

*There are both bottlenecks/constraints prior to the New York – New England border which impact the entire region and then also subsequently within the New England states that impact gas availability