marked and are in the process of being copied. So, if I
6 could just find what current number we're on and go from 7 there, if the Commission would so allow?

8 CHAIRMAN GETZ: And, then just get it to 9 the Clerk.

10 MR. MCHUGH: We will.

11 MR. BAUM: Forty-four, actually.

12 MR. MCHUGH: Forty-four. Thank you.

13 (Exhibit 44 reserved)

14 BY MS. HOLLENBERG:

15 Q. Do agree that FairPoint plans to offer increased
16 selections of bundles?

17 A. Yes.

18 Q. And, it's part of FairPoint's strategy to increase
19 revenues?

20 A. Yes.

21 Q. Do you agree that generally the bundles will not be 22 anything new, compared to what Verizon is offering now?

23 A. No, I can't say that.

24 Q. And, do you have the Vermont transcript in front of

1 you?

2 MR. MCHUGH: I took it away actually.

3 BY THE WITNESS:

4 A. No ma'am.

5 MS. HOLLENBERG: I need to refer to 6 September 6th.

7 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Ms. Hollenberg?

8 MS. HOLLENBERG: Yes.

9 CHAIRMAN GETZ: How much more for your
10 public section? I was just trying to -- we're going to 11 need to change reporters here shortly.

12 MS. HOLLENBERG: Okay. And, I
13 apologize, I want to get this over with as fast as 14 everybody else does, believe me. Gosh. It's hard to say,
15 I thought I had about 30 minutes, but I didn't anticipate
16 the witness's answers to be as long as they are. So, I
17 would say probably -- no offense.

18 WITNESS LEACH: I'll have more
19 one-syllable answers then.

20 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Let's take about a
21 ten-minute recess to change reporters. And, then, before 22 we do take that recess, is there any preference among the 23 parties, after Ms. Hollenberg completes her questioning,
24 whether we go to Staff and their public portion, or do we

1 go to the confidential portions?

2 MS. FABRIZIO: Staff would actually
3 prefer to reserve its last place in line and go after the 4 confidential, especially as we anticipate that our
5 discussion will be entirely public.

6 CHAIRMAN GETZ: All right. Then, let's
7 take a brief recess.

8 (Recess taken at 11:54 a.m.)

9 (Hearing reconvened at 12:10 p.m.)

10 CHAIRMAN GETZ: We're back on the record
11 with Ms. Hollenberg's examination of Mr. Leach.

12 BY MS. HOLLENBERG:

13 Q. Mr. Leach, do you have the September 6th transcript
14 from Vermont in front of you?

15 A. Yes.

16 Q. If you could just look at Page 133, there's a question
17 that starts on Line 12. And if you could just look at 18 that through to the end of the page and then flip it
19 over to page, or turn to Page 134 and read your answer,
20 and then I'll ask you a question, please.

21 (Witness reviews document.)

22 A. Okay. I've reviewed it.

23 Q. Thanks. Do you agree that initially the bundles that 24 FairPoint will be offering will not be anything new

1 compared to Verizon?

2 A. I think the bundles may be new, but there may be
3 bundles of existing services that may not be new. But
4 I believe there's an opportunity to bundle differently
5 with the existing services, yes.

6 Q. Okay. The new service centers that FairPoint is 7 proposing for the region, the cost of those service
8 centers will be capitalized. Do you agree with that?

9 A. Part of it will be capitalized, yes.

10 MS. HOLLENBERG: I'm actually done with 11 the Vermont transcript if you want to sit down.

12 MR.McHUGH: Thank you.

13 BY MS. HOLLENBERG:

14 Q. Would you agree that most of -- more than 50 percent
15 will be capitalized?

16 A. I believe that's correct, yes.

17 Q. And those costs could be included in the rate base for 18 future rate cases?

19 A. We believe that would be appropriate, yes.

20 Q. Eugene Johnson, he -- why hasn't he been involved in 21 this proceeding?

22 A. Well, he's been very involved in the process. He just 23 has not been involved as one of the witnesses. For a
24 New York Stock Exchange company to not have the CEO

1 here but have a number of his direct reports seems kind
2 of normal.

3 Q. And he's planning on retiring in spring of 2008; is 4 that correct?

5 A. That's not correct.

6 Q. Okay. Do you know anything about when he's planning on 7 retiring?

8 A. I do not know when he's planning to retire. I know he 9 has a contract that expires at the end of '08, but that 10 does not mean he has decided to retire at the end of 11 that time frame.

12 Q. Okay. Do you have any plans for retirement in the near 13 future?

14 A. No.

15 Q. Me neither.

16 A. The joke around my house has always been, "When are you
17 going to retire?" And the answer was always, "Three 18 years from the time you asked it." That time frame now
19 is probably shorter than that from when you asked it,
20 but it's still a moving target.

21 Q. Okay. I'd like to turn next to Exhibit 49HC. And 22 again, I'm not -- I'm actually not planning to ask you
23 any questions, except to ask you to confirm that this
24 is your response on behalf of FairPoint to OCA Group 1

1 1-114, and it is the financial model that was produced?

2 A. Yes, it is.

3 Q. Thank you. Turning to Exhibit OCA 50P, which is OCA --
4 I'm sorry -- Lee David Newitt's response on behalf of 5 FairPoint to OCA FDR V-1, do you sponsor Mr. Newitt's
6 response?

7 A. I'm sorry. Let me catch up with you.

8 Q. Sure.

9 A. 50P?

10 Q. 50P. Yes, please.

11 A. I do have it. And I do sponsor his response, yes.

12 Q. And it indicates that the model does not incorporate an 13 imputation for the $23 million revenue -- I'm sorry --
14 the $23 million ordered in the Verizon Yellow Pages
15 order?

16 A. Well, let me say it differently. There was certainly 17 no action taken at all in response to this issue at all 18 in the model. We assume that the rates that are in 19 place today continue. To the extent the rates that are 20 in place today have any implication to that, then the 21 answer might be a little different. But we didn't make 22 any special accommodation at all for this issue, in 23 terms of modeling.

24 Q. So is Mr. Newitt's response incorrect then? 'Cause he

1 answers "No" to that question.

2 A. Well, he answers "No" because our model does not
3 incorporate any imputation of anything. It doesn't 4 take into account any rate issues at all. It just 5 continues with the existing rates that are in place
6 today.

7 Q. Okay. Thank you. Your testimony included an 8 Exhibit WL-3 [sic], which I'm going to ask you a few 9 questions about.

10 A. Do I have a copy of that up here?

11 Q. I believe it was attached to your rebuttal testimony.
12 And it's --

13 A. Okay.

14 Q. I believe it's highly confidential, but I'm not 15 intending to ask you content. Just let me --

16 A. I have it in front of me, yes.

17 Q. Thank you. And that provides -- this exhibit provides 18 projections from your discovery model; is that correct?

19 A. That's correct.

20 Q. And it represents the company's current outlook for 21 it's post-merger operations?

22 A. That's correct.

23 Q. I'll have some more questions about this when we go on 24 the financial -- on the confidential record.

1 A. Okay.

2 Q. In terms of financing the deal, your testimony
3 discussed the commitment letters pertaining to the 4 issuance of FairPoint debt associated with the merger.
5 Have there been any changes concerning those loan
6 commitments since the filing of your direct testimony?

7 A. No.

8 Q. And the $800 million Spinco debt issuance that is a
9 part of this merger, is there a loan commitment letter
10 for that debt?

11 A. There is not for that piece yet.

12 Q. Would you agree that the markets today -- or the market
13 in January was more favorable to borrowers than it is 14 today?

15 A. I would certainly agree for certain borrowers that is 16 true. I'm not sure that's specifically true for a 17 cash-flow-based business, a steady-state business as 18 the telephone company business is deemed by the credit
19 markets. So I couldn't unequivocally say that. But 20 generally that's a true statement, yes.

21 Q. Okay. Thank you. The entire financing commitment with 22 the bank is subject to a variable interest rate. Do
23 you agree with that?

24 A. Yes.

1 Q. And there are no caps on the floating rate?

2 A. There are no caps on the floating rate in the loan
3 agreement itself. But we have effectively created some 4 caps on part of that debt because we have put in place
5 swaps, interest rate swap agreements that effectively
6 do provide a cap. We have $500 million roughly of 7 swaps in place today on our existing debt which will 8 move and become part of the new credit facility. Those 9 swaps will still be in place. And we have $400 million
10 of contingent swaps that we've put in place, subject to 11 the deal closing. So there will be over $900 million
12 of effective debt that has effectively a cap on it
13 through using swaps.

14 Q. And what is that cap?

15 A. That cap varies with the swap agreements. They have 16 different lives and different caps. But they're all
17 under a 7-percent all-in kind of number, a 7-percent
18 interest rate kind of number.

19 Q. Would you agree that --

20 A. I'm sorry. They're all under an 8-percent interest
21 rate kind of number. Something under 8 percent.

22 Q. And would you agree that approximately 60 to 65 percent
23 of the total debt is protected by swaps?

24 A. Could you refer me to that quote?

1 Q. Sure.

2 A. Because there are two different ways of looking at 3 this, and I want to make sure I'm correctly responding 4 to this.

5 Q. Sure.

6 MS. HOLLENBERG: I need the Vermont
7 transcript, please. I have a copy that I could probably 8 give him if you prefer.

9 MR.McHUGH: September 5, 6?

10 MS. HOLLENBERG: September 5 and 6,
11 actually. September 5, 79 to 81, and September 6. May I
12 approach the witness?

13 MR.McHUGH: Sure.

14 MS. HOLLENBERG: Thank you.

15 BY MS. HOLLENBERG:

16 Q. September 5th.

17 A. Thank you.

18 Q. You're welcome. This is the September 6th --

19 MR.McHUGH: I'm sorry. What page?

20 MS. HOLLENBERG: 86 to 90.

21 BY MS. HOLLENBERG:

22 Q. And basically, I'm just trying to get a sense of the 23 percentage of the debt that's protected by swaps at 24 this point.

1 (Witness reviews documents.)

2 A. Can I have the question again?

3 Q. Sure. Could you tell me, estimate how much of a total
4 debt is protected by swaps?

5 A. I think my best recollection is no additional swaps
6 have been put in place since I answered this question.
7 So the answer to the Vermont question was that between 8 60 and 65 percent of our floating rate debt are 9 effectively fixed via swaps. But what it doesn't count 10 is another $800 million of the bond financing that we 11 will also put in place, will be fixed and not -- it
12 will be a fixed rate and not subject to floating rates
13 in the future as well. That's why I wanted to 14 distinguish between the two.

15 Q. Thank you. Take those from you.

16 Would you agree that interest rate swaps
17 will not help if there is a prolonged rising of 18 interest rates over time?

19 A. Interest rate swaps will help in a environment where 20 interest rates are going up, up through the expiration 21 of the swap. So a four-year swap clearly provides 22 protection over the next four years if interest rates
23 rise. At the termination of that swap, then you would 24 then have to move to prevailing floating rates, which

1 would be higher in response to this question. Our
2 model takes that into account. And as we forecast what 3 the interest rate will be in our financial model, we 4 look at the current yield curve, which takes into 5 account what future rates are expected to do based upon
6 everything that's known at the time that the yield
7 curve is produced, and that's how we model future rate
8 changes in our model going forward.

9 Q. If there is a prolonged rising of interest rates over 10 time, the higher rates will get built into the baseline
11 for future swaps and future arrangements. Do you agree
12 with that?

13 A. If rates move higher over time, that would be a true
14 statement.

15 Q. How much higher is 8 percent than the rate you modeled?

16 A. I believe, subject to check, I believe the all-in rate 17 is right around 8 percent. Between 7-1/2 and 18 8 percent.

19 Q. And how long do swaps last?

20 A. Again, we have a layering of swaps. There are some 21 that mature, you know, in one year, two years, three 22 years, four years. So there's a different set of swaps
23 that have different maturities. I don't have the 24 detail on those beyond that.

1 Q. Does the commitment letter permit the assignment of 2 debt to subsidiaries, including Spinco?

3 A. I'm sorry. Ask the question again?

4 Q. Sure. Does the commitment letter permit the assignment
5 of debt to subsidiaries, including Spinco?

6 A. Short answer is yes. The fuller answer is: Because 7 it's a commitment letter and not a credit agreement,
8 there was still some uncertainty about how the final 9 structure would hold. But it's very clear -- and I've 10 had this discussion after these questions arose in 11 Vermont. It's very clear that the bank group expects 12 that the financing will be structured as we have talked
13 about, which is all of the financing at the parent
14 company, not at the operating state-level entities.
15 And that's very important to ratepayers, very important
16 to all stakeholders, because the financing at that 17 level creates some dramatic benefits that otherwise
18 wouldn't occur. For example, the New Hampshire
19 operations would not have to guarantee that debt.
20 Number two, the New Hampshire properties would not be 21 encumbered by that debt. So it creates some very 22 attractive features that we think benefit all
23 stakeholders that would otherwise not occur if the 24 financing was placed down at the operating or state

1 operating level. And it's also consistent with how we 2 have structured our financing in the past to get the 3 lowest cost of capital available to the operations.

4 Q. I appreciate that that's FairPoint's intention at this 5 point. But you agree that the company still has 6 flexibility to do this?

7 A. I'm not sure I would agree with that. I'm not sure
8 that the commitment would absolutely, positively stay
9 in place if there was a shift in the expected structure
10 of the financing.

11 Q. Other than its IPO in 2005, FairPoint has not accessed 12 public equity markets to raise capital. Would you
13 agree with that?

14 A. Yes, I would.

15 Q. Was there an attempt prior to the IPO to issue an 16 equity-like offering?

17 A. Yes. There was financing that was available to 18 companies that were cash-flow-oriented businesses, like
19 telephone companies, that was very popular in 2004. It
20 was called an IDS, Investment Depository Security, I
21 believe, emanated out of Canada. And it was designed 22 to basically create a structure where most of the cash
23 flow of the company could be distributed out to its 24 shareholders, not unlike an REIT approach. We, as well

1 as at least four or five other companies, spent a lot
2 of time looking at that as being the appropriate
3 capital structure for FairPoint, and actually had 4 several filings with the SEC on that particular kind of 5 instrument; ultimately concluded it wasn't the right
6 structure and then converted to a more traditional IPO.
7 That was, in reference to your question, something we
8 looked at in advance of doing the IPO.

9 Q. Okay. Thank you. Could I ask you to look at your 10 rebuttal testimony, please. And the first I'd like you
11 to look at is Page 2, Line 6 to 8.

12 A. Okay.

13 Q. At the end of Line 6, you mention a misconception -- or 14 you start a sentence, "the misconception that any risks
15 from this transaction will be borne primarily by 16 customers..." Do you see that?

17 A. Yes, I do.

18 Q. Okay. And if I could have you look at Page 5, please,
19 Lines 11 to 14?

20 A. Yes.

21 Q. And you mention that FairPoint shareholders will first
22 bear any financial risks from this transaction before
23 any customers. Do you see that?

24 A. Yes, I do.

1 Q. Okay. And if I could have you look at page -- one
2 moment, please -- Page 91, please, Lines 18, 19, 20.
3 "...in the face of unforeseen financial stress,
4 FairPoint will take actions primarily designed to 5 protect its relationship with customers..." Do you see
6 that?

7 A. Yes, I do.

8 Q. Do you notice in all of those places you use the 9 qualifier "primarily" or "in the first instance"?

10 A. Yes.

11 Q. And would you agree that that indicates that it's 12 possible that customers will bear some of the financial
13 risks associated with this transaction?

14 A. I believe it's fair to say that the first line of 15 defense would be the shareholders. And we say that 16 because there's a substantial amount of cash-flow
17 cushion -- i.e., cash flow generated after all 18 operating expenses, including dividends, have been 19 paid. Then, number two, there's still $142 million of 20 dividends that are used in the model. They're 21 discretionary. They're only paid on a quarterly basis
22 if the board of directors deem that there is sufficient
23 cash flow and it's prudent to make those investments.
24 So our view is, if there was a very negative surprise

1 that happened, that both of those cushions would be
2 available to protect ratepayers as a general rule, yes.

3 Q. And I believe, again, you qualified your response in 4 saying that the shareholders would be the first line of 5 defense. So I guess my question again is, it's 6 possible that customers will bear some of the financial
7 risks associated with this transaction?

8 A. It's possible. I would put that framework around
9 this -- and this is public information asked for in one
10 of the projections prepared by one of the banks. That 11 is not the final, but it's very close. They basically
12 show $80 million of cash flow generated after dividends
13 in the first full year, another $142 million of 14 dividends. So our belief is there's $220 million of 15 cash flow generated that could be used for unexpected
16 surprises before it would necessarily require any 17 impact on the ratepayers. So our view is that's a
18 substantial cushion. There would have to be something 19 very, very unusual before we believe the operations, if 20 you would, would be impacted, before all this cash flow
21 was otherwise used.

22 Q. And you would agree, though, there is significant 23 disagreement in this transaction as to those financial 24 projections.

1 A. There certainly are different views of financial
2 projections. That's fair, yes.

3 Q. Customers have an interest in adequate service at 4 reasonable rates. Do you agree with that statement?

5 A. I do.

6 Q. Because that's what's required of public utilities
7 under law.

8 Would you agree that lenders have no
9 such interests?

10 A. Would you please repeat no such interest as and then 11 correlate back to the --

12 Q. Adequate service at reasonable rates.

13 A. I would say they have no such interest, but they 14 clearly want a viable cash-flow-generating business.
15 And it is in their best interest that the company be 16 operated in the best interest of its customers who will 17 generate the cash flow. So the technical answer is no.
18 I think the practical answer is, there's an awful lot
19 of similarities in terms of those interests.

20 Q. Some of the costs allocated by Verizon which FairPoint
21 is proposing will be eliminated. It's been mentioned
22 that they're synergies. But their cost savings that 23 FairPoint is projecting are analogous to direct cost to 24 FairPoint; is that correct?

1 A. Would you repeat the question, please?

2 Q. Sure. Some of the costs that are allocated by Verizon
3 are analogous to FairPoint's projected costs?

4 A. Correct.

5 Q. Assuming for the sake of argument that no synergies are 6 realized, FairPoint will have less of a cushion of 7 available cash flow over and above those amounts
8 required to meet all operating expenses; correct?

9 A. Correct.

10 Q. And to meet capital expenditures? They'll have less of 11 a cushion to meet capital expenditures as well?

12 A. Correct.

13 Q. And to meet their tax payments and debt service
14 requirements?

15 A. That's only partially correct. To the extent we have 16 less savings generated, that means we'll create less
17 profit, which means we'll create less taxes. So there
18 is a relationship, in terms of if your savings don't 19 occur, your tax obligations go down. So with that one
20 clarification, I'd say yes.

21 Q. Debt service remains the same?

22 A. Debt service remains the same.

23 Q. The result is a company which is less able to meet all
24 of its commitments, especially if unexpected events

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 occur in the future?

2 A. In our case, that's not a true statement. And the 3 reason I would say that is, certainly in the early
4 years of the model, the free cash flow after everything
5 has been paid, including dividends, is greater than the 6 expected savings. So if we didn't get the expected
7 savings, we'd still have some extra free cash flow,
8 despite paying a hundred percent of the dividends. So
9 that's not a true statement certainly during the early
10 years of the model.

11 Q. If you could look at Exhibit 51HC, please.

12 A. Is that a separate handout, or is that part of --

13 Q. That's in the packet of OCA exhibits.

14 A. I have it.

15 Q. And you would agree that this is Lee David Newitt's
16 response to Staff FDR Group 1-10?

17 A. Yes, I do.

18 Q. And this is basically the model, a model run that 19 represents the impact of no cost savings or synergies
20 are realized?

21 A. It's roughly analogous to that, yes.

22 Q. And you adopt or you sponsor this response?

23 A. I do, yes.

24 Q. Thank you. FairPoint does not intend by this

1 transaction to terminate or not continue to follow its
2 corporate strategy of acquiring telecommunications
3 companies; is that correct?

4 A. Longer term, that's correct. We have agreed that it
5 makes sense to not do another transaction until we have 6 closed this particular transaction and are comfortable
7 that it's running well. But we are an 8 acquisition-oriented company. Done more acquisitions
9 than anybody else in the industry in the last 10 years.
10 So it's where our skill sets are and how we would 11 continue to grow the business, yes.

12 Q. And in fact, at your -- in your rebuttal -- I'm sorry.
13 In your direct testimony at Page 42 and Page 83, Lines
14 2 to 4, and 6 to 9 -- let's look at Page 83 if you 15 would. I'm sorry. It must be rebuttal, 83 of 16 rebuttal. Sorry.

17 A. I've got it.

18 Q. Thank you. Lines 2 to 4 and 6 to 9.

19 (Witness reviews document.)

20 Q. You would agree that it says, "FairPoint executives
21 have also made it clear that they will not consider 22 additional transactions until they are comfortable that 23 the northern New England operations are operating 24 smoothly and as planned," and then 6 to 9, that you

1 will be laser-focused on executing the acquisition --
2 meaning this acquisition and transition -- "until we 3 are a hundred percent confident that the operations are
4 running efficiently and providing high-quality service
5 to our customers"? Did I read that correctly?

6 A. Yes, you did.

7 Q. If the Commission were to approve this transaction, a
8 condition that FairPoint refrain from additional 9 acquisitions until these goals are achieved would not 10 be inconsistent with the stated intention; is that
11 correct?

12 A. I'm sorry. Ask the question again, please?

13 Q. Sure. My question is, that if the Commission were 14 inclined to approve this transaction, it would not be 15 inconsistent with this part of your testimony for it to 16 condition your continued acquisitions on achieving 17 efficient operations and high-quality service to your 18 customers?

19 A. I believe that it would not be inconsistent with that 20 objective. But the way you described it, it's tough to 21 know exactly what that means. So I would be concerned 22 about the devil in the details, in terms of what that 23 actually means and could there be some unintended
24 consequence related to that. But the short answer is:

1 it would not be inconsistent with what we're saying.

2 Q. Well, I guess that begs the question: What does that
3 mean? This is your testimony. So what does it mean
4 for the operations to be running efficiently or 5 smoothly and providing high-quality service to your
6 customers?

7 A. I do not specifically know how to give you a precise
8 answer to that. Perhaps it's a little bit, you know,
9 beauty is in the eye of the beholder. In terms of 10 running efficiently and providing high-quality service,
11 certainly it means not having any issues with 12 quality-of-service metrics, for example.

13 Q. Such a condition, that FairPoint refrain from 14 additional acquisitions until these goals are achieved,
15 would also not be inconsistent with the statement that 16 you make on Page 87 of your testimony, which is that 17 FairPoint expects the to-be-acquired Verizon operation
18 to form the core of its company in the foreseeable
19 future. Do you agree with that?

20 A. Clearly, to the extent it represents more than 21 80 percent of the customers, 80 percent of the 22 revenues, it clearly will represent the core part of 23 the business going forward following the merger.

24 Q. And a condition that FairPoint refrain from additional

1 acquisitions until these goals are achieved would not
2 be inconsistent with that goal of FairPoint. Do you
3 agree with that?

4 A. Remind me again which goals you're referring to in this
5 case?

6 Q. Sure. Running efficiently and providing high-quality
7 service.

8 A. Those sound consistent to me. That's right.

9 Q. Okay. For the sake of argument, if such a condition
10 was not required for approval, would FairPoint seek 11 some sort of confirmation or approval from the PUC that 12 these goals have been met before pursuing additional 13 acquisitions?

14 A. I think that would be unusual to expect the Commission
15 to get involved in that level of decision-making for an 16 acquisition company.

17 Q. Thank you. Regarding the new back-office and 18 operations systems, would you agree that a majority of 19 the cost of these systems will be capitalized?

20 A. Yes.

21 Q. And they will be included in rate base and future rate
22 cases?

23 A. We would expect that to be a legitimate expense for 24 future rate cases, yes.

- 1 Q. Okay. Thank you. Regarding employees, what is the 2 most current expectation of the number of employees
3 that would come over to FairPoint in the event that the 4 transaction is approved?
- 5 A. Approximately 2800. Between 2750 and 2800 employees
6 would come with the transaction. On top of that, we 7 would hire an additional 675 or so employees to perform
8 these back-office functions that are currently provided
9 by Verizon outside of the three-state area.
- 10 Q. Is it accurate that, or do you know anything about the 11 fact that at the beginning of the month, employees of 12 Verizon can notify Verizon of an intention to retire or 13 otherwise leave employment?
- 14 A. I'm aware of that, yes.
- 15 Q. And when will FairPoint receive notice from Verizon of 16 the number of employees that have provided such notice 17 this month?
- 18 A. That would be a better question for Mr. Nixon, who's 19 much closer to that process than I am.
- 20 Q. Okay. Thank you. What is the minimum number of 21 employees that FairPoint needs to run Spinco?
- 22 A. We have not done an analysis to confirm the minimum 23 number of employees to run the business.
- 24 Q. Can you at least estimate it?

- 1 A. I can. But not to avoid the question, our expectation
2 is that the merger agreement with Verizon requires them
3 to deliver to us a business that has a sufficient
4 number of employees to run that business. So, to the 5 extent there's any meaningful decline in head count
6 that doesn't enable them to deliver that, then it's 7 their responsibility to make sure that that happens.
- 8 Q. One moment, please. Do you disagree that FairPoint
9 intends to focus on being a broadband company that 10 offers voice services?
- 11 A. I would agree that we believe that. And in fact, I
12 believe we publicly said that we will tend to run this 13 more as a data business and broadband business that 14 offers quality voice services versus a traditional 15 voice business.
- 16 Q. One moment, please. If I could have you just look at 17 your rebuttal testimony at Page 35. Are you there?
- 18 A. Yes, I am.
- 19 Q. Okay. Thank you. At Line 1 you say, "Simply stated, 20 FairPoint intends to operate the business differently
21 than Verizon in the future, parens, we will focus on 22 being a broadband company that offers high-quality
23 voice services, not primarily just a voice provider,
24 end paren, which will produce far different results."

1 Did I read that correctly?

2 A. Yes.

3 Q. And then at Line 19, "We intend to transition the 4 operating model to one based on broadband as compared 5 to the historical... model which is based primarily on 6 wireline voice services."

7 (No verbal response)

8 Q. Thank you.

9 Would you agree that this transaction is 10 not comparable to any prior acquisitions that FairPoint
11 has undertaken?

12 A. Again, I referred to a much earlier transaction where 13 we grew the company by this percentage, again off a 14 smaller base. But we certainly grew it five- or 15 six-fold. Beyond that, I would agree there's not 16 another transaction that we have done that is of this 17 size. Although, it is important to note that the 18 customer base that comes with this business is exactly
19 the kind of customer base that we service today in 18
20 states and have been servicing since 1993. So, bigger?
21 Yes. Dynamics a lot different than what we operate in 22 our core business? No.

23 Q. Would you agree that your prior transitions -- excuse
24 me -- your prior acquisitions were smaller acquisitions

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 related to Spinco?

2 A. Yes.

3 Q. And the transaction with Verizon represents a unique
4 opportunity for FairPoint?

5 A. Yes.

6 Q. And your prior acquisitions were more rural?

7 A. Yes.

8 Q. And none required development of a complete back-office
9 system?

10 A. No.

11 Q. No, you don't agree with that?

12 A. No, I don't agree with that.

13 Q. Okay. I guess if you could elaborate on that answer.

14 A. Okay. I'll try to keep with my short answers.

15 Q. Touché.

16 A. Again, the transaction I'm referring to where we grew 17 the business five or six times did require putting in 18 place a brand new infrastructure to take care of that 19 business. This was the old Centel GTE properties in 20 Maine and New Hampshire and Vermont that we acquired in 21 '94. So that was exactly what we had to do, was put in 22 place these kind of back-office systems.

23 Q. How many access lines are we talking about?

24 A. Twenty, 25,000.

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

- 1 Q. Do you agree it's possible that the regulators in New
2 Hampshire, Maine and Vermont will impose different
3 conditions upon approval --
- 4 A. It's possible.
- 5 Q. -- if they're inclined to approve?
- 6 A. I agree.
- 7 Q. And that it's possible that the conditions could 8 conflict?
- 9 A. It's possible, yes.
- 10 Q. Such as those related to the financial terms of the 11 agreement?
- 12 A. It's possible.
- 13 Q. Okay. I'm just going to ask you what will happen in 14 case of a -- give you an example. Suppose the New 15 Hampshire PUC conditions approval upon a certain level
16 of state-specific capital expenditures, and Maine and 17 Vermont do also. If the total of these three 18 state-specific conditions exceed what FairPoint is able 19 to spend on capital expenditures, FairPoint can't 20 comply with these conditions in total. Do you agree 21 with that?
- 22 A. Given the way you described it, yes.
- 23 Q. Okay. What will happen?
- 24 A. In this theoretical scenario, if we don't have

1 sufficient capital, we would have to come up with a
2 plan to generate additional capital resources. Could
3 mean raising outside equity, changing the loan
4 agreements, working out something with our joint 5 petitioner in the transaction. Could be a number of 6 ways to deal with that.

7 Q. So all of the responses would involve -- would you at 8 any point in time attempt to seek different conditions
9 in the different states, or would they just involve
10 reaction to the conditions that are set and trying to 11 meet all those conditions?

12 A. Clearly depend on what alternatives were available to 13 us in terms of interacting with the respective 14 commissions to solve any conflicts. But clearly, that 15 would be the first place to go if that was a viable
16 option, to try to resolve any conflicts that way.

17 Q. Would FairPoint be willing to agree as a condition of 18 approval, if the Commission is inclined to approve the 19 transaction, that it does come back to the New 20 Hampshire PUC to discuss any sorts of conflicts like
21 that?

22 A. Please rephrase the question.

23 Q. Sure. Say we have the situation that I explained
24 before, where each state imposes a certain amount of

1 capital expenditures that's required; you can't meet
2 them all in total under the transaction as it's
3 proposed. Would you agree to a condition in a
4 Commission approval that FairPoint would return to the 5 New Hampshire PUC if that situation arose or a similar 6 situation where you had conflicts arose?

7 A. I think we certainly would be interested in talking to 8 all three state commissions and attempting to resolve
9 that. I think the short answer is: We would agree to 10 do what discussions would be necessary to iron out a
11 conflict which kept the transaction from happening.
12 The only reason I hesitate is, if everything worked in 13 Vermont, but we had to go back to the other two states
14 to get it to work there, I'm not sure that would 15 require a revisit with New Hampshire legislators -- or 16 excuse me -- New Hampshire Commissioners, if we met all
17 the conditions that were in their order.

18 Q. I think you meant if everything worked in New 19 Hampshire, you wouldn't have to come back.

20 A. I'm sorry. Yes. If everything worked in New Hampshire
21 and satisfied the conditions, and it was just another
22 state issue, I'm not sure it would require a
23 conversation in New Hampshire.

24 Q. Okay. What if both Maine and Vermont adopt conditions

1 that preclude FairPoint from increasing rates in those
2 states? And I'll ask you to just be mindful in 3 answering this question that they do both have AFOR, so
4 it is possible that that will occur. What if New
5 Hampshire does not, and FairPoint later decides it
6 needs more money and is precluded from going to Vermont
7 or Maine? Do you agree that that increases the 8 likelihood and pressure for a rate increase in New 9 Hampshire, all things being equal?

10 A. I would agree, all things being equal, we would have to 11 abide by whatever the rate-of-return jurisdiction rules
12 allowed us to do in New Hampshire, yes.

13 Q. Would FairPoint agree to a condition of approval that 14 requires the three states to be treated equally
15 overall?

16 A. Be treated equally in regards to what?

17 Q. Well, I guess I'm thinking maybe not having the exact
18 same circumstances. What I'm thinking is their overall
19 treatment would be equal. There wouldn't be one state
20 that benefits more from this transaction than another.

21 A. I think that would -- that could lead to some very 22 difficult, unintended consequences in terms of 23 expecting all three states to see eye to eye on all
24 issues. I think that could be tough to pull off. That

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 doesn't mean we wouldn't do it. But I do believe that 2 would be a very -- it could be a very difficult kind of 3 negotiation to have, given all three states have 4 different issues.

5 Q. I guess we colloquially -- I can't pronounce anything
6 right now -- refer to it as a "most favored nations
7 situation," where if you have a utility that operates
8 in more than one jurisdiction and they're seeking 9 approval for a transaction such as this one. I'm 10 wondering if FairPoint is willing to agree that, if 11 there are better conditions in another state, that it
12 would meet those conditions in New Hampshire as well.

13 MR.McHUGH: I'm going to object to the 14 form at this point Mr. Chairman. I don't know what we 15 mean by "better conditions." Are we talking every single 16 condition? I think it needs to be more refined in order
17 to have an acceptable question to actually answer in any 18 meaningful respect.

19 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Ms. Hollenberg.

20 MS. HOLLENBERG: Sure. I'm just going
21 for an overall effect. I certainly understand. And I'm 22 not trying to get the witness to agree that every single 23 solitary condition in each state will be the same across 24 the board. But where there's -- for instance, if there is

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 a condition that FairPoint needs to spend a certain amount
2 in CAPEX, and they set it at a higher rate in another
3 state, I'm wondering if they're willing to agree to that 4 for New Hampshire as well. I'm wondering if they're 5 willing to agree to an overall equal treatment of the 6 three states.

7 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Well, it does strike me
8 that the definition of terms here is key. I think the 9 witness, after hearing from both Mr. McHugh and from you
10 at this point now, may be able to answer the question.
11 But I think it is a very broad question.

12 But do you have an answer, Mr. Leach?

13 WITNESS LEACH: I do have an answer on 14 that specific item. We clearly would be willing to agree
15 to a capital expenditures amount per each state. And we 16 provided that number to each state, in terms of our 17 projected capital expenditures. And we're willing to 18 commit to that so they understand what their share of the 19 capital expenditures issue is relative to the other two 20 states. So that's an easy one. We've already kind of put 21 that out on the table. But I could tell you that all 22 three states have such different issues, that it gets very 23 difficult once you get beyond the easy ones, like CAPEX,
24 to try to assume everyone will get exactly the same deal

1 on each issue, because they are at such different points,
2 whether it's broadband build-out issues, whether it's
3 other commitments made as part of the AFOR.

4 Q. How about if Vermont or Maine says no rate increases
5 for five years and the New Hampshire Commission says
6 one year or two years? Would FairPoint be willing to 7 agree to the five years for New Hampshire?

8 A. Again, the problem with that is we've had enough
9 discussions to know you don't have that stay-out
10 without a lot of implications related to it. What does 11 it mean for the broadband commitment? What does it
12 mean to other issues? So again, I'm not trying to 13 dodge the question. It's a very difficult question to 14 commit to, that we do exactly the same in three states,
15 beyond a couple very clear examples like capital
16 expenditures, for example.

17 Q. So you agree that you do not -- you would not agree --
18 or FairPoint would not agree to a condition that 19 requires the three states to be treated equally?

20 MR.McHUGH: Again, I object to the form.

21 A. And I said it's difficult.

22 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Well, actually, at this
23 point I think we need to take the lunch recess. And you
24 still have some more --

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 MS. HOLLENBERG: I just have --

2 CHAIRMAN GETZ: -- public inquiry?

3 MS. HOLLENBERG: I'm sorry. I just have
4 a few more questions for the public.

5 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Okay. Then we'll have
6 to pick that up after the lunch recess. It's five of one
7 now. We'll resume at 2:00.

8 (Lunch recess taken at 12:55 p.m.)

9 (Hearing reconvened at 2:05 p.m.)

10 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Good afternoon. We're 11 back on the record in DT 07-011 and continuing with the 12 examination of Mr. Leach by Ms. Hollenberg.

13 MS. HOLLENBERG: Thank you.

14 BY MS. HOLLENBERG:

15 Q. Good afternoon, Mr. Leach.

16 A. Good afternoon.

17 Q. Hope you had a good lunch.

18 A. Good.

19 Q. Good. You mentioned earlier that the price that 20 FairPoint is paying to purchase the northern New 21 England properties is $2.7 billion; is that correct?

22 A. Correct.

23 Q. And would you also agree that the net book value of the 24 Verizon northern New England properties is

1 $1.6 billion?

2 A. Subject to check.

3 Q. So the difference would be about $1.1 billion between 4 those two figures. Would that represent good will or 5 an acquisition premium?

6 A. In a typical transaction, if FairPoint were the 7 acquirer, that would be your typical transaction
8 accounting. In this case, as a technical matter,
9 FairPoint is being, in the merger, from an accounting
10 perspective, is being treated as the acquired company,
11 not the Verizon assets. So because of that, there's 12 no, quote, mark-up to the Verizon assets that would 13 create this difference in good will. What actually 14 happens is there is to FairPoint. So kind of a 15 rambling answer, but the response is: No impact on the 16 good will account at Verizon. FairPoint gets kind of 17 marked to market, if you will, where its equity value
18 gets marked up to the presumed equity value based upon 19 the market at the time of the merger.

20 Q. Would the $1.1 billion be on the books of Spinco or no?
21 Is that what you're saying?

22 A. Subject to check. I think whatever is on the books of 23 Spinco after it's created and spun off right before the 24 merger would be the same number that would then get

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 added to the FairPoint number.

2 Q. And how will those be treated? Will they be subject to 3 some kind of accounting treatment in the future?

4 A. "They," meaning?

5 Q. The $1.1 billion difference between the purchase price
6 and the net book value.

7 A. I don't believe so. But we might want to take a verbal
8 request to actually answer that accounting question.

9 Q. Thank you. I will take you up on that suggestion and 10 ask that that be made a record request for FairPoint, 11 please.

12 MR.McHUGH: What is it?

13 MS. HOLLENBERG: Basically, I'm just 14 wondering whether or not the difference between the 15 purchase price and the net book value, which we've agreed 16 is $1.1 billion, will that be subject to some type of 17 accounting treatment in the future?

18 MR.McHUGH: Okay.

19 CHAIRMAN GETZ: I believe we're
20 reserving Exhibit No. 45?

21 MR.McHUGH: That's correct, Mr.
22 Chairman.

23 MR. BAUM: 46.

24 MS. HOLLENBERG: And if possible, could

1 you also indicate how that would be handled or treated in 2 a rate case, unless the witness is able to answer that?

3 A. Well, I can answer the question of would any good-will 4 attempt to be recovered in a rate case. And we have
5 steadfastly said that we would not attempt to recover
6 any of the purchase-price premium or good will in a
7 rate case.

8 BY MS. HOLLENBERG:

9 Q. Thank you.

10 Mr. Leach, if you could just quickly,
11 for the record, scan Exhibits OCA Leach 52, 53 and 54,
12 and just confirm for me that those are your responses
13 on behalf of FairPoint to data requests propounded by 14 the OCA.

15 MR. COOLBROTH: This is 53, 52?

16 MS. HOLLENBERG: Sorry. It's 52, 53 and 17 54.

18 A. I have reviewed them. And what is the question?

19 Q. Just if you could confirm for the record that those are 20 your responses on behalf of FairPoint to those data
21 requests propounded by the OCA?

22 A. I can so confirm, yes.

23 Q. Thank you. The memorandums of understanding, I
24 think -- I don't know if you were here yesterday. But

1 there was some discussion about those yesterday. And I
2 believe there will be more discussion later in the 3 week. What I'm wondering is whether or not any of the 4 memorandums of understanding or settlement agreements
5 that the company has reached with the parties in this
6 case, if any of them contain any term that would impact
7 FairPoint's financial projections.

8 A. In general, I do not believe on an ongoing basis that 9 any of the agreements would differ or would impact our 10 financial projections, because I believe the agreements
11 basically have fixed in for various terms, fixed prices
12 on the various services. And in our financial model we 13 assume no prices would change going forward for all of 14 those kinds of services. So as it relates to ongoing
15 services, I don't believe there is any impact on the 16 financial model. To the extent there may be some 17 up-front cost related to a certain agreement -- and I'm 18 trying to recall. There was one yesterday. I think 19 there was up-front cost related to -- I don't know if 20 it was putting a PAP in place or something. There may 21 have been some one-time, up-front expense related to 22 that that may not have been captured as such in the 23 financial model. But as a general rule, ongoing
24 expenses, I'm not aware that there's anything we have

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 agreed to that differs from what's in the model.

2 Q. And without getting into any of the confidential nature
3 of the agreements, I guess if you could just -- is 4 there any way to generally quantify the extent of any 5 up-front costs that could be -- that could impact the 6 projections?

7 MR. COOLBROTH: Mr. Chairman, Attorney
8 Hollenberg has not identified for the witness which 9 agreements she's referring to, and I'm concerned that the 10 answers that are being given don't reflect an 11 understanding of what's being asked. If Attorney
12 Hollenberg could go through specifically which memoranda
13 she is referring to so the witness can understand the 14 question, I think that would be much better.

15 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Well, I'm taking that
16 you're asking the general question was the initial thrust:
17 Did you undertake any obligations through any of these 18 MOUs that affects the financial transaction? But now, it
19 seems the last line of questions seems to have gotten more
20 specific about whether there's any differentiation from 21 the model. I don't know if that's where you intended it
22 to go. But then we got into, I think, an answer that 23 referred to one specific agreement and one possibility
24 with some PAP up-front payments. So I think if you want

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 to follow-up on that last issue with respect to the PAP, I
2 guess, which agreement that is, as long as there is a
3 meeting of the minds. And I don't know when we get into 4 issues that are, I guess, allegedly confidential at this
5 point. I thought that's where you were going, Mr.
6 Coolbroth, but --

7 MR. COOLBROTH: I'm just trying to
8 understand. There are three memoranda of understandings
9 with the electric companies that were discussed yesterday.
10 There is a memorandum of understanding with Irene Schmitt,
11 and there's a memorandum of understanding with the CLEC
12 coalition. And I'm not sure whether Attorney Hollenberg
13 is referring to any others. But I want to make clear for 14 the record which documents are being discussed.

15 MS. HOLLENBERG: Well, what I would say
16 is, I'm not privy to all the settlement discussions that 17 the company's been undertaking. I do understand that 18 there are those memorandums that Mr. Coolbroth has just 19 mentioned. I don't know if there are any others. But my 20 question was to get at, are there any agreements that this
21 company has made with regard to this case that have terms
22 within them that would impact the financial projections.
23 And so I don't have a specific --

24 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Well, then I guess it

1 comes down to impact meaning a dollar, or impact meaning
2 materially impact.

3 MS. HOLLENBERG: Material impact I would 4 accept.

5 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Can you answer that
6 question, Mr. Leach?

7 WITNESS LEACH: I'd like to answer,
8 subject to check. And I'd like at the break, if we 9 could -- if I could be reminded by my team what the 10 element is that I'm trying to think of that I can't recall
11 right now that I thought might have been this one-time
12 cost. But subject to check, I'm not aware of any that 13 would create a material difference than what's in our 14 financial model.

15 MR.McHUGH: Maybe if I could just clear
16 that up now. I think what Mr. Leach was talking about is 17 the CLEC settlement sheet calls for an OSS test review
18 process in Section 3, which was the subject of 19 cross-examination yesterday by some of the CLECs.

20 So with that refreshing your
21 recollection, I hope --

22 WITNESS LEACH: That was the issue. And 23 that is an item which I do not believe is material, but it
24 is not one that we got to that granular detail and

1 included in the financial model.

2 BY MS. HOLLENBERG:

3 Q. And just to be clear, when I'm saying material, if I
4 were to say material equals $500,000 in terms of 5 impact, would you assert again that that was not
6 material?

7 MR.McHUGH: Well, I would object to the 8 form. I mean, materiality is an accounting concept. And 9 I don't think in an operation the size of northern New 10 England, to say $500,000 is material -- if she wants to 11 rephrase it some other way, that would be fine. But I
12 don't agree that's material.

13 CHAIRMAN GETZ: I think it's fair to ask
14 him what he thinks "material" is.

15 MR.McHUGH: Okay.

16 BY MS. HOLLENBERG:

17 Q. What do you think "material" is?

18 MS. HOLLENBERG: Thank you.

19 A. Well, "material" in the scope of a $2.7 billion
20 transaction is, you know, a pretty big number. And I
21 would say something over $500,000 probably would 22 constitute "material" to me. I think maybe a better
23 way to answer the question is, if you either give us a
24 chance at the break or via a verbal data request come

1 back with what the estimate might be for that, if it's 2 over a half-million dollars, we can come back with a
3 rough estimate of that. I just don't know enough about 4 that topic to know what the cost might be.

5 Q. That would be great, if the company is willing to do
6 that.

7 MS. HOLLENBERG: And that was the end of 8 my public questions. I guess before going into any kind
9 of confidential questions, I would just ask if the company
10 has made a determination about the statements in Mr.
11 Leach's prefiled rebuttal of Mr. Wheaton, whether or not 12 they are going to oppose my motion to strike those 13 statements from his testimony.

14 MR. McHUGH: We have made a
15 determination, Mr. Chairman, and we do oppose the motion.
16 There are -- without being able to go back over lunch and 17 exhaustively go through all of the testimony, both direct 18 and rebuttal filed in this case by the various 19 intervenors, I do know there are a couple of quotes that 20 are in Mr. Brevitz's testimony. May not be in statements
21 of other witness. But nonetheless, they are quotes.
22 There are other items that run throughout various expert
23 witness testimony in terms of what they rely on for 24 different things. Simply put, I think it should all go to

1 the weight of the evidence and let it go. You know, to be
2 any more detailed, I would have to have the opportunity to 3 have somebody go through more of the testimony and see if 4 there's -- everybody's testimony to see if there are 5 quotes in there that would be stricken and be treated
6 equally as what's being asked of us.

7 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Then we'll take the 8 motion under advisement.

9 MR.McHUGH: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

10 CHAIRMAN GETZ: There was one other
11 outstanding open question. Labor Exhibit 4?

12 MR.McHUGH: Labor Exhibit 4?

13 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Let's see.

14 MR. RUBIN: Mr. Chairman, if I may.
15 That concerned whether there was anything in FairPoint's
16 commitment letter where the lenders indicated that they 17 would require some kind of restriction on the payment of 18 dividends from the subsidiaries to the parent company.
19 And the company said they would get back to us after the 20 break.

21 MR. COOLBROTH: At a minimum, Mr.
22 Chairman, there is a provision. It's confidential,
23 however. We could go over this during the confidential
24 session.

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Okay. All right. Well,
2 is there anything else before we transition into the 3 confidential and then highly confidential?

4 MS. HOLLENBERG: The only comment I
5 would make is, I believe -- I know I have confidential and 6 highly confidential questions. I believe that Attorney
7 Rubin also has confidential and highly confidential. And 8 I understand that Staff only has public questions. So I
9 don't know if you want me to do my confidential and then 10 Mr. Rubin to do his confidential, and then me to do highly 11 confidential and Mr. Rubin to do highly confidential, in 12 terms of clearing the room.

13 CHAIRMAN GETZ: I think it's probably 14 easier to do two sets of confidential, two sets of highly 15 confidential. Whoever goes first is between the two of 16 you. And with respect to confidential information, is 17 there anyone that shouldn't be in the room?

18 (No verbal response)

19 And then when we turn -- just for 20 administrative purposes, when we turn to highly 21 confidential, is it Mr. Mandl and Mr. Price, or is that 22 all that would...?

23 (No verbal response)

24 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Okay. All right.

1 (PUBLIC HEARING RESUMES FROM PAGE 150)

2 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Turning to Mr. Rubin,
3 you had one question in follow-up with respect to 4 attrition that you wanted to ask Mr. Leach. Is my 5 recollection correct?

6 MR. RUBIN: Yes. Thank you,
7 Mr. Chairman.

8 CROSS EXAMINATION

9 BY MR. RUBIN:

10 Q. Mr. Leach, on the highly confidential record, we 11 discussed the work-force attrition assumption as part 12 of your financial model and we agreed that that could 13 be made public.

14 Could you tell us what work-force
15 attrition assumption FairPoint has included in its 16 financial model?

17 A. Between 4 and 4-1/2 percent.

18 MR. RUBIN: Thank you. That's all I
19 have for this witness, Mr. Chairman.

20 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Thank you.

21 Okay. Ms. Fabrizio?

22 MS. FABRIZIO: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.
23 Good afternoon, Mr. Leach.

24 THE WITNESS: Good afternoon.

1
2 BY MS. FABRIZIO:

3 Q. I'd like to say, just up front, that the questions that
4 I have for Mr. Leach relating to financial projections,
5 I'll use FairPoint's discovery forecast, the results of 6 which are included in Mr. Leach's rebuttal testimony.
7 And we believe that sticking to the discovery forecast
8 which is FairPoint's most-recent and currently the 9 official forecast, we're attempting to add clarity by 10 using one consistent set of information.

11 Mr. Leach, could you please define the 12 term EBITDA and explain its use as a measure of the 13 financial viability of a company?

14 A. Yes. EBITDA stands for earnings before interest -- I
15 always get the letters out -- interest -- earnings
16 before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization.
17 That's what the letters stand for.

18 It's become a very common metrics that's 19 used in the financial communities, because what it
20 basically says is people finance acquisitions and 21 assets a lot of different ways, so let's ignore for a
22 moment implications related to debt service, i.e., 23 interest. Let's ignore for a moment implications
24 related to taxes. Some deals have taxes, some don't.

1           So to come up with a core cash-flow
2 generation number -- what's kind of common to
3 everything -- and that's EBITDA. It's the base cash
4 flow that's generated before you take into
5 consideration things that may not have anything to do
6 with the business, like amortization of transaction
7 expenses or taxes or interest expense.

8           So it's kind of the primary measurement
9 of cash-flow health. When you compare one business to 10 another, you hear it commonly used to get a sense of 11 how much cash flow is generated by a certain business.

12 Q. Great. Thank you. Now, please explain the importance
13 of the total debt to EBITDA ratio as a measure of 14 importance for debt holders and companies such as 15 FairPoint and other wireline providers.

16 A. Sure. Debt to EBITDA is referred to as the leverage
17 ratio. Again, in the financial community, what people 18 are interested in is how much debt do you have, not in 19 a vacuum, but relative to how much cash flow the 20 business is generating. You know, a hundred million
21 dollars of debt on this transaction would be -- you
22 know, that comparison would be irrelevant if you didn't 23 know how much cash flow was being generated.

24           So when you compare one company to the

1 next and you want to look at their leverage situation,
2 you look at how much debt do they have relative to the 3 cash flow generated for that business versus the same
4 metrics for another company.

5 Q. Great. Thank you. Now, let's switch to the EBITDA to 6 interest ratio. What is the key thing it tells debt
7 holders and companies like FairPoint and other wireline
8 providers?

9 A. Basically, it indicates how much cash flow is generated
10 by the business relative to what your interest costs
11 are on the debt related to the business. So it gives 12 you a sense of you have cash flow generated, you have 13 debt-service obligations in terms of interest, what's 14 the relationship between your cash flow to your 15 interest for a particular company.

16 Q. Thank you. And do financial analysts use these two 17 measures as principal ways to provide quick, comparable
18 and common measure of financial viability among 19 companies?

20 A. Yes.

21 Q. And how are these ratios used in the covenants of 22 FairPoint's proposed debt-financing instruments?

23 A. Lenders want to be assured that, over time, the 24 leverage relative to the cash flow generated by the

1 business does not get out of whack.

2 In our case, in our commitment letter,
3 they have basically agreed that -- or concluded that
4 the leverage should not exceed five and a half times
5 the cash flow generated by the business. So again, as 6 you go back to the leverage ratio, what is your total
7 debt to your cash flow.

8 In our commitment letter, they basically
9 said, "We're not comfortable if that total debt rose by 10 more than five and a half times what your cash flow is.
11 And so if it gets there, we want you to stop paying 12 dividends and, therefore, you'll have cash available to 13 pay down the debt. And, therefore, if you want to 14 continue to pay dividends, you'll have to reduce the 15 debt to a level that's below five and a half times debt
16 to cash flow."

17 So it's a very common leverage metrics
18 in our agreement. It also drives the dividends stopper
19 covenant, at which point we can no longer pay
20 dividends.

21 Q. So would exceeding a specified covenant limit result in 22 a technical default?

23 A. It may or may not. In our current agreement, for 24 example, there's a difference between where the

1 dividend stopper is versus the technical default. I
2 just don't recall, in this case, if that's a technical
3 default or not. And it may not have been included yet
4 in the -- since we don't have the final loan agreement.

5 Q. Thanks. Now, what are the consequences of not meeting
6 the financial ratio limits to FairPoint's debt
7 financings and the effect on the ability for FairPoint
8 to raise additional capital?

9 A. The consequence of exceeding the leverage test would 10 basically say we'd have to stop paying dividends.
11 $142 million of cash flow that's projected to be paid
12 out in dividend could not be. And the logical
13 conclusion would be that we would use that to pay down
14 debt such that we could get the leverage below five and 15 a half times to the extent that we concluded paying 16 dividends of some level was still important to our 17 shareholders.

18 So the impact on us in the financial 19 markets, in terms of access to capital, would be 20 whatever the impact of a reduction in the dividend or 21 cut in the dividend would be, which, if it was a result
22 of fundamental changes in the business, it would
23 probably result in a negative impact on the stock
24 price. If it was a result, as I indicated earlier, of

1 a change up front, not necessarily indicative of a
2 fundamental change in the business, then there might 3 not be as much of an impact on the share price, as was 4 exhibited by what happened with the Alltel spin-off
5 when they cut their dividend right off the bat. It had 6 no meaningful impact, in terms of the price of the 7 stock to that transaction.

8 Q. Thank you. Now, you said that we could call the total
9 debt to EBITDA ratio a leverage ratio, for shorthand;
10 correct?

11 A. Correct.

12 Q. What are the limits on that leverage ratio in 13 FairPoint's debt commitments?

14 A. Again, subject to check, I believe it's probably the 15 same as the dividend stopper, I believe. But again, I
16 don't know if that's a technical default or not. But I
17 think, for these purposes, we should probably assume 18 that it's one and the same.

19 Q. Would you agree that, subject to check, they're 5.75
20 times in year one and 5.5 thereafter?

21 A. That's a good point. We do have kind of a grace period
22 in year one, because there are a number of one-time
23 expenses, startup expenses, that are not a recurring
24 cost. So the bank agreement gives us a little more

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 room in the first year to handle these one-time
2 expenses, i.e., the 5.75 limitation, which then drops
3 to 5.5 times in the subsequent years.

4 Q. And aren't the leverage ratio limits for Citizens and 5 Windstream, two of the merged FairPoint peer companies,
6 significantly lower than those numbers?

7 A. I do not know the answer to that. Mr. Balhoff may 8 know. I know that they're lower than that, but I don't 9 know the exact numbers.

10 Q. Okay. And would you agree, subject to check, that 11 they're about 4.5 times each?

12 A. I honestly do not know.

13 Q. We'll actually go into some articles that will bring 14 the numbers to the fore.

15 A. Okay.

16 Q. Now, doesn't FairPoint's higher allowed leverage ratio
17 of 5.5 after the first year denote that lenders, as 18 compared to lenders for Citizens and Windstream, for 19 example, allow a higher level of debt per dollar of 20 EBITDA generated?

21 A. Yes.

22 Q. And isn't it true that it was necessary for the lenders
23 to allow FairPoint these comparatively higher debt
24 levels because FairPoint would have been right at the

1 edge or over the Citizens and Windstream limits if
2 FairPoint experienced a future worse than what its 3 discovery base case financial outlook shows?

4 A. Again, I do not know what the comparable levels are for 5 those two other companies. But it -- our -- we 6 publicly stated our leverage is expected to be in the 7 very low 4-times range, 4.1, 4.2 times leverage levels,
8 after the first year.

9 Q. Okay. And assuming the numbers for Citizens and 10 Windstream are 4.5, that would be true?

11 A. If that -- yes, if that's the case, then there would be 12 less room compared to those numbers; that's correct.

13 Q. Okay. Thank you. Now, aren't FairPoint's corporate 14 credit ratings double B minus at Standard & Poor's and 15 B1 at Moody's?

16 A. I believe that's right, yes.

17 Q. And does FairPoint expect any significant improvement
18 in its credit ratings in the next several years?

19 A. As we talked about earlier today, I believe there is a 20 document out by one of the rating agencies that have 21 indicated, after a successful completion of the merger
22 and the integration of the business, that they would 23 likely expect an improvement in the rating for the 24 company. In fact, one of the two were on a "positive

1 watch," which is an indication that if things go as 2 expected, that credit-rating agency would expect the 3 rating to improve after the event -- in this case, the 4 merger -- after the event is completed.

5 Q. So the key financial ratios relied upon by the rating
6 agencies, the leverage ratio and the interest coverage
7 ratio, don't improve over the forecast period all the 8 way through 2015, do they?

9 A. I think they stay fairly constant over the life of the 10 model.

11 Q. I will refer you to page 18 of your rebuttal. This is 12 confidential -- I mean, not confidential. It's public,
13 for ease of reference.

14 Does FairPoint have a goal of achieving 15 investment-grade credit ratings in the future? And 16 tell us why or why not.

17 A. FairPoint does not have a specific objective of 18 achieving an investment-grade rating. I believe, as I
19 indicated earlier today, in the current environment,
20 the after-tax cost of debt is substantially cheaper for 21 FairPoint than the after-tax cost of equity.
22 Therefore, to try to achieve an investment rating would 23 typically involve paying your debt down and raising
24 more equity from where we are today. That would

1 actually have a negative impact on the cash flows of 2 the business, because the after-tax cost, again, is 3 much higher, equity versus debt.

4 We think about that continually. And I
5 would tell you, if the environment changed such that 6 there were substantial benefits by moving towards 7 becoming an investment-grade company, we'd certainly 8 consider that. But we -- you know, we are the norm,
9 not the exception. I think Mr. Balhoff will indicate,
10 of all the companies in our comparable group, there are 11 very few that are investment-grade companies.

12 Q. And it really wouldn't be possible to reach investment
13 grade with the heavy debt load and financial metrics
14 currently in the forecast; is that correct?

15 A. I think that's a matter of time. I think you could get 16 there over time, if that were an important objective.

17 Q. Okay. Let's see. FairPoint has, at various times in 18 this proceeding, identified Citizens, Windstream,
19 Embarq and CenturyTel as comparable companies. Do you
20 agree with this characterization?

21 A. I agree.

22 Q. I'd like you to turn to Staff Exhibit 27, page 2.

23 A. Is this a handout I should have?

24 Q. Yes, I'm sorry. This is, again, Staff Exhibit 27.

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

- 1 It's a Standard & Poor's commentary report entitled
2 "U.S. Telecom and Cable Companies, Strongest to 3 Weakest." If you take a look at page 2...
- 4 A. I see page 2.
- 5 Q. Yeah. Could you please read for us the long-term
6 corporate credit ratings for Verizon?
- 7 A. A, slash, A-1.
- 8 Q. And for CenturyTel?
- 9 A. Triple B, A-3.
- 10 Q. And Embarq?
- 11 A. Triple B minus.
- 12 Q. And Citizens Communications?
- 13 A. Triple -- excuse me -- double B plus.
- 14 Q. And Windstream?
- 15 A. Double B plus.
- 16 Q. And FairPoint?
- 17 A. Double B minus.
- 18 Q. All right. Thank you. So for Standard & Poor's, the 19 minimum investment-grade rating is triple B minus; is 20 that correct?
- 21 A. I believe that's correct.
- 22 Q. So that means, according to this information, FairPoint 23 is three levels below investment grade?
- 24 A. To the extent we'd have to go to a double B to double B

1 plus and then a triple B minus, that would be correct.

2 Q. Okay. Thanks. So to summarize, then, according to the 3 Standard & Poor's report, FairPoint's current rating of 4 double B minus is two rating levels below Citizens and 5 Windstream, three below Embarq, four below CenturyTel,
6 and seven below Verizon. Do you agree with that 7 summary?

8 A. I would agree with that summary if I could add, but it
9 also still puts us in the top third of the whole group.

10 Q. Okay. Fair enough. Now, I'd like you to turn to Staff
11 Exhibit 31. And this is the S&P report on Windstream, 12 dated August 2nd, 2007. Could you turn to page 5 of 13 that document?

14 A. I'm there.

15 Q. And if you look at the chart at the top of the page,
16 could you please read the debt to EBITDA or leverage
17 ratios for 2006 for each of the peer-group companies in 18 that chart? It's the second-to-last line of that 19 chart. And, sorry, you have to turn back one page to 20 get the company names. The first column refers to 21 Windstream, the second to Embarq, and the third to 22 Citizens.

23 A. Okay. I see that heading. And now you're asking me
24 for the EBITDA -- the leverage ratios for those three

1 companies?

2 Q. Yes. As given here in the chart.

3 A. Okay. It looks like Citizens is a 4.1. That's about
4 where we expect to be. Embarq is, again, the only
5 investment grade. They're 2-1/2. And Windstream
6 appears to be 3.4.

7 Q. Thank you. And just to close the circle here, if we go
8 to page 3 of that document -- I'm sorry -- it's a
9 different document. One minute, please.

10 Oh, here we go. If you turn to page 2,
11 the paragraph entitled "Liquidity," could you read the 12 last -- the next-to-last sentence in that paragraph,
13 starting "Under covenants contained...?"

14 A. The sentence begins -- okay -- "Under covenants
15 contained in the company's senior credit facilities
16 debt to latest 12-month EBITDA cannot exceed 4-1/2 and 17 interest coverage cannot go below 2.75 times."

18 Q. And you recall 4-1/2 was the number that we assumed in 19 our earlier discussion?

20 A. Right. I now see the basis for your conclusion.

21 Q. Okay. Now, I'd now like to refer you to Staff Exhibit
22 28. This is an S&P full analysis of CenturyTel. Take 23 a look at page 6.

1 Q. The chart on the upper portion of page 6, again, the
2 line next -- the next-to-last line is called the "Debt
3 to EBITDA" line. And the first column from the 4 previous page is CenturyTel for 2006. And what is the 5 leverage ratio for CenturyTel on that chart?

6 A. I see the 4.1 and 4.0. I'm trying to match headings.

7 Q. Yeah. CenturyTel is actually the very first column.

8 A. Okay. So those are the two -- two of the others.
9 Okay. Looks like that is 2.3.

10 Q. Thanks. Okay. Now, we will turn to your rebuttal
11 testimony, page 18.

12 What is the range for FairPoint's
13 leverage ratio in the discovery base-case forecast
14 presented here?

15 A. After the first year, which again has some one-time
16 expenses in it, it's on a recurring basis. I would 17 say, after the first year, the range is from 4.0 to 18 4.2.

19 Q. So what this tells us is that FairPoint, with its 20 base-case forecast, will be very near the 2006 leverage
21 ratio of Citizens, less favorable than that of 22 Windstream, and far less favorable than those of 23 CenturyTel and Embarq?

24 A. I don't think so. I thought there were two companies

1 listed right at 4 times. I have to look at that.

2 Q. So it will be close to Citizens, which we've determined
3 is 4.1.

4 A. Yeah. I'm looking at -- again, at your document
5 number, Staff No. 28. At the end of '06, Citizens was 6 4.1, right where we are. Windstream is 4.0, right
7 where we are. So I would say two of those four are 8 consistent with our numbers.

9 Q. And, actually, I would note that the date that you're 10 reading here for Windstream, which is column 3, 4.0,
11 that is dated April 27, 2007. And the Windstream
12 document we took the 3.4 number from is dated August
13 2nd, 2007. So we are assuming that this is updated
14 information and, hence, the difference in numbers.

15 A. Okay.

16 Q. So again, we're saying that you have said that the 17 FairPoint number ranges from 4.0 to 4.1 in its forecast
18 over time and which we now determine is pretty close to 19 the 2006 ratio of Citizens, less favorable than that of 20 Windstream at 3.4, and far less favorable than those of 21 CenturyTel and Embarq at 2.3 and 2.5.

22 A. I think that's right. Again, I'm looking at '06 year-
23 end information. And at that point, anyway, we were 24 right on top of Citizens and Windstream, but above both

1 CenturyTel and Embarq, that's correct.

2 Q. Okay. Could you explain for us why a higher leverage
3 ratio, which FairPoint has when compared to these four 4 peers, is less favorable from a credit-rating and 5 financial-viability standpoint?

6 A. I think credit-rating agencies, in general, deem more
7 debt is less attractive than less debt. They're not
8 concerned about shareholder value. They're not 9 concerned about what's in it for all the stakeholders.
10 What they care is less debt is better than more, so
11 less debt creates a better credit rating.

12 Q. Okay. Thank you. Now, let's go back to Exhibit 31.
13 This is the S&P August '07 report on Windstream and 14 we're looking at page 5. And now we're looking at the 15 line called "EBITDA Interest Coverage" in the top
16 chart, under "Adjusted Ratios." And could you read
17 these numbers for me? The first column is Windstream.
18 What is that number?

19 A. I'm sorry. On page 5.

20 Q. Yes.

21 A. I can see...

22 Q. EBITDA interest coverage.

23 A. EBITDA to interest coverage.

24 Q. Mm-hmm.

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 A. Looks like it's four -- for Windstream, 4.4.

2 Q. Yes. Thank you. And the next column is Embarq?

3 A. Embarq at 5.7.

4 Q. And the third column, Citizens?

5 A. 3.3.

6 Q. Thanks. Now, back to 28, Exhibit 28, page 6, again,
7 same line with respect to CenturyTel. And that's 8 EBITDA interest coverage.

9 A. EBITDA interest coverage for CenturyTel...

10 Q. Sorry. The first column is CenturyTel.

11 A. Thank you. 6.0. I think I've got this lined up right,
12 yes.

13 Q. Yes. Thank you. So in the case of interest coverage,
14 a higher coverage ratio is favorable from a credit-
15 rating and financial-viability standpoint; is that
16 correct?

17 A. That's correct.

18 Q. So turning back again to page 18 of your rebuttal
19 testimony, what is the range for FairPoint's EBITDA
20 interest coverage ratio in the discovery base case
21 forecast on that page?

22 A. On page 18, again ignoring the first year as a non-23 recurring year, it appears to be in the 3.4 range to 24 3.3 range.

1 Q. Thanks. So if I understand correctly, FairPoint, in
2 its base-case forecast, will be very near the 2006
3 leverage ratio of Citizens, less favorable than 4 Windstream, and far-less favorable than CenturyTel and 5 Embarq. And, I'm sorry, this is the interest ratio.
6 Is that correct, given the numbers we've just reviewed?

7 A. I believe that's right, yes.

8 Q. And CenturyTel and Embarq have been identified by both
9 FairPoint and the rating agencies as peer companies
10 that have similar business profiles to the merged
11 FairPoint. Why do these companies earn investment-
12 grade corporate credit ratings of triple B and triple B
13 minus respectively from Standard & Poor's?

14 A. Again, are you -- I'm sorry. Did you imply that two of 15 the companies have triple B ratings? Could you refer 16 me to that?

17 Q. This was Staff 26, I think. Twenty-seven.

18 We had CenturyTel at triple B, Embarq at 19 triple B minus. That's Exhibit 27.

20 A. I'm looking at 27.

21 Okay. I'm sorry. Your question now?

22 Q. Why do these companies earn investment-grade credit
23 ratings from Standard & Poor's?

24 A. I think it's a function of the leverage amounts that

1 you just referenced, in terms of leverage test. It's a
2 function of their EBITDA or their interest coverage.

3 It's also a function of size. The 4 rating agencies find size to be helpful, in terms of 5 stability. And these companies are larger than the 6 proposed merger of FairPoint and Verizon. So when you
7 wrap them all together, they concluded that they merit
8 a higher credit rating than does FairPoint.

9 Q. Okay. Thanks. And on that same chart, would you agree
10 that, in the "Financial Risk" column, CenturyTel and 11 Embarq are both labeled as an intermediate risk versus 12 FairPoint's aggressive?

13 A. Yes. I no longer have that chart in front of me, but I
14 do recall that being the case, yes.

15 Q. Page 2, Staff 27.

16 A. I'll accept that while I'm looking for it, because I do 17 remember that.

18 Q. We're going to go back again to page 18 of your 19 rebuttal testimony.

20 A. Okay.

21 Q. And here, the discovery base case summarizes financial 22 indicators for the forecast period of 2008 to 2015;
23 correct?

24 A. Yes.

1 Q. We'd like to clarify a few of the assumptions that are
2 included in the company's base case here. The 3 discovery base case as presented by FairPoint includes 4 the full amount of cost savings estimated by the 5 company; is that correct?

6 A. That's correct.

7 Q. And what is the dollar amount of the cost savings
8 included in each year and when do those cost savings
9 begin in the base case?

10 A. We assume full-year cost savings are built up through 11 2008 and basically continue each and every year
12 thereafter at approximately $71 million a year of 13 savings.

14 Q. Great. Thanks. And what percentage of EBITDA do the 15 cost savings represent on an annual basis?

16 A. The ratio of 71 million out of 575 million of EBITDA,
17 that looks like it's about 15 percent, 14 percent,
18 something in that ballpark.

19 Q. Thanks. And would you agree that the cost savings
20 included in the discovery base case are very important
21 to achieving the financial results presented here?

22 A. Certainly, they're -- to the extent they represent 23 14 percent or so of EBITDA, I would tell you that that
24 is important. I would also ask you -- when Mr. Balhoff

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 makes his presentation, he compares the EBITDA margins
2 of our business to the comparables. That's only
3 important because it's another way of looking at how 4 conservative or not are the FairPoint projections. And 5 what you'll hear from that is that our projections have 6 very low EBITDA margins relative to the rest of the 7 comparable group and, therefore, far more upside than 8 downside.

9 Q. Thank you. And another important assumption in the 10 company's discovery base case is the timing of the 11 system cutover from Verizon, as well as the cost of the 12 TSA payments to Verizon, would you agree?

13 A. I would agree.

14 Q. What is the assumption of time needed for the system
15 cutover?

16 A. I think it's important to understand that the timing of 17 the cutover is virtually six quarters after the 18 planning process started. And that gets lost in the 19 comparison of the cutover to the closing date, but it's 20 an important number.

21 One of the reasons we're spending so
22 much money up front is related to the planning and 23 integration exercise to be ready for the cutover. We 24 picked our consultant in the third quarter of last

1 year. We started working with our consultant in the 2 fourth quarter of '06. So we had that quarter. We had
3 four quarters of '07. We'll have the first and second
4 quarter of '08, because our cutover's expected to occur
5 at the end of May of '08.

6 So you virtually have, you know,
7 anywhere from six to seven quarters of planning in 8 place before we actually cut over, which seems like an 9 enormous amount of time to get it right. But I think
10 people lose the sight of that because they see a
11 closing date of the end of January and then a cutover
12 four months later. So it's important to recognize how 13 much time has been spent on the cutover process.

14 Q. Thank you. I appreciate that.

15 Now, back to the base-case model. What
16 are the TSA costs included here in your assumptions?

17 A. In this particular model, the costs were fourteen
18 million two-fifty, roughly, for six months, plus a 19 $30 million one-time charge. And I don't have in my --
20 I think that's close to $100 million. Fourteen 21 times... What's that, 105 grand?

22 Q. Yeah.

23 A. 115 million. I'm sorry.

24 Q. You have about a hundred million stemming from a cost

1 of 16.5 per month. And then, again, in the assumptions
2 here, you're assuming how -- what period of time for 3 the ---

4 A. And that's important, because at this time in the 5 modeling process, we had a six-month TSA period because 6 we were not using all of the available options made
7 available to us under the TSA from Verizon.

8 As we got into the planning process with 9 Verizon, we did two things: We agreed to exercise an 10 additional option that was -- that was made available
11 to us to allow Verizon to do more during the TSA period
12 than we'd originally started -- than we'd originally 13 contemplated. That took the fourteen two-fifty up to 14 16-1/2 million per month, because we now had Verizon
15 doing more things that we thought we would do on our 16 own, but that also enabled us to compress the period by 17 four months from six months.

18 So in our current view, four-month TSA,
19 16-1/2 million plus the 34 million, because the one-
20 time charge went from 30 to 34 when we exercised some 21 additional options. The bottom line to all this is, at 22 the current rate, we could effectively be on the TSA
23 for about five months versus what's -- in terms of 24 what's in the budget versus what we expect. So we have

1 an extra month kind of built in if we were to need it,
2 from a cost perspective.

3 Q. Okay. And for purposes of the calculations here, we're
4 looking at, beginning year one, 2008 -- we're talking
5 about four months from closing to cutover and a hundred
6 million assumption.

7 A. That's our -- that's in our current view, but that's 8 not what's in the model that you're looking at. You're 9 looking at the larger number in the model.

10 Q. Okay.

11 A. That said, since there was a reduction, we decided to 12 leave it conservative and leave the full ---

13 Q. I see.

14 A. --- TSA money budgeted, even though we now expect to 15 spend less than that.

16 Q. Okay.

17 A. We expect to spend -- we expect to be on the service
18 four months, but we have enough money in the budget for 19 five months, roughly.

20 Q. Okay. Great. Now, would you agree that the four-month
21 cutover assumption -- five-month ---

22 A. Right.

23 Q. --- to be at the low end of the range of possibilities
24 for cutover?

1 A. I really don't. When you think about a six- to seven-
2 quarter process, you know, I don't believe that's on 3 the low end. I think that's a reasonable assessment
4 and where we could end up.

5 Q. How much more quickly do you think it could reasonably
6 happen?

7 A. How much shorter than that?

8 Q. Mm-hmm.

9 A. I don't believe it could happen any shorter than that.

10 Q. Okay. So that's probably the low end of a reasonable
11 estimate?

12 A. Clearly, if it were to change, we would likely give 13 ourselves a little more breathing room. We'd not 14 likely make it even shorter.

15 Q. Okay. And that would carry over to the TSA costs
16 assumed here in this model are probably also at the low 17 end?

18 A. Well, again, the TSA costs that are in the model today
19 allow us to essentially cover five months of TSA
20 expense.

21 Q. Okay. Let's see. Now, I'm going to turn to page 68 of 22 your rebuttal.

23 Now, do the two tables presented on this
24 page represent FairPoint's discovery MACC case?

1 A. I'm sorry. What's your question?

2 Q. Do these two tables represent FairPoint's discovery
3 MACC case? I see a reference on line 3 on that page.
4 And actually, beginning on the previous page, you begin
5 to refer to the MACC case with respect to these two 6 tables; is that correct?

7 A. Well, I'm trying to understand the difference between 8 the two -- okay. It appears that both of these are the 9 MACC case. They show different information. Okay.

10 Q. Okay. And how does the forecast represented here 11 differ from the discovery base case that we've been 12 looking at on page 18?

13 A. I believe the MACC case assumes a $64 million reduction
14 in EBITDA, if I can find that number. So we just 15 basically said, if we're off by $64 million, what would 16 that do to the number? If the savings that we 17 generated, which were expected to be 71 million -- if 18 virtually almost all of those went away, what would the 19 numbers look like.

20 Q. So the change here is really a removal of $71 million
21 in cost savings that you mentioned earlier?

22 A. I think 64 of the 71, yes. Oh, is it 67? I'm sorry, 23 67 million.

24 Q. Sixty-seven?

1 A. I just couldn't put my finger on the number here.

2 Q. Okay. Now, looking at the second table on that same
3 page, take a look, please, at the total net debt to 4 adjusted EBITDA line toward the bottom of that table.
5 Is this the same leverage ratio that we've discussed
6 previously for both FairPoint and its peer-group
7 companies?

8 A. Yes, it is.

9 Q. Could you please read this MACC case leverage ratio for 10 FairPoint in 2008 to 2015?

11 A. In terms of reading that number?

12 Q. The numbers across the line here on that line.

13 A. Sure. And, again, it's important to know that these 14 numbers assume we lost $67 million in cash flow and 15 kept paying the same dividend that's in place -- that's 16 in our model, the $142 million -- which may or may not 17 be a reasonable assumption if you don't generate the 18 savings that we expect. But given that, that's what 19 this number assumes.

20 If that happens, the net debt to 21 adjusted EBITDA, the leverage ratio we're talking about 22 after the first year, floats from about 4.8 to about
23 5.3 times versus us expecting it to be right around 4
24 to 4.1 times. So lose 67 million of EBITDA, continue

1 to pay your dividend, and you end up with a leverage
2 ratio that creeps up to 5 times and beyond.

3 Q. Okay. And for comparison purposes, I'd like to refer
4 back to our previous discussion of the 2006 leverage
5 ratios for some of the peer-group companies.

6 CenturyTel at 2.3, Embarq at 2.5, Windstream at 3.4,
7 and Citizens at 4.1. Would you agree that summarizes
8 what we discussed earlier?

9 A. I'll assume that's right. It sounds right.

10 Q. So, with the removal of the cost savings from 11 FairPoint's discovery base case, is the company's 12 forecasted leverage ratio much higher than that 13 experienced by those peer companies in 2006, including 14 even Citizens?

15 A. If you make the assumption that we continue to pay the 16 full dividend, despite not achieving the projected cost
17 savings -- which again I would challenge whether that's 18 a reasonable assumption or not. But if you made that 19 assumption, then clearly these leverage levels would be 20 higher than our nearest comp, which would be Citizens.
21 And that's what I understand a sensitivity does. It
22 indicates, kind of in a worst-case scenario, how does
23 this -- how do the numbers compare. That's what it
24 says.

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 Q. Okay. Thank you. And what is the assumption for 2 system conversion cutover timing in the MACC case?

3 A. That we are on budget. That we meet the existing 4 timeframe and existing budget.

5 Q. And is that the same for the five months that we 6 discussed earlier?

7 A. Right.

8 Q. And a hundred million in TSA costs?

9 A. Yeah. A hundred and fifteen, I think. That's a five-
10 month number.

11 Q. Okay. And how much would the total TSA charge increase
12 for a six-month cutover versus four?

13 A. The monthly charge for the TSA is $16.5 million. If we 14 know in advance when that -- when we are going to cut
15 over, staying on the TSA doesn't cost you quite as much
16 as if you're surprised.

17 And the reason I say that is, is right
18 now we're assuming an end-of-May number when we ramp up 19 our employee base to get ready to step in at the end of 20 May and take over all those functions currently 21 performed by Verizon. So you have to have a full,
22 complete staffing done right when you come off the TSA.
23 If you know the TSA's going to be moved back a couple
24 months, you delay that staffing and now you staff up

1 later.

2 So if you know, in advance, that the
3 TSA's going to be moved back, then you -- you can save
4 some of the staffing that you would otherwise have 5 incurred. And as a result of that, you end up -- the 6 net effect of an additional month on the TSA is in the 7 ten to $11 million range. We pay 16.5, but we continue
8 -- there are some avoidable costs. The best example is 9 postage. They pick up all the postage on sending bills
10 to 1.4 million customers and that gets covered by the 11 16.5. There are other costs like that that, as long as 12 we stay on the TSA, we avoid them and they get covered
13 by the 16.5.

14 So kind of a rambling response to the 15 question, it costs us about ten to $11 million a month
16 for delaying the TSA.

17 Q. Great. Thank you. I'm actually turning back to page
18 18, back to the discovery base case. In these base-
19 case results, how much does FairPoint pay down the 20 total debt from 2008 through 2015? We covered this 21 in -- with Ms. Hollenberg, but we're looking at 22 slightly different years.

23 A. Okay. 2008, total debt just under 2.5 billion, down to 24 2.085. So about $400 million in this timeframe.

1 Q. Thanks. And why is FairPoint able to pay down this
2 amount of debt in the base case?

3 A. It's able to do that because the model assumes the 4 excess cash flow generated after meeting all of the 5 obligations -- operating expenses, debt service, taxes,
6 dividends -- is applied against the principal payment
7 -- applied against the principal amount and reduces
8 debt accordingly.

9 Q. Thank you. And is FairPoint required by any of its 10 debt commitment letters or other commitments to pay
11 down its debt by specific amounts or under specific 12 circumstances?

13 A. I think the expectation is 2 percent a year -- 1 to 14 2 percent a year is a mandatory prepayment requirement,
15 pretty insignificant relative to the amount that the 16 model shows us paying.

17 Q. Thanks. Now, if the discovery base case assumes the 18 paydown of almost 400 million in debt through 2015, why
19 doesn't the crucial leverage ratio decline over time?

20 A. Because we have -- that's a very good question. And 21 the answer to that is we have conservatively modeled
22 this business to show declining revenues and declining
23 EBITDA over time. We've not loaded in what we believe
24 will be actual additional services like video services

1 that we know we will be rolling out because we have a
2 network that will accommodate that. So this is a bare-
3 bones run-the-business-as-well-as-you-can, but it's 4 still the base business.

5 And throughout the industry, access-line
6 losses are causing the customer base to decline. We
7 assume that that will continue here. The bottom line
8 is we have declining EBITDA, so your leverage to 9 EBITDA, as your leverage goes down -- but your EBITDA
10 is going down as well, so you effectively stay at the 11 four -- four -- four-to-one kind of relationships.

12 Q. Okay. Thanks. And so, the debt reduction in the base
13 case is required to offset future EBITDA declines just 14 to keep the leverage ratio steady at about FairPoint's
15 model level in this case; is that correct?

16 A. That's correct. But it's also after continuing to pay
17 $142 million a year in dividends. So, again, that's an 18 important element, in terms of the flexibility of what 19 the company can do going forward.

20 Q. Okay. And wouldn't credit and other financial analysts
21 prefer to see the FairPoint debt paid down by greater 22 amounts and the leverage ratio improve over time rather 23 than stay flat, especially in its presentation or base
24 case?

1 A. I would tell you a -- probably a credit rating agency
2 analyst might, because they want to see less debt over
3 time. I'm not sure a Wall Street analyst would
4 actually tell you that. But from a credit-rating-
5 agency perspective, yeah, I think they'd like to see
6 debt go down over time.

7 Q. Especially in a business such as the wireline, where 8 the future is uncertain, as you've noted?

9 A. That's probably fair.

10 Q. Could we go back to page 68? This is, again, back to 11 the MACC case forecast. The total net debt declines by 12 about how much from 2008 through 2015 in this case?
13 That's the lower table.

14 A. The lower table.

15 Q. Total net debt.

16 A. Total net debt. It drops by about $80 million.

17 Q. Mm-hmm. That's compared to the 400 million in the 18 discovery model.

19 A. That's compared to the 400 million, yes.

20 Q. And this lower amount of debt repayment is due to a 21 lower cash flow from the removal of cost savings; is 22 that correct?

23 A. Yes. From the assumption that the cost savings are not 24 generated and, despite that, that we continue paying

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 $142 million annually in dividend payments.

2 Q. Okay. And does the MACC case leverage ratio rise over
3 time with less debt repayment?

4 A. It does.

5 Q. And by how much?

6 A. It rises from about 5.1 to 5.3 over the -- over the 7 life of the model.

8 Q. Okay. And just to repeat here, the assumption for the 9 system cutover and TSA payments in this case was four 10 months and 100 million; is that correct?

11 A. Well, no, it's actually the five-month.

12 Q. The five-month.

13 A. The five months, yeah.

14 Q. And you have actually referred to the MACC case as the 15 worst-case projection; is that correct? That's on the 16 previous page.

17 A. I may -- I may have.

18 Q. Page 67, beginning at line 6, "Far from being the most 19 likely case, as Mr. Vickroy contends, we continue to 20 view the MACC case as the worst-case scenario."

21 A. And I still believe that's a true statement.

22 Q. Okay. Thanks. I'm going to shift gears a little bit.

23 A. Okay.

24 Q. FairPoint currently serves, in large measure, in rural

1 areas; is that correct?

2 A. We do serve some reasonably -- you know, reasonably --
3 let me say it different. We serve some towns, but our 4 largest towns are not more than, you know, 20,000
5 people or so. We do serve some communities in that 6 range.

7 Q. Actually in your Exhibit WEL-2 to your rebuttal, which 8 is public, you have a chart saying that more than 9 80 percent of local exchanges will serve 5,000
10 customers or less.

11 A. I think that's right, yeah.

12 Q. And do you agree that rural carriers receive some cost
13 subsidies because of relatively higher costs?

14 A. Yes.

15 Q. And would you agree that rural carriers have higher
16 operating costs than do urban carriers, as a general
17 matter?

18 A. Yes.

19 Q. Could you summarize for us, please, all personnel-
20 related cost changes that FairPoint's financial model
21 assumes with respect to the work performed by Verizon
22 employees that will go over to FairPoint after 23 acquisition as opposed to those Verizon employees that 24 FairPoint will need to replace because Verizon will

1 retain those employees to support continuing Verizon
2 operations?

3 A. Please repeat the question.

4 Q. Sure. It's a little convoluted.

5 Summarize for us all personnel-related
6 cost changes that FairPoint's financial model assumes
7 with respect to work performed by the Verizon employees
8 that will go to FairPoint and those that FairPoint will 9 have to replace.

10 A. I don't believe we have that exact analysis. What I
11 can tell you is we know the employees that will have to 12 be put in place to perform the back-office
13 infrastructure that again is currently performed by 14 Verizon outside of the three states. We are going to 15 move all that back-office infrastructure activity into 16 the three states. You know, again, network operations
17 centers, data centers, billing functions, et cetera.
18 And that is the number that we talked about earlier:
19 675 employees are projected to -- have publicly been 20 announced to do that work for us.

21 We expect, by and large, all the 22 existing Verizon employees in the three states to 23 generally stay in the three states, doing more or less
24 the same thing that they are doing today. There may be

1 some swapping of certain functions as Verizon moves
2 from a five-state structure to a three-state structure.
3 But by and large, we expect the basic business to be 4 operated on the ground by the same employees that are 5 in place today.

6 So no employees really go away. What
7 goes away is the allocation that Verizon charges for 8 these out-of-state functions to the three states. That 9 allocation goes away and gets replaced by the cost of 10 hiring and maintaining the 675 incremental employee
11 work force.

12 Q. So if I understand correctly, there are no real cost
13 changes related to personnel assumed in the model.

14 A. Well, there -- the cost changes or the cost savings ---

15 Q. For Verizon employees who come over.

16 A. All the Verizon employees that are represented in their 17 allocated costs -- again, the allocation piece versus 18 the direct -- we assume that goes away.

19 Q. Okay.

20 A. And so those personnel costs go away and get replaced
21 by the cost of 675 new employees.

22 Q. Kind of netted out, though?

23 A. Well, the -- certainly, some of that is the basis for 24 the projected savings. But it also has to do with

1 putting in -- spending $200 million on new hardware,
2 software systems, et cetera. It's a brand-new state-
3 of-the-art back-office infrastructure replacing, you
4 know, one that's hobbled by 75 years of having to keep 5 the legacy systems in place.

6 Q. Okay. Thanks. Now, is it fair to say that, with 7 respect to those Verizon employees that will go over to 8 FairPoint, the financial model assumes that FairPoint
9 won't lose any efficiency from those employees as 10 compared with what Verizon has been getting; is that
11 correct?

12 A. That's generally correct, yes.

13 Q. And, in fact, even during the first year or two after 14 FairPoint takes over the business, the model assumes no
15 productivity decline from those Verizon employees that 16 come over to FairPoint; is that correct?

17 A. That's correct.

18 Q. So is it FairPoint's position that common costs Verizon
19 has been allocating to northern New England offer the 20 primary source of savings that FairPoint will be able 21 to achieve?

22 A. Well, I am not sure the conclusions leading up to your 23 last question tie together. I would tell you that we 24 are -- we understand our cost structure and it was

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 built from the ground-up, in terms of the back-office
2 infrastructure. Again, we're keeping the same direct
3 costs more or less in place, same employees, same
4 buildings, same trucks, same utility expenses, et
5 cetera. The only difference between our model and how 6 Verizon has been operating the business is their 7 allocation for those back-office services goes away,
8 gets replaced by our cost structure. That creates a
9 65, $70 million savings, not all personnel-related.
10 Again, we have the advantage of being able to build
11 from scratch on a blank canvas the right systems,
12 hardware, software, state of the art kind of technology
13 by which to serve these customers. And we don't have 14 the baggage that goes with having to have done this and 15 updated, over several acquisitions over several 16 decades, the back-office system. And I believe, when 17 the witness for Verizon, Mr. Smith, gets on the stand,
18 he would agree that that -- that's a great opportunity
19 for a company to have, to kind of build from scratch
20 what you need today versus having to keep in place what 21 you've inherited.

22 So I wouldn't say it's all people. I
23 would say that it's a part of being able to put in 24 place a state-of-the-art function to replace something

1 that has been there and had to operate differently for 2 a long time.

3 Q. And thank you, Mr. Leach. I'm sorry. I probably
4 should have paused between questions more. I didn't
5 mean to imply that my question related to personnel
6 costs. I'm trying to understand. It's the common
7 costs that Verizon has thus far been allocating to 8 northern New England that represent the primary source
9 of cost savings in FairPoint's model; is that correct?

10 A. The difference in their allocation cost versus our 11 back-office infrastructure cost is the predominant
12 driver of the savings, yes.

13 Q. Okay. Thank you. Now, can you tell us year by year,
14 through 2015, what FairPoint's most current estimate is 15 of those savings? And I think we can turn back to 16 page 18, again.

17 A. It's a -- let me explain why that's a tough question to 18 answer. The question implies that, each year, we will 19 be, in my view, comparing to what Verizon would have 20 been operating in that year. And we have no way of 21 knowing that.

22 What we do know is, in this last year of 23 operations, what Verizon's total expenses were and we 24 can certainly compare our cost structure to that last

1 year going forward. And that's what creates the 2 $71 million of savings. So we really don't have an
3 ability to say, each year, how much would you have
4 saved versus Verizon that year, because we don't know
5 what their costs would have been that year.

6 So we are assuming, you know, the 7 71 million kind of gets carried forward in our cost
8 structure.

9 Q. Okay. Now, are those savings coming from allocations
10 of common costs that Verizon now assigns to northern 11 New England, but that will not come to FairPoint after 12 acquisition, then?

13 A. Predominantly, yes.

14 Q. Okay. And what source documents show what those 15 Verizon allocations of costs are?

16 A. I do not know the exhibit number, but I believe there
17 was -- one of the data responses included information
18 which detailed the allocations from Verizon to these 19 three states in, I believe, 2006.

20 Q. Okay. Actually, I think that was the highly 21 confidential table that you included on page 57, which 22 you discussed with Mr. Rubin. Does that sound right?

23 A. No, I don't believe so. No. That -- that's not 24 exactly right. The table that we discussed with

1 Mr. Rubin, I was trying to explain, wasn't a precise
2 allocation. It was our best estimate of comparable
3 cost. But that is not really the table I'm referring
4 to. They have an actual table that shows their exact
5 costs not broken out exactly like this, but they show
6 what their allocation was for -- actually, it may have
7 been 2005 was the number we submitted that shows
8 exactly what that allocation was.

9 Q. That was actually Labor Exhibit 11HC, I think.

10 A. Do I need to look at it?

11 Q. No, no. We're staying public here.

12 Now, in your savings assumptions, you
13 aren't arguing that those costs represent totally 14 wasted expenses by Verizon, are you?

15 A. No.

16 Q. And you aren't arguing that those costs represent any 17 sort of deliberate cost shifting among jurisdictions by 18 Verizon?

19 A. No.

20 Q. In fact, aren't those allocated costs the common
21 corporate costs that Verizon spends to support the 22 employees in the field, such as those employees that 23 will come over to FairPoint after acquisition?

24 A. There may be a very little bit of that. But by and

1 large, that's not the case. Again, think of direct
2 costs that cover all 2800 employees that come with the 3 business and all the on-the-ground costs -- again,
4 trucks and maintaining buildings, et cetera -- that 5 cost structure comes from the merger. That's been 6 modeled in our financial model as continuing as it has
7 in the past. The difference is corporate allocations
8 from Verizon go away, get replaced by our -- the cost
9 of our 675 new employees and the related facilities.

10 Q. Now, isn't the most central point about FairPoint's 11 savings assumptions then that you believe that your 12 costs of supporting the same employees who are coming 13 from Verizon will be less than what Verizon's has been 14 in the past?

15 A. No. The employees that come with the merger, we 16 assume, come over at the -- in our model -- at the same
17 costs as are incurred today. In fact, that's how we 18 built our model. We took the existing employees' W-2 19 information, built it up position by position, and have 20 continued those costs with the attrition and the comp-
21 increase assumptions going forward.

22 Q. But given our discussions about cost savings, aren't
23 you saying that it will cost FairPoint less to support
24 those personnel than Verizon?

1 A. No. It will cost -- we're saying it will cost
2 FairPoint less to provide the back-office services,
3 billing, network operations, et cetera, data-center
4 services, than the allocation from Verizon in a general
5 fashion.

6 Q. Thank you. I apologize. Okay. Let's go back to your 7 yearly savings of -- cost savings. What number did you
8 give us?

9 A. 71 million.

10 Q. And what -- how much of a percentage savings per year
11 does that equate to? You stated, just to refresh your 12 memory, 14 to 15 percent of total EBITDA.

13 A. I think that's correct. Not of total expense, but 14 total EBITDA.

15 Q. Okay.

16 A. It's a much smaller number compared to total expenses.

17 Q. And Verizon has how many land lines nationwide?

18 A. I do not know the answer to that.

19 Q. Would you accept, subject to check, 45 million or more?

20 A. I don't know. To allow us to continue, we'll accept 21 that subject to check.

22 Q. And that Verizon is the second-largest local exchange
23 provider in the U.S.?

24 A. That, I do understand, yes.

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 Q. Okay. And FairPoint has how many land lines currently?

2 A. We have access-line equivalents, both lines and DSL
3 customers, of about 300,000.

4 Q. Okay. And so, basically, FairPoint is less than 5 1 percent of Verizon's size, in terms of access lines;
6 is that correct?

7 A. That's probably right.

8 Q. Okay. Now, these allocations that you're saying that 9 you won't have to pay once Verizon has left the region,
10 those are for common people and resource costs that 11 support a large portion of Verizon's access lines
12 throughout Verizon's footprint; is that correct?

13 A. In some cases, that's correct. In some cases, it's 14 more regionalized. But it's certainly costs incurred
15 for services that are provided from a facility outside
16 of the three-state region, in general.

17 Q. Okay. And Verizon is now operating very largely, very 18 successfully, in many businesses besides local exchange
19 service, isn't it?

20 A. That's correct.

21 Q. And do you have any reason to doubt that the support
22 people and resources are serving some of Verizon's
23 other businesses, as well, currently?

24 A. I'm sure that's -- for allocation purposes, I'm sure

1 that's true, yes. Or as a result of the allocation
2 process, that implies that's what's happening, yes.

3 Q. So if I understand correctly, the numbers are showing
4 that FairPoint believes it can provide the -- support
5 people and resources more efficiently than a company
6 that is a hundred times its size, probably closer to 7 200 times, if we count all Verizon's other businesses?

8 A. That's a true statement. And while maybe it's not 9 intuitive, it's almost true in every single acquisition
10 where the Bell companies spin off assets, access lines.
11 And I would just ask you to defer part of that to 12 Mr. Balhoff, who has -- is somewhat of an expert on 13 that. So this assumption is no different than what 14 typically happens when Bell companies spin off rural 15 access lines.

16 Q. Mr. Leach, what do you know personally about these 17 kinds of savings from other acquisitions?

18 A. Mostly, the information in Mr. Balhoff's testimony.

19 Q. Okay. Thanks. I'm going to shift gears again.

20 Now we're going to turn to Staff
21 Exhibit 26. And here we have reproduced a copy of the 22 State of Vermont Public Service Board initial brief in 23 parallel proceedings, dated October 17, 2007.

24 MR. COOLBROTH: Mr. Chairman, just in

1 terms of the potential admissibility of this exhibit, this
2 is a trial brief from another jurisdiction. I certainly 3 don't have any objection to statements of law or policy
4 that are in a brief, but my expectation is that there are 5 factual record references from an entirely different
6 proceeding that could well be in here. Those items should 7 not be in the record for their truth.

8 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Let's see how you're
9 planning to use this.

10 MS. FABRIZIO: Sure. If Mr. Coolbroth
11 will indulge me, I do not actually plan to pull out
12 factual material from the brief.

13 BY MS. FABRIZIO:

14 Q. I would like to cite from page 63, the first full
15 paragraph beginning "These safeguards..."

16 MR. MCHUGH: I'm sorry. Attorney
17 Fabrizio, what page?

18 MS. FABRIZIO: I'm sorry. Sixty-three.

19 MR. MCHUGH: Sixty-three. Thank you.

20 BY MS. FABRIZIO:

21 Q. In this brief, the Vermont Staff is proposing
22 safeguards that include the following, and I quote,
23 "One, requiring the establishment of a separate legal 24 entity for FairPoint's Vermont operations; two,

1 creating a mechanism to restrict the ability of 2 FairPoint to move cash from its Vermont operation to 3 the parent corporation should FairPoint be unable to 4 demonstrate that it is meeting service quality
5 standards and achieving broadband expansion
6 milestones."

7 I have a number of questions about this
8 particular proposal, Mr. Leach. Are you familiar with 9 this position of the Vermont department through your 10 participation in the Vermont proceedings?

11 A. Yes, I am.

12 Q. And Verizon does not have such a separate subsidiary 13 currently in its operations in Maine, New Hampshire or 14 Vermont, utility or non-utility, does it?

15 A. I believe that's correct for the local exchange carrier
16 business, yes.

17 Q. Okay. In fact, Verizon does not even keep separate 18 books of account for assets, liabilities, revenues or 19 expenses for the operations in any of these three 20 states, utility or non-utility, does it?

21 A. Beyond what's required for regulatory reporting, I
22 believe that's the case, yes.

23 Q. FairPoint does not propose to have a separate state
24 subsidiary for Vermont or any other state, either, does

1 it?

2 A. We have steadfastly opposed the consideration of 3 setting up a separate subsidiary in each state because 4 we believe that, number one, it's not necessary.
5 Number two, we can provide stand-alone state financial 6 information, if that's the purpose of that financial 7 entity.

8 But if the purpose is to somehow
9 encumber the cash flow coming out of that entity up to 10 the parent, then we have continually objected and said
11 that that's not necessary and, in fact, would defeat
12 the benefit of having the capital structure structured 13 as we have proposed with all the debt at the parent
14 company.

15 Q. Great. Thanks. And FairPoint does not propose
16 separate books of account, either, does it?

17 A. Well, we -- I think, to the extent that the sole 18 purpose of setting up a state corporation was to 19 provide financial records, I think we would not object
20 to doing that, but it would have to be clear that that 21 would be, you know, the sole purpose for doing that;
22 that we would continue to object to any encumbrance on 23 the cash flows from the state operations up to the 24 parent.

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 Q. Great. Thank you. In fact, won't FairPoint rely on a
2 very significant level of both common assets and common
3 expenses to provide services to the three states,
4 whatever the corporate structure or accounting?

5 A. We'll rely on common back-office infrastructure for 6 much of the service, yes.

7 Q. And you don't anticipate putting those common systems
8 and people in a separate entity, do you?

9 A. We do not.

10 Q. It doesn't look to me like Vermont DPS here anticipates
11 putting them into its proposed Vermont entity, either.
12 Do you disagree?

13 A. In terms of the common infrastructure items?

14 Q. Yes.

15 A. No. That -- in the discussions we've had, that was not 16 part of their to objective.

17 Q. Okay. And at the least, it's far from clear, according 18 to what we have here in the brief, that they anticipate 19 putting those common systems and people into a separate 20 entity.

21 A. I would agree it's ---

22 Q. It's not really clear.

23 A. --- far, far from clear, yes.

24 Q. Does FairPoint propose to operate the business in the

1 three states with equity and with debt that is not
2 segregated between any of the three states?

3 A. Yes.

4 Q. And whether or not you would segregate only Vermont and 5 leave Maine and New Hampshire combined, have you begun
6 efforts to accomplish the required segregation and to 7 address what to do about assets that serve the three 8 states in common?

9 A. I'm sorry. Repeat the question?

10 Q. One second. So whether or not you would segregate only 11 Vermont and leave Maine and New Hampshire combined,
12 have you begun any efforts to accomplish that 13 segregation and to address what to do with assets that 14 serve the three states in common?

15 A. We certainly have been giving some thought to 16 allocation processes, in terms of the appropriate way
17 to allocate both among states as well as among reg
18 versus non-reg activities. We know that we have to 19 have a CAM in place. We know we also need an 20 allocation process for allocating common costs across 21 all three states. So we have given some thought to 22 that.

23 Mr. Skrivan can provide a little more
24 detail, in terms of how far along that thought process

1 has gone. But yes, we understand the need to do that.
2 Beyond that thought process, we haven't put -- taken
3 any firm steps, to answer your question, to segregate
4 any of the assets in any form or fashion.

5 Q. Okay. Thanks. And whether this Commission does or 6 does not see the wisdom of a separate one-state
7 subsidiary, doesn't this Commission have at least an 8 interest in making sure that carving Vermont out is 9 done on the basis of proper and fair asset, liability,
10 revenue and cost allocations?

11 A. I think that would be a legitimate concern, yes.

12 Q. And is it realistic to believe that there is a way to 13 perform such allocations and submit them to this 14 Commission in time for it to validate their fairness to 15 New Hampshire prior to a scheduled close?

16 A. Oh, I think if we had do that, there would be time to 17 do that. Our objective is not to have to do that.

18 Worst-case, the -- if Vermont insists on 19 a stand-alone entity, then that would be the LEC assets
20 in that state as versus anything beyond that, in terms
21 of corporate back-office infrastructure.

22 Q. Okay. And Mr. Leach, could you just clarify your 23 response for us? What are you basing your supposition
24 on that this would not include the common costs?

1 A. It's based upon discussions we've had with the State,
2 what their objectives are, in terms of having a Vermont
3 operating entity. Basically, that's the asset, the 4 customers, et cetera, in the state of Vermont.

5 Q. And that may or may not be consistent with what we have 6 here in the brief. Is that ---

7 A. That certainly may or may not be consistent with that,
8 yes.

9 Q. Now, let's talk about whether this Commission will be
10 forced to carve out New Hampshire if the Vermont
11 Department position is adopted. I'd like to turn to 12 page 54.

13 A. Is that in the rebuttal?

14 Q. At page 54, the top of the page. I will begin reading 15 in the second line. "The Department is not able to 16 conclude that FairPoint has made an adequate commitment
17 to deploy those resources to maintain an appropriate
18 rate of capital investment in Vermont. The desire to 19 ensure an enforceable commitment from FairPoint on this 20 point is just one of the reasons why the Department has 21 advocated for the establishment of a separate
22 subsidiary and certain contingent cash flow transfers."

23 MR. McHUGH: Mr. Chairman. I mean, I
24 object to some of this. Reading the Vermont brief and

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 what the Department believes has been demonstrated in the 2 Vermont proceedings is not relevant. And I would ask that 3 that be stricken. This is an advocacy brief filed after 4 the close of the evidenciary record and for purposes of 5 briefing under the Vermont procedure schedule.

6 MS. FABRIZIO: May I continue?

7 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Well, what is your
8 response to.

9 MR. MCHUGH: I would ask no, but that is 10 the request.

11 MS. FABRIZIO: I haven't started asking
12 any questions at this point.

13 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Well, part of this, I
14 want to go back to the original issue raised by 15 Mr. Coolbroth. And with respect to the -- I guess what 16 would be considered an affiliate transaction control plan.

17 It seems to me that you're only asking
18 that this be -- to that extent of the brief, you're only 19 asking that this be used for the purposes of eliciting a
20 response from Mr. Leach to what he thinks about applying 21 those kinds of safeguards; that you're not asking that we 22 admit this brief for any purpose of a conclusion of 23 fact -- or conclusion of law, for that matter.

24 When we turn to this issue, I guess

1 you're setting it up as the Department's not able to make
2 a conclusion about resources committed to Vermont. I
3 guess, at this point, still, Mr. McHugh, I'm not seeing 4 her using that for us to draw any conclusion of fact.
5 I'll allow her to continue to see where this question
6 goes. But I'm assuming you're going along the same lines
7 of trying to get his reaction to various proposals made in 8 Vermont. Is that the...

9 MS. FABRIZIO: And discussion of the 10 potential impact of what might happen in one state to New 11 Hampshire.

12 MR. MCHUGH: Perhaps, as an
13 accommodation, Mr. Chairman, we can not be reading the 14 brief into the record here. In other words, the witness
15 can be asked to read the section and then a general
16 question can be asked without actually reading the 17 paragraph into the record.

18 CHAIRMAN GETZ: I think there's a few
19 ways of doing this. I don't think there's anything
20 particularly objectionable about this. I guess she could 21 ask a general question and then say, "Isn't that what they 22 did in Vermont?"

23 Let's proceed and I want to see where 24 this goes, but ---

1 MS. HOLLENBERG: Excuse me. If I could
2 just make a comment, I can't help but observe that
3 FairPoint's position, in terms of the Vermont brief, is 4 opposite to what position they took, in terms of factual
5 statements that are inserted into Mr. Leach's testimony.
6 And so I think their positions are inconsistent. They're 7 objecting now to factual information from the Vermont
8 brief being included. And I objected to factual
9 information from a Vermont Department witness being 10 included in Mr. Leach's testimony.

11 Thank you.

12 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Okay. Let's continue
13 with your questions, Ms. Fabrizio, and see where this 14 goes.

15 BY MS. FABRIZIO:

16 Q. Okay. Referring back to the paragraph at the top of 17 page 54, this paragraph tells me that the Department
18 would like to have the ability to assure the dedication
19 of a Vermont segregated portion of capital and cash
20 flow to Vermont use. And if that's true, even if you
21 aren't sure, I'd like you to answer this question
22 regardless.

23 Do you agree that it was Vermont's
24 apparent position here that it is appropriate for a

1 single state to enforce such a priority without regard
2 for how it ends up restricting the resources available
3 to meet other northern New England obligations of 4 FairPoint?

5 A. I do not agree.

6 Q. And won't those other obligations include debt used to 7 support service in all three states and common
8 expenditures for resources that provide common support
9 to operations in all three states?

10 A. Yes.

11 Q. And won't revenues from all three states be needed to 12 meet both individual state needs and the common
13 FairPoint costs for serving them?

14 A. Could you repeat that question, please?

15 Q. Won't revenues from all three states be needed to meet
16 both individual state needs and the common FairPoint
17 costs for serving them all?

18 A. I'm not a hundred percent sure that's true. And the 19 reason I answer that question that way is, again, we're 20 projecting $200 million of excess cash flow after all
21 of our operating expenses, all of our debt service,
22 tax, et cetera. And there might be some combination 23 of, you know, two of the three states being able to 24 provide that, being able to provide everything except

1 that, if you will.

2 So while, in general, it may be a true
3 statement, there may be some scenarios where one state
4 may not have to contribute to the greater good of all
5 three once you get, you know, to the last dollar of 6 free cash flow.

7 Q. And the common costs involved here, whether they're for 8 servicing debt or paying expenses associated with 9 systems and people whose work will support all three 10 states, they're going to be actually quite substantial
11 for FairPoint, aren't they?

12 A. The common costs will be quite substantial.

13 Q. And won't dividends or other cash distributions from 14 the entity or entities serving northern New England be 15 absolutely essential in serving debt held at the parent
16 level?

17 A. That's an easy one. Yes, that's correct.

18 Q. And won't a separate Vermont entity mean that at least
19 two separate entities at the northern New England
20 operating level will result in three if New Hampshire
21 and Maine take the same approach?

22 MR. RUBIN: Mr. Chairman, I'd object at 23 this point. It seems like the last several questions have 24 been asking the witness to rebut a proposal made in

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 Vermont, and I really don't see the relevance of that to 2 this case. I mean, I understand that there may be some 3 concerns about what would happen if the board of -- or the 4 Public Service Board in Vermont adopted a certain
5 proposal, but I think we've gone well beyond that.

6 MS. FABRIZIO: Mr. Chairman, I think
7 that the fact that the Department in Vermont has raised
8 this proposal to the level of their initial brief in the 9 proceeding raises implications that are very relevant and 10 important to New Hampshire's consideration of the overall
11 transaction.

12 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Does this go to the 13 earlier issue that was -- I forget at this point who 14 raised this earlier in the day -- about what happens if we 15 get conflicting conditions? Is that the concern?

16 MS. FABRIZIO: Yes.

17 CHAIRMAN GETZ: I guess, from a
18 practical standpoint, I mean, how much more -- are there 19 other conditions in this brief that we're going to be 20 going through?

21 MS. FABRIZIO: No. This is it.

22 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Okay. So if that's the 23 end of it, then could you move on to -- well, how much 24 more do you have?

1 MS. FABRIZIO: About ten minutes.

2 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Well, let's finish your
3 cross, then.

4 MS. FABRIZIO: Okay. Thanks.

5 CHAIRMAN GETZ: And then we need to
6 regroup on where we are in the overall scheme of things.

7 BY MS. FABRIZIO:

8 Q. Okay. So go back to the first -- page 63, which talks
9 about restricting the ability of FairPoint to move cash
10 from Vermont to the parent. That movement really means
11 not just to the parent, but also to the other New 12 England entities or entities that will result from 13 separating out Vermont, doesn't it?

14 A. It could ultimately mean that, yes.

15 Q. Okay. And moreover, the expenses it takes to provide 16 common services will remain in the combined New 17 Hampshire/Maine entity if, for example, Vermont is 18 carved out; is that correct?

19 A. I'm sorry. Ask that question again.

20 Q. The expenses it takes to provide common services in 21 northern New England will remain in the combined New 22 Hampshire/Maine entity if Vermont is carved out as 23 proposed; is that correct?

24 A. Well, I don't think this means that Vermont would not

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 pay its fair share of allocated expenses. So I don't
2 believe a state entity would cause us to do anything
3 different from an allocation across all three states,
4 if that's the purpose of the question.

5 Q. So to the extent that Vermont restricts cash
6 distributions out of the sequestered Vermont entity, as 7 proposed, if things aren't going well financially for 8 northern New England operations as a whole, New 9 Hampshire and Maine face the potential of having to 10 pick up Vermont's share of those common expenses. Is 11 that your understanding?

12 A. I would not expect that to be the case. I would expect 13 common expenses to be allocated across all three states
14 and in a -- an ensuing expense, I would not presume, 15 would be a dividend or a distribution out of the 16 Vermont operations. It would be paid like any other
17 expense. And that, I do not believe, is the intention
18 of having a separate Vermont corporation.

19 MS. FABRIZIO: That actually concludes
20 my ten minutes on that subject.

21 CHAIRMAN GETZ: I thought you meant ten
22 minutes overall.

23 MS. FABRIZIO: No. We have a few more.

24 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Okay.

1 Q. These are some --

2 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Mr. McHugh, I anticipate
3 you'll have redirect? Is that ---

4 MR. McHUGH: Some. Sorry. Some,
5 Mr. Chairman, yes.

6 CHAIRMAN GETZ: "Some" being five
7 minutes, 15 minutes?

8 MR. McHUGH: Probably ten minutes. My
9 hope and goal is ten minutes or less.

10 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Okay. Thank you.

11 BY MS. FABRIZIO:

12 Q. Okay. Mr. Leach, this series of questions goes back to 13 a comment you made earlier about how conservative the 14 TSA assumptions are, in fact.

15 You heard Mr. Kurtze yesterday say that 16 the signing of an MSA is a better measure for the 17 beginning of the work associated with system cutover, 18 did you not?

19 A. Yes.

20 Q. And from how you described the cutover process in 21 response to my earlier questions, I take it you would 22 agree with that concept, that the signing of an MSA
23 really represents the beginning of the start of work
24 toward cutover.

1 A. Signing of the agreement between FairPoint and 2 Capgemini in this case? Is that...?

3 When you say "the MSA," what are you
4 actually referring to?

5 Q. Yes. Yeah.

6 A. No. In our case, we -- there was a substantial amount
7 of work done by Capgemini in the fourth quarter of '06
8 before the transaction was announced. So there was a
9 meaningful amount of work done, in terms of planning
10 and coming out of the chute, in advance of the MSA
11 being signed. It was signed in early January, so -- 12 and it's a pretty in-depth agreement. So I think it's 13 pretty obvious there was time and effort spent on this 14 in advance of the signing of that agreement.

15 Q. What was the value of that work performed?

16 A. Roughly $200 million.

17 Q. The work before the MSA was signed?

18 A. No. The total of the MSA.

19 Q. Okay. And how much of that value was actually
20 performed prior to the signing of the MSA?

21 A. It's hard to say, because the -- Capgemini clearly
22 invested a lot of time and effort in a, what I call a
23 business-development mode, hoping to win the business.
24 So they -- while they would not have billed for that

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 time and effort, they would have expected, ultimately,
2 to recoup that, in terms of the ultimate contract. So
3 while there were substantial hours spent, there was no
4 billing for that, because it was subject to a contract
5 being signed. So I could not quantify that for you.

6 Q. Okay. How many months are you talking?

7 A. We're talking about having started discussions in the 8 third quarter of '06 and then having selected them
9 before the end of the third quarter and working with 10 them pretty diligently in the fourth quarter of '06 and 11 then signing the contract, you know, early January.

12 Q. Okay. So the MSA was signed in January '07 with 13 Capgemini; right?

14 A. Correct.

15 Q. And if we were to start from that date, that means a 16 total duration of about 16 months from the signing of 17 that agreement to your projected cutover in May of '08;
18 is that correct?

19 A. Actually, it would be, you know, 12 months of '07 and 20 the cutover at the end of May is five months; right?
21 Seventeen months.

22 Q. Seventeen. And Mr. Kurtze talked about work in Hawaii
23 beginning in February of '05; is that correct?

24 A. I wasn't ---

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 Q. To your recollection?

2 A. I wasn't paying enough attention to answer that
3 question.

4 Q. And that would add up to a duration of about 14 months
5 to the Hawaiian Telecom cutover of April of '06,
6 according to the dates that Mr. Kurtze gave us
7 yesterday.

8 A. Okay. I'll trust that your numbers are correct.

9 I would suggest that Mr. Smith would be 10 the better witness to compare timetables, as he was 11 personally involved with both of those relationships.

12 Q. Okay. In the meantime, before we get to Mr. Smith, I'd 13 like to pick up this page from the Hawaiian Telecom S-4
14 form. And in fact, this was cited by Mr. Kurtze
15 yesterday. Do you see the highlighted sentence? Is 16 that visible on your monitor?

17 A. Yes, I do.

18 Q. Could you read that for us, please?

19 A. "During the period from inception to May 21, 2004 to 20 December 31, 2004, the company incurred fees, under 21 this agreement, amounting to six million four 22 ninety-five."

23 Q. So this suggests that there was work done in Hawaii
24 before February of '05; is that correct?

1                   It strikes me as quite similar to what
2           you've been saying with regard to Capgemini and
3           FairPoint.

4   A.   I presume.  I guess...

5   Q.   Some work ---

6   A.   Some work.

7   Q.   --- obviously was initiated.

8   A.   That's fair.

9   Q.   And even if there were not the difference in duration
10       between Hawaii and northern New England, it's only -- 11       we're talking 14 months to 17 months here; right?

12  A.   Again, I think ---

13  Q.   For comparison?

14  A.   I believe Mr. Smith can describe a dramatic difference
15       between the amount of work done in the early months of 16       our arrangement versus that arrangement, so I do not 17       believe it's an apples-to-apples comparison.  It's only 18       three or four months' difference, whatever the 19       conclusion is you're trying to reach here.

20  Q.   Okay.  And just to sort of repeat what we discussed
21       yesterday, Hawaii experienced major systems-related
22       problems after cutover; isn't that correct?

23  A.   That's my understanding, yes.

24  Q.   Okay.  Actually, I'm going to finish up with that line.

1 One minute, please.

2 Two questions. Mr. Leach, you discussed
3 with Mr. Rubin earlier today the issue of capital
4 expenditure limits in the final debt agreement. Could 5 you please turn to page 97, I believe, of your 6 rebuttal.

7 Are you at page 97?

8 A. Yes, I am.

9 Q. Could you please read the first sentence of the answer
10 beginning on line 10?

11 A. Line 10. "FairPoint believes it is unnecessary for the 12 Commission to approve the final debt agreements..." Am 13 I at the right spot?

14 Q. Yes.

15 A. "...the final debt agreements prior to their signing."

16 Q. And do you still find that the Commission review of 17 final debt agreements prior to signing is unnecessary
18 in light of the potential for those agreements to 19 constrain FairPoint's capital expenditures on utility
20 and service?

21 A. My answer to that is yes, because the assumption is 22 that the drafts of the agreement that you do look at 23 will -- to the extent there's no material change,
24 you'll be satisfied with that number and have a chance

1 to see what that restriction looks like at that time.

2 MS. FABRIZIO: That concludes my
3 questions. I thank you very much, Mr. Leach.

4 THE WITNESS: Thank you.

5 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Commissioner Morrison?

6 EXAMINATION BY CMSR. MORRISON

7 BY CMSR. MORRISON:

8 Q. Good evening. In your prefiled testimony at the top of 9 page 18, you talk about the composition of the board of 10 directors of Spinco. My question is: What was the -- 11 what was the rationale behind Verizon getting six of 12 the board -- of the nine board seats?

13 A. The rationale -- first of all, this is a one-time
14 right, and only one time, by Verizon to nominate board
15 members. After that nomination occurs, then there's no
16 continuing right or -- and no continuing affiliation at 17 all.

18 My understanding is they feel that,
19 since Verizon's shareholders will be owning
20 approximately 60 percent of the new company, and that 21 the result of actions that they are taking as a
22 management team, that they have a fiduciary
23 responsibility to have some influence on the board of 24 directors of the newly merged company.

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 Q. Well, actually, it's more than some. They have the 2 controlling number of board directors, don't they?

3 A. That would be true. They have already used one of 4 those to elect an existing board member. So the 5 practical reaction now is there will be five newly 6 appointed board members from their six, to the extent
7 they've already elected -- already nominated. And that 8 resulted in the election of one of our existing board
9 members.

10 And the theory was, their shareholders
11 will own a majority of the shares so, therefore, they 12 ought to have a majority of the votes of the initial 13 board members, all of us understanding they have to be 14 independent board members with no affiliation to 15 Verizon in any form or fashion.

16 Q. What's the term of a board member?

17 A. We have a rolling -- that's not the right term -- but a 18 rolling period. And I do not know off the top of my 19 head, so we will have to provide a verbal data response
20 to the specific terms.

21 Q. Please do. It appears, since Verizon owns 60 percent
22 of the new company, of Spinco, that for quite some 23 foreseeable time, because shareholders vote on board
24 members, that basically Spinco could be run by Verizon

1 board members or at their will. Is that not true?

2 A. The reason we don't believe that's the case is because 3 of the requirement that they, in fact, be very 4 independent board members. Again, they have used two 5 of their six nomination rights. Again, one of those,
6 they reelected one of our existing board members. With 7 another one, they nominated Ms. Bonnie Newman from this
8 great state, who we believe clearly will not act as a
9 Verizon board member, but will act as an independent
10 business person in her role on the board. And we 11 understand and would expect the other nominees to fit
12 that same category: Northern New England ties,
13 independent from Verizon, and not have any affiliation
14 thereafter.

15 Q. How are those board members compensated?

16 A. They're compensated with a combination of director fees
17 for attending director -- board of director meetings,
18 and grants of stock for likewise performing board of 19 director responsibilities.

20 Q. And the director fees amount to what?

21 A. I do not have that information. Andy, again, will be 22 glad to provide a data response -- verbal data
23 response.

24 Q. I would also like to know how many shares of the company they get and how often that occurs.

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

MR. McHUGH: I'm sorry,

Mr. Commissioner, shares of Verizon stock?

4 BY CMSR. MORRISON:

5 Q. Shares of Spinco or Verizon stock. How are they 6 compensated as far as shares are concerned? And is 7 that on an annual basis, is it a one-time grant? I'd 8 like to understand that.

9 A. Those -- we can respond to that information as it
10 relates to the FairPoint board of director policy. And 11 these will not be board members of Spinco, merely board
12 members of FairPoint. So we will not be able to 13 respond to any Spinco board-member issues, as they will 14 not be board members of Spinco.

15 Q. How many -- when you were doing your modeling, how many 16 residential telephone lines were you modeling on.

17 A. Well, we basically knew the most-recent number that 18 Verizon had. That number, in terms of total switched 19 access lines, was 1.47 million, just under one and a 20 half million lines. And that was, I believe, end of 21 '06. Then we have received quarterly information
22 thereafter.

23 But the model was based upon end of '06
24 customer accounts, and then we trended that forward and

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 assumed, in most instances, continuing access-line
2 losses for the different categories of access lines. I
3 would have to look at the information to give you the 4 precise stand-alone residential number versus the 5 total.

6 Q. I'd like to see your modeling for the declining number
7 of switched access lines over the next five years. I'm 8 sure you have that somewhere, but I'd like that as a
9 record request.

10 A. Yes, sir.

11 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Why don't we separate
12 the board questions into one request and then the switched 13 access lines into a separate request.

14 BY CMSR. MORRISON:

15 Q. My last question is: What is FairPoint's position on 16 net neutrality?

17 A. I would like to defer that to Mr. Nixon, who can talk 18 in much greater clarity about that.

19 CMSR. MORRISON: Great. Thank you.

20 That's all I have.

21 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Commissioner Below?

22 CMSR. BELOW: I have a few questions.

23 Thank you.

24 EXAMINATION BY CMSR. BELOW

1 BY CMSR. BELOW:

2 Q. On page 18 of your original testimony, line 19, there's
3 a reference to an Internal Revenue Service tax ruling.

4 What's the status of that?

5 A. We've been informed by Verizon that that tax ruling has 6 been issued and in a satisfactory form to them.

7 Q. Okay. And the clearance under Hart, Scott, Rodino
8 Antitrust?

9 A. Subject to check, I do believe we have the Hart, Scott,
10 Rodino approval in hand, as well.

11 Q. Okay. On page 15, lines 16 and 17, there's a reference
12 to Verizon's stockholders who have fractional shares
13 would be paid cash. Could you just elaborate slightly
14 on that? What does that mean, exactly?

15 A. My understanding is, if -- the rough exchange ratio is,
16 for every 55 shares of Verizon stock, that shareholder
17 will get one share of FairPoint stock. To the extent
18 they end up having a number like seventy shares, so
19 they qualify for one and a half shares of FairPoint
20 stock, then they would get the one and then they would 21 get cash for the difference, for the partial share.

22 Q. So you won't be issuing fractional shares?

23 A. No, sir. We will not be issuing fractional shares.

24 Q. On page 13 at lines 10 through 12, you reference the

1 South China, Maine, East Coast call center, which is
2 expected to remain a key operational asset, will not be
3 affected by the merger. And I understand that's 4 because you're keeping existing operations, initially,
5 entirely separate from the new Spinco operations. But 6 later on in your testimony, pages 39 to 41, you talk
7 about that you might -- once the transition is 8 complete, you would look at potential synergies or 9 efficiencies by combining operations.

10 Is this statement with regard to saying
11 it won't be affected by the merger simply in the 12 initial stages? Might it be affected at some point
13 subsequent to the merger?

14 A. Clearly, the first is true. There will be no immediate 15 impact. And you described it correctly, because we 16 will keep the operations separate.

17 Our intention is that there will
18 continue to be a role for that call center, going 19 forward, even after we combine systems. But I ought to 20 refer that on to Mr. Nixon, who is closer to that. But 21 in general, we do intend to continue with that call
22 center going forward, even after we integrate the two 23 operations together.

24 Q. But, initially, it wouldn't be used to support current

1 Verizon customers?

2 A. It would not. It would not be the -- there would be no
3 near-term intention to use that for current Verizon
4 customers.

5 Q. So you'll have a separate call center that you're 6 setting up somewhere in the three states?

7 A. That's correct, yes.

8 CMSR. BELOW: Okay. Thank you. That's
9 all.

10 CHAIRMAN GETZ: We're this close,
11 Mr. McHugh. Redirect?

12 MR. McHUGH: No pressure, Mr. Chairman.
13 Yes, thank you.

14 CMSR. BELOW: Three minutes.

15 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Is it from me or is it
16 from your client?

17 MR. McHUGH: Both. I have a couple, if 18 I could.

19 REDIRECT EXAMINATION

20 BY MR. McHUGH:

21 Q. Mr. Leach, do you recall, when we were in highly 22 confidential session, Attorney Hollenberg reading some 23 or several lines of the Hart, Scott, Rodino filing into 24 the record?

1 A. Yes.

2 Q. All right. In terms of what Attorney Hollenberg read,
3 was that a fair characterization of why FairPoint is 4 pursuing the acquisition of Verizon's northern New
5 England properties?

6 A. I would -- I would need to look at that again. But 7 it's the -- it's not a -- the -- I'd answer that as no.
8 The Verizon situation created a very unique opportunity
9 for us that was something we believed we were uniquely
10 qualified to take advantage of. And it was for that 11 reason that we have -- that we entered into the merger
12 agreement. We had several other alternatives, in terms
13 of acquisitions, we could have looked at -- in fact,
14 were looking at at the same time. And some were very 15 far along, in terms of the discussion process.

16 So this was one option that we had that,
17 on its merits, we believed was the best alternative for 18 us versus just the reasons that were mentioned in the 19 Hart, Scott, Rodino piece.

20 Q. Okay. Thank you. In terms of the board of directors
21 of FairPoint on a post-closing basis, after closing and 22 with Verizon's nominations, will Verizon, as a
23 corporation, or any of its officers have any control
24 over what the FairPoint board of directors -- what they

1 might take, in terms of corporate actions?

2 A. They will not. And, by design, they cannot elect a
3 board member who would not meet the independence
4 standards of being truly independent from Verizon or 5 any of its affiliates. So the answer to that is we 6 would not expect that to occur at all.

7 Q. In terms of questions about synergies that you receive
8 due to savings, can you tell me, have -- excuse me --
9 did you have an opportunity to learn about savings from 10 the various acquisitions that FairPoint accomplished in 11 the past?

12 A. Absolutely have. Again, we've done over 33
13 acquisitions, in our history, across 18 states. And 14 that's a very common part of our due-diligence process,
15 to look at the savings opportunities from each
16 acquisition that we looked at in the past. So it's a
17 normal part of the acquisition process.

18 MR. MCHUGH: I don't have anything else,
19 Mr. Chairman.

20 CHAIRMAN GETZ: All right, then. Thank
21 you, Mr. Leach. You're excused.

22 MS. HOLLENBERG: Excuse me. I'm sorry.
23 Do I get a chance to do re-recross or...?

24 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Well, I'm sure you're

1 well aware that our common practice is we allow redirect
2 as a matter of -- as a matter of practice. Do you have 3 some extraordinary basis for pursuing recross based on 4 this limited redirect?

5 MS. HOLLENBERG: I was going to ask
6 about the one question related to the HSR document that 7 Mr. McHugh referred to.

8 MR. McHUGH: I don't see any reason to 9 deviate from the practice, but that's fine.

10 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Well, if there's a
11 single question in follow-up regarding Hart, Scott,
12 Rodino, you may ask, recognizing that then we will allow 13 Mr. McHugh to pursue it, depending on what your question
14 is. So please proceed.

15 RECCROSS EXAMINATION

16 BY MS. HOLLENBERG:

17 Q. Okay. You were asked, by Mr. McHugh, about the page
18 that -- the Hart, Scott, Rodino document that I
19 referred to. Would you like -- I can show it to you.

20 A. I would like to see the document again, please.

21 Q. Sure. Excuse me.

22 A. Thank you.

23 Q. Would you agree that the response that you gave on the 24 record just a moment ago is not reflected on that

1 document as a reason for this transaction?

2 A. I'm sorry. Ask the question again, please.

3 Q. Sure. I was just asking if what you just said on the 4 record here, in response to Mr. McHugh's question, if 5 that's reflected on that document as a reason for this
6 transaction.

7 A. Well, it actually is. There's -- there's the 8 alternative of get bigger. Actually, the notes refer 9 to this transaction -- actually, the notes refer to,
10 you know, bigger is better; in a war of attrition, the 11 fat guy wins.

12 MR. MCHUGH: Mr. Chairman, this is
13 highly confidential. The general description is fine.
14 But before, again, he starts going through all of the 15 reasons, we're going to have to go back on the highly 16 confidential record.

17 MS. HOLLENBERG: I'm not seeking to do
18 that.

19 A. Sorry. I guess it's not clear to me what the question
20 is. Clearly, we have -- one of our alternatives was to 21 continue to grow via acquisitions, and that the Verizon
22 acquisition met that condition. So, I'm sorry, I'm 23 just not getting the actual question.

24 MS. HOLLENBERG: I'll withdraw the

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 question. I'm sorry.

2 MR. McHUGH: If it's withdrawn, then we
3 have no further questions.

4 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Okay. That completes
5 the examination. Thank you, Mr. Leach.

6 Okay. For tomorrow, looks like we start
7 tomorrow morning with Mr. King; is that correct? And then 8 we have Mr. Balhoff and Mr. Smith on deck after that.

9 I think, consistent with what, I think,
10 we closed out yesterday, I'd like to work through the --
11 through Mr. King, Balhoff, Smith, Barber, Brevitz, Antonuk
12 and Vickroy over Wednesday and Thursday, with the goal of 13 completing those examinations. And, at this point, I'd 14 like to keep open Friday. We can be available from 10:00
15 to 2:00, 2:30. We can get a couple of sessions in, at 16 this point.

17 It's looking to me like the -- and my
18 understanding from Mr. Kreis is that the Electrics may not 19 be available on Friday and I'm very pessimistic that we're 20 going to reach them on Thursday. So we may need to move
21 them off until the 31st. It seems to be a logical way of 22 handling that. I know the Electrics aren't here. But of 23 the folks that are here, is there any problem with that 24 approach?

10/23/07 DAY 2 VERIZON/FAIRPOINT-PUBLIC

1 And I guess my thinking was -- my
2 understanding is Mr. Skrivan's available on Friday?

3 MR. MCHUGH: Mr. Skrivan would be
4 available on Friday. And I received confirmation early
5 this afternoon that the panel for purposes of, perhaps,
6 NHTA and FairPoint, that Attorney Phillips -- Attorney
7 Phillips and the NHTA representative would be available on 8 Friday, as well.

9 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Okay. Well, let's hold
10 off on making that call, I guess. It looks like the safe
11 call is that we're not going to reach the Electric panel
12 and we need to finish with what had been the Tuesday,
13 Wednesday witnesses. And I guess we'll figure out those 14 details as we move along and we'll begin the morning with 15 Mr. King.

16 Is there anything we should address
17 before we close for the day?

18 MS. HOLLENBERG: No, thank you.

19 CHAIRMAN GETZ: Hearing nothing, we'll
20 recess until tomorrow morning. Thank you.
